the arrest of the legal representative of judgment-debtor for the realisation of the sum of money indicated in the order of the executing Court cannot be said to be barred by Section 48 when the order of the executing Court fixing the personal liability of the judgment-debtor is the order which gives the right to demand payment of the money personally against him. AIR 1958 Mad 395 (396).

(14) Under Section 29, Ajmer Land and Revenue Regulation, 1877, a son inheriting property from his deceased father the istimraridar, acquires a right that the property inherited by him cannot be attached and sold to enforce an unsecured liability of the deceased istimraridar. This right is property. But after the coming into force of the Constitution the restriction in the Regulation became void under Art. 14 and hence the money due could be recovered from the property inherited by him. 1963 Raj LW 466 (467).

AIR 1952 Kutch 35 (36).

(7) An executing petition, seeking to realise decretal amount by attachment and sale of property as of the deceased, cannot be regarded as disclosing cause of action for obtaining execution against the legal representatives personally under S. 52 (2). AIR 1952 Kutch 35 (36).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 53.— Has been added by the Committee in order to set at rest a question on which the High Courts are divided in opinion. It is true that where a son or grandson takes any ancestral property by survivorship he is bound to pay out of such property all debts of his ancestor not incurred for immoral or illegal purposes; but whether the creditor can follow the property in the hands of the son or grandson in execution is a debtable point under the Code. The question is merely one of procedure, and the Committee have come to the conclusion that any controversy between the parties with regard to the liability of the son or grandson to pay the debts of his ancestor should be determined in execution, it being open to them to raise any objection or defence in such proceedings which they might have raised in a separate suit instituted by the creditor, the clause in question not imposing upon them a greater liability than that imposed by the Hindu law."

(2) The provision in Section 60 (1) (c) is for the individual benefit of an agriculturists judgment-debtor and is not based on any public policy. The law does not prohibit transfer of a house belonging to and occupied by an agriculturist. The fact that the law allows an agriculturist to mortgage or sell his house which is occupied by him as an agriculturist proves that it is not public policy that is behind the provision of Section 60 (1) (c). If a house of an agriculturist and occupied by him as such is sold in execution of a decree and the sale is confirmed without an objection by the judgment-debtor the sale is binding upon him notwithstanding the bar imposed by Section 60 (1) (c) and he is precluded from raising the question in a subsequent proceeding. 1963 All LJ 832: ILR (1963) 2 All 976.

(12) An attachment before judgment is not an attachment in execution of a decree. To such an attachment S. 60, C. P. Code has no application. The decree-holder can only claim to have the house put to sale if it stands attached in the execution of the decree under S. 60 of the Code. For the application of Section 60 the matter must be viewed only from the date of execution application and from no other date. The rights of the parties can also be seen only from that date for that date alone is relevant under Section 60. A house was attached before judgment and before the decree was passed, Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act VII of 1934 was extended to the Union Territory of Delhi. Subsequent to the decree when execution was taken out, the judgment-debtor claimed exemption under Section 60 (1) (ccc), Civil P. C. The Punjab Act 7 of 1934 having no retrospective operation, the question was whether by virtue of the attachment before judgment the decree-holder had acquired vested right in the house to have it sold and whether it continued till the decree was passed and the house was available for sale: Held, that since on the date on which the execution application was made, Punjab Act No. 7 of 1934, had come into force. To the execution of the decree and the execution application of the decree-holder that Act became applicable immediately as the application was made in the executing Court. The attachment before judgment did not become attachment in execution of the decree according to Section 60 (1) (ccc), Civil P. C. because such an effect, even by operation of law, had been taken away by the said exemption clause. The attachment before judgment, in the circumstances, did not continue in perpetuity but exhausted and it then ceased to exist. AIR 1959 Punj 324 (325): 61 Punj LR 219.

maintenance need not be given a restricted interpretation and hence not to apply to cases where the right to such maintenance is derived by a document or a decree.

The right to maintenance need not be founded on family relationship or under personal law. The deciding factor is whether the right is a right to future maintenance and not whether the right is created for the first time or is in lieu of a pre-existing right under personal law. If the Court concludes that the amount payable in future is maintenance, it is not attachable. (1969) 1 Andh WR 299: (1968) 2 Andh LT 274.

(18) Decree passed in favour of plaintiff for future maintenance in suit filed in forma pauperis — Plaintiff made liable to pay the court-fee payable on the plaint — Execution for recovery of the court-fee should not be levied against the right of future maintenance which is exempt from attachment, even by the appointment of a receiver to realise the amount payable under the maintenance decree. (1964) 2 Andh WR 388.

(19) Where the decree passed before the amendment of 1956 provided for a recurring right to recover future maintenance, the point of time at which the attachment under Cl. (i-a) was effected would be the material date and the recovery of arrears for the years subsequent to the amendment of 1956 would be regulated by the amended clause and not by the provision of the Code as it was prior to the amendment. (1964) 1 Andh WR 264: (1964) 2 Andh LT 133.

(20) Where a decree for maintenance is passed prior to the amendment of the Code in 1956 an assumption cannot be made that the judgment-debtor has a vested right to exemption from attachment under the unamended Code. Section 60 (1) of the Code embodies a saving clause referring to the particulars stated in the proviso. The saving clause confers no right of exemption from attachment and, therefore, it cannot be said that the proviso confers such a right, apart from the fact that a right has to be conferred clearly and unequivocally by statute. (1964) 1 Andh WR 264: (1964) 2 Andh LT 133.

(21) The effect of the amendment of Sec. 60 (1), Civil P. C., introduced by the Amendment Act (66 of 1956) is to render liable two-thirds of the salary in execution of any decree for maintenance whereas prior to the amendment salary to the extent of the first hundred rupees and one half of the remainder shall not be liable to attachment and sale. The amended provision, which is procedural, applies even to decrees passed prior thereto. Further, the decree for maintenance, in the instant case, provided for a recurring right to recover future maintenance and the point of time at which the attachment was effected would be the material date. (1964) 1 Andh WR 264: (1964) 2 Andh LT 133.

(22) How and in what way a maintenance decree-holder should proceed to realise what she obtained under the decree appears more procedural than otherwise. Thus Cl. (i-a) of the proviso, which is procedural, applies even to decrees passed prior to the amendment of 1956 and is, therefore, retrospective. (1964) 1 Andh WR 264: (1964) 2 Andh LT 133.

(6) The attachment referred to in the section is the attachment in respect of which the property was sold and it is that attachment alone which can be employed for the purpose of impugning a private alienation. (7) If an attachment is not properly perfected, no claim can be enforced thereunder. (1885) 7 All 702 (708) (DB).

(8) If the attachment comes to an end by the satisfaction of the decree in execution of which it was attached, all claims enforceable under the attachment also cease to be enforceable and the section does not apply. (9) Where a judgment-debtor sells the property to another person pending attachment and a part of the consideration is left with the purchaser to be paid to the decree-holder the decree-holder cannot take out garnishee proceedings against the purchaser in respect of this money. AIR 1940 All 500 (504): ILR (1940) All 681 (DB).

(10) The section does not make a sale deed executed in respect of the attached property inadmissible in evidence nor does it make any acknowledgment therein inadmissible in evidence, invalid or void as against the attaching creditor. AIR 1945 All 224 (225, 226): ILR (1945) All 120.

(11) Arrears of income-tax do not constitute a charge, upon the property with the result that if the property is sold the property in the hands of the purchaser will not be subject to any such charge. Under Section 64 of the Civil P. C. after the Income-tax Department effected an attachment of the property no subsequent rights under a charge can survive as against the Department. (1963) 2 Mad LJ 256: 76 Mad LW 509.

11. Explanation. — (1) Under the Explanation claims enforceable under an attachment include claims under S. 73 of the Code for rateable distribution of assets. AIR 1940 Mad 385 (395): ILR (1940) Mad 526 (FB) * AIR 1934 All 896 (897) (DB) * AIR 1933 Nag 349 (352).

(2) The explanation to Section 64, Civil P. C. makes it clear that the wider meaning given to the words 'claims enforceable under the attachment' by that explanation is for the purpose of S. 64 only. AIR 1965 Punj 206 (210): ILR (1965) 1 Punj 160 (DB).

(3) In order that the Explanation may apply, there must be assets held by the Court. AIR 1943 Bom 261 (262, 264): ILR (1943) Bom 514 (DB) * AIR 1937 Nag 1 (4): ILR (1937) Nag 291 (DB) * (1936) 163 Ind Cas 587 (589) (DB) (Cal).

[But see AIR 1940 Mad 385 (401): ILR (1940) Mad 526 (FB).]

(4) For the applicability of the Explanation the claim of the decree-holder must be one enforceable under the particular attachment in respect of which the assets have been realised. AIR 1942 Mad 522 (522, 523) * AIR 1916 PC 238 (241): 44 Ind App 72: 44 Cal 632.

(5) A obtains a decree against B and attaches his properties in execution. B transfers the property pending the attachment to C. Subsequently, X attaches the same properties in execution of his decree against B, brings it to sale and purchases it himself. If assets are held by the Court in X's execution, A will be entitled to rateable distribution. But he cannot question C's title. AIR 1916 PC 238 (241): 44 Ind App 72: 44 Cal 662.

(6) An attachment effected after a private alienation is not assisted by an attachment before alienation. If the execution proceedings in which the second attachment has been made have been instituted before assets have been brought into Court, the creditor will be entitled to rateable distribution if the property is sold in the earlier execution proceedings, but if the sale takes place after the private alienation, a person who buys that property at the court-auction will not obtain a good title and the alienation would not be void as against his title.

AIR 1940 Mad 385 (399): ILR (1940) Mad 526 (FB).

(7) A obtains a decree against B and attaches his properties in execution. C also obtains a decree against B and applies for execution of his decree. B then transfers the property to D and discharges A's decree. Here no assets are received at all and C has no right to any rateable distribution. He cannot consequently question D's title to the property. [But see AIR 1921 Cal 801 (805, 806) (DB).]

(9) As soon as assets are received in Court they will be available for rateable distribution among the decree-holders who had already applied for execution. It is not necessary that all the decree-holders should have attached the property. AIR 1954 Hyd 238 (239): ILR (1954) Hyd 411 (FB). (AIR 1931 All 92 and AIR 1920 Cal 785, Rel. on.)

12. Effect of vesting order or winding up order after attachment. — (1) Where the judgment-debtor is adjudicated an insolvent, the whole of his property vests in the Official Receiver or Official Assignee and an attaching creditor has no priority over the Official Receiver or Official Assignee. (3) An order for liquidation does not vest the property of the company in the liquidator and an attachment made on the property of the company at the instance of the decree-holder before the winding up of the company will prevail over the rights of the liquidator. AIR 1916 Cal 918 (919): 43 Cal 586 (DB).

13. Prior contract for sale of property. — (1) An alienation of immovable property pending its attachment can be avoided under this section, although the alienation has been made in pursuance of a contract entered into before the attachment. (2) As the contract entered into before attachment could be enforced under Section 27 (b) of the Specific Relief Act, against the transferee in Court auction and the attaching creditor, the claim of the latter is not one enforceable under the attachment against the sale executed in pursuance of such a contract and therefore cannot prevail against the sale. (1910) 7 Ind Cas 795 (796) (DB) (Mad) * AIR 1943 Bom 145 (145).

(3) The contract of sale creates an obligation annexed to the ownership of the property under Section 40 of the Transfer of Property Act and the attachment and sale must be deemed to have been made of the property only subject to such obligation. (4) A contract creates an obligation annexed to the ownership of the property and as what is attached is the right, title and interest of the debtor in the property, the attachment cannot be free from any obligation to which the debtor is subject in respect of the property at the date of the attachment. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 467 (469): ILR (1952) Trav Co 201 (DB) * AIR 1942 Mad 67 (68) * AIR 1917 Mad 4 (5) (DB).

(2) A judgment-debtor who consents to an attachment of an occupancy holding is not estopped from objecting to the sale of the holding on the ground of its non-transferability. AIR 1918 Pat 604 (605) (DB).

(3) A party who does not object to the attachment before judgment is not estopped from objecting to its validity after the decree. (1911) 10 Ind Cas 305 (306) (DB) (Cal).

(4) Where the purchaser pending attachment challenges the validity of the attachment the Court cannot, without any investigation or enquiry into the matter, summarily hold the sale to be void under Section 64 and order delivery of the property to the decree-holder purchaser on his application under Order 21, Rule 95. (4) The fact that the purchaser had not taken delivery of possession does not detract from the completeness of the purchaser's title. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 574 (575) * AIR 1954 Trav-Co 384 (386) (DB) * AIR 1952 Punj 407 (410) (DB).

(5) When a decree-holder himself purchases the property in execution the decree must be deemed to be satisfied to the extent of the amount of the sale price, as from the date of the sale, and not from the date of the confirmation of the sale, and to that extent the amount on which the decree-holder may be entitled to interest will be reduced. AIR 1951 Mad 844 (850) (DB).

(5-A) The property is no doubt deemed to have vested in the purchaser from the date of the sale, if, and only if the sale is confirmed. But that does not in any way affect the date on which the decree-holder becomes entitled to withdraw and appropriate the purchase money in satisfaction of his decree.

If the decree-holder purchaser is not entitled to have the decretal amount set off against the purchase-money until the confirmation of the sale, the decree cannot be said to have been realized until the sale is confirmed. The decree-holder would, therefore, be entitled to interest up to the date of the confirmation of the sale. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 115 (116, 117): 1959 MPLJ 473. ((1951) 1 MLJ 298, Dissented from. 64 MLJ 544, Foll.)

(6) The legal effect of the relation back of the vesting of the title to the date of the sale is that the auction-purchaser will be entitled to rights in the property and be liable to the obligations in respect of the same as from the date of sale. [See also 1966-1 Mad LJ 324 (DB). (Case under S. 9 (e) of Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (3 of 1909).]

(7) The provisions of the sections as to the retrospective vesting of title do not come into operation until and unless the sale has become absolute. Hence, the profits of the property for the period between the sale and its confirmation must be deemed, for purposes of Income-tax, as accruing to the purchaser on the date of the confirmation. AIR 1933 PC 101 (106): 12 Pat 305: 60 Ind App 133.

(8) Legislation before confirmation of sale exempting the property from attachment or sale will not affect the rights of the auction-purchaser unless there is a clear provision to the contrary. AIR 1942 Lah 102 (103, 104): ILR (1942) Lah 349 (FB).

(9) Sale of house in execution of ex parte money decree — Judgment-debtor not applying under Rule 89 for setting aside sale but applying for setting aside decree — Reversal of decree — After reversal, application by auction-purchaser under Rule 92 for confirmation of sale — Held, sale must be confirmed notwithstanding reversal of decree after sale — Title of purchaser related back to date of sale and not to that of its confirmation. AIR 1967 SC 608 (609, 613, 614): (1967) 2 SCR 77.

(10) Auction-purchaser purchasing property of judgment-debtor — Acts in relation to property by judgment-debtor during sale and its confirmation are not void but voidable at instance of auction-purchaser. ILR (1965) 1 All 99 (104, 105, 106).

(11) Under Section 65 the vesting of the property is related "when such sale has become absolute." It indicates that the purchase becomes a fact when the sale becomes absolute that is only when it is confirmed by the Court. ILR (1962) 1 Ker 143 (147, 148): 1961 Ker LT 951.

(12) Appellate Court restoring and remanding application to set aside sale after setting aside order of confirmation — Application to set aside sale dismissed for default by executing Court — Order of confirmation is automatically revived by such dismissal and title vests in purchaser from date of sale under S. 65. AIR 1964 Ker 314 (316): 1964 Ker LT 449.

3. Right to possession, when accrues. — (1) The right of the auction-purchaser to the property arises on confirmation of the sale; therefore, it is not necessary to obtain a sale certificate before applying for possession. (3) The provisions of Section 65 only recognize the vesting of the property from the back date or retrospectively and would only mean that the auction purchaser became entitled to recover the rents and profit from that date though at the same time between the date of the sale and confirmation he had no legal right to realise the same and the person who could realize the profit and rent was the judgment-debtor. AIR 1963 All 44 (46): 1962 All LJ 763.

5. Liability for rent and revenue. — (1) The liability of an auction-purchaser of a lease-hold interest for rent and revenue dates from the date of the sale as his title relates back to that date and the judgment-debtor is not liable for the rent between the sale and the confirmation thereof. 6. Successive execution sales — Priority. — (1) Where on the date of the later sale the earlier sale was for any reason not in fact subsisting, as for example, where it had been set aside under Order 20, Rule 90, it will not acquire priority on being revived in due course of law. 66. Suit against purchaser not maintainable on ground of purchase being on behalf of plaintiff.—(1) No suit shall be maintained against any person claiming title under a purchase certified by the Court in such manner as may be prescribed on the ground that the purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff or on behalf of some one through whom the plaintiff claims.

(2) Nothing in this section shall bar a suit to obtain a declaration that the name of any purchaser certified as aforesaid was inserted in the certificate fraudulently or without the consent of the real purchaser, or interfere with the right of a third person to proceed against that property, though ostensibly sold to the certified purchaser on the ground that it is liable to satisfy a claim of such third person against the real owner.

Benami transaction, meaning and effect of — See Note 1.
Benamidar's or real owner's right to apply for setting aside execution sale — See O. 21, R. 90.

Strict construction of the section — See Note 1.
Suits falling under this section — See Notes 1 and 4.

1. Scope, object and applicability. — (1) Section 66 protects a certified purchaser at an auction sale from any claim that his purchase was made not on his own behalf but on that of the plaintiff. AIR 1951 Mad 943 (945) (DB) * AIR 1946 All 85 (87): ILR (1946) All 89 (DB) * AIR 1939 Rang 122 (123) (DB) * AIR 1937 Mad 362 (363).

(2) The object of Section 66 is to put an end to purchases in Court auction by one person in the name of another. AIR 1956 Mad 10 (14) * AIR 1939 Nag 274 (275) (DB) * (1874) 12 Beng LR 317 (329) (PC) * AIR 1920 PC 30 (32): 43 Mad 643: 47 Ind App 108 * (1872) 14 Moo Ind App 496 (525) (PC) * (1875) 2 Ind App 154 (155, 156) (PC) * AIR 1915 PC 81 (82): 37 All 545: 42 Ind App 177.

(2a) Object of the section being to check the practice of making benami purchase in execution sales, it cannot be taken to affect the rights of members of a joint Hindu family, who by operation of law, and not by virtue of any private agreement, are entitled to treat as part of their common property an acquisition, however made, by one member of the family in his own name, if made by the use of the family funds. (1965) 2 Mad LJ 383: 78 Mad LW 518.

(2b) Section 66 (1) seeks to oust the jurisdiction of the Court to give effect to real as against benami title. The object of the clause is to prevent claims before the civil Court that the certified purchaser purchased the property benami for another person. Thereby the jurisdiction of the civil Court to give effect to the real as against the nominal title is restricted and the section must be strictly construed. AIR 1967 SC 1124: (1967) 1 SCR 93.

(3) The section is designed to prevent fraud against third parties resulting from the collusive action of the real and certified purchasers. AIR 1956 Mad 10 (14) *

Section 66 — Note 1 (contd.)
AIR 1934 Cal 568 (568): 61 Cal 440 (DB) * ('86) 12 Cal 204 (206).

(4) Section 66 should not be extended beyond its actual terms but should be construed strictly. AIR 1951 Mad 943 (945) (DB) * AIR 1958 Ker 368 (374) (DB) * AIR 1950 Bom 277 (277): 1LR (1950) Bom 362 * AIR 1920 Cal 48 (49) (DB) * (1872) 14 Moo Ind App 496 (527, 528) (PC) * (1875) 2 Ind App 154 (155) (PC).

(5) The section applies only to execution sales. AIR 1955 Andhra 10 (11) * AIR 1937 All 176 (179): ILR (1937) All 113 (DB) * AIR 1942 Mad 154 (155) * AIR 1941 Nag 84 (86): ILR (1941) Nag 90 (DB) * AIR 1937 Pat 324 (325) (DB).

(6) A sale by a receiver is not within the section. AIR 1926 All 124 (125, 126): 48 All 209 (DB) * (1866) 6 Suth WR 160 (161) (DB).

(7) The section does not apply to a sale held in execution of an award of the Registrar of Co-operative Societies under the rules made under the Madras Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1932). AIR 1955 Andhra 10 (12).

(8) In order that Section 66 may apply, the suit must be against the certified purchaser or his representative, on the ground that the purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff or his predecessor-in-interest. AIR 1954 Orissa 244 (247) (DB) * AIR 1938 Cal 874 (877) (DB) * AIR 1935 All 143 (146) * AIR 1920 Lah 491 (493) * AIR 1925 Nag 41 (44) * AIR 1916 Mad 657 (658) (DB).

(9) The test to see whether a suit is based on the ground that the auction-purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff is whether the plaintiff can get any relief or any material relief without proving that the purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff. AIR 1951 Mad 943 (948) (DB) * AIR 1938 Cal 602 (604) (DB).

(10) The section does not extinguish the rights of the real owner but only prevents him from enforcing them in a Court. ('96) 23 Cal 699 (701) (DB) * AIR 1917 Mad 324 (325) (DB).

(11) The exception in Section 66 (2) should not be narrowly construed. AIR 1945 Cal 355 (360): ILR (1945) 2 Cal 375.

(12) The protection under Section 66 (1) is available not only against real purchaser but also against persons claiming under him. Sub-section (2) refers to claims of creditors and not transferees. A transferee from the real purchaser would be precluded by Section 66 (1) from suing for declaration of title and confirmation of possession. AIR 1964 SC 1254 (1255, 1256): (1964) 6 SCR 780.

(13) A case falling within the provisions of Order 21, Rule 15 must be outside the purview of Section 66 of the Code. The mischief which is meant to be prevented under Order 21, R. 15 cannot possibly be defended under S. 66 of the Code. AIR 1960 Pat 56 (57): 1959 BLJR 688.

(14) Section 66, literally construed, would take in every claim based on benami purchase. It does not exclude from its purview benami purchases made for the benefit of a plaintiff by a defendant in his own name who was already acting as the agent of the plaintiff. The only test is whether the court-auction-purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff or of someone to whom the plaintiff traces his title. The section does not render benami sales illegal or invalid. Therefore, it was intended to include all categories of benami transactions unless they are saved by sub-section (2). AIR 1962 Andh Pra 49 (51, 52, 54): (1961) 2 Andh WR 196 (FB).

(15) Section 66 does not prohibit benami transaction which have always been recognised in this country and the bar under the section is limited to cases where the suit is brought against the certified purchaser or his representatives. There is nothing in the section to forbid the recognition of the real owner's title by the benami Court auction purchaser or his heirs. (1969) 1 Mad LJ 173: 81 Mad LW 301.

(16) Suit for declaration of title and recovery of possession alleging that defendants were benamidar in Court auction purchase — Section 66 (1) is attracted and hence suit not maintainable — Section 82, Trusts Act excludes from its scope Section 66 (1), Civil P. C. — Section 88, Trusts Act has no application where purchaser is benamidar. AIR 1965 Pat 384 (386): 1966 BLJR 277 (DB). (AIR 1962 Andh Pra 49 (FB), Foll. AIR 1915 PC 81, Rel. on.)

2. Revenue sales. — (1) Section 66 has no application to revenue sales. AIR 1953 Nag 259 (260): ILR (1952) Nag 366 (DB) * AIR 1958 Ker 368 (374) (DB) * AIR 1941 Nag 84 (86): ILR (1941) Nag 90 (DB) * (1906) 29 Mad 473 (476) (FB). (25 Mad 665, Overruled.)

3. Sale by Revenue Court. — (1) The section is not applicable to sales in execution of a decree for arrears of rent by a Revenue Court under the Madras Estates Land Act. AIR 1942 Mad 154 (156).

4. "No suit shall be maintained." — (1) The words "no suit shall be maintained" in the section mean "no suit shall be instituted and if it is instituted, it shall fail." (1899) 21 All 238 (242) (DB).

(2) The words "no suit" show that not even a suit for the return of the purchase money from the benamidar will lie. (1910) 6 Ind Cas 404 (405) (DB) (All).

[But see AIR 1936 Pat 429 (430).]

5. Plea in defence, if can be raised.— (1) Where a suit is brought by the certified purchaser or his representative against the real owner, the latter can

(2) An auction-purchaser may, by his conduct, be estopped from pleading the bar under S. 66. (1913) 36 Mad 564 (569).

(3) Where the real owner sells the property to a third person with the consent and attestation of the benamidar auction-purchaser and the third person brings a suit against the benamidar, the latter will be estopped from pleading that the suit is barred under S. 66. (1913) 36 Mad 564 (569).

(4) A suit by the real owner against the certified purchaser on the ground that the plaintiff was in possession but was recently dispossessed by the defendant who was his benamidar at the Court sale is barred by this section. (6) If the possession of the real owner or his transferee ripens into title by adverse possession as against the benami purchaser or a transferee from him and the former's possession is disturbed, he can sue the latter to obtain possession for, he does not then rely on the benami nature of the purchase. But such claim must be made clearly and proved. AIR 1964 SC 1254 (1256): (1964) 6 SCR 780.

8. Suits by third person.—(1) A third person, such as a creditor of the real owner can sue to enforce his claims against the property purchased on the ground that the purchase was benami for the real owner. 9. Suit on grounds other than those mentioned in the section.—(1) A suit lies to eject a certified purchaser by a person alleging that the purchase was really effected for his benefit, if the relief is not sought on the ground that the certified purchaser was only a name lender for the plaintiff, but on certain facts which establish certain other kinds of legal relations between the parties which entitle the plaintiff to rely on them. (1a) If the plaintiff's title depends ultimately on the benami nature of the transaction then S. 66 would certainly be a bar, but if the plaintiff's title is dependent upon other facts and circumstances like, for example, the application of the general law or the carrying out of a separate contract, then S. 66 would not be a bar. AIR 1959 Ker 249 (252): 1959 Ker LT 304 (DB).

(2) A sues and obtains a decree against B. In execution of the decree B's house is sold in Court auction and is purchased by C, the paid agent of A, with A's money, but without his knowledge. A then sues C for possession, on the ground that

1. Scope and object. — (1) Section 73 places all decree-holders on an equal footing regardless of any priority in attachment or of the application for rateable distribution. (2) The object of the section is to prevent unnecessary multiplicity of execution proceedings and to secure an equitable administration of the property by placing all the decree-holders on the same footing and making the property rateably divisible among them. [But see AIR 1956 Cal 112 (113).]

(5) The scheme of the section is rather to enable the Judge as a matter of administration to distribute the price according to what seem, at the time, to be the rights of the parties, without this distribution importing a conclusive adjudication on those rights which may be subsequently re-adjusted in a suit. (5) Where the manager of a joint Hindu family is adjudicated an insolvent, all that vests in the Official Receiver is the right or the capacity which the insolvent had of making such interest available for the benefit of joint creditors under certain conditions recognised by the Hindu law. Hence, proceeds realised by the sale of shares of other members in execution of decrees obtained against them will be "assets" available for rateable distribution. AIR 1939 Cal 279 (281) (DB).

(12) Where the salary of a Government officer was once attached under the Code of Civil Procedure and then another attachment took place the party attaching subsequently was entitled to claim rateable distribution under S. 73 of the Code, because the salary attached amounted to assets within the meaning of that section. ILR (1960) 1 Cal 177.

(13) In order that S. 73 may apply, it is not necessary that the receipt of assets should have been under a process of execution, but it is necessary that the assets should have reached the hands of the Court in execution. 1. Scope and object. — (1) Necessity for notice to Government before suit depends upon whether S. 80 applied to case at time when it was instituted and if not, whether under law in force there was any corresponding provision. AIR 1953 Hyd 139 (140): ILR (1952) Hyd 983 (DB) ° AIR 1951 Sau 16 (16) (DB).

(2) The word 'State Government' in S. 80 (c) of the Code refers to any State in India and does not refer to the States where the C. P. Code is in force. Therefore, if a suit is filed in any State against any other State Government, a notice under S. 80 of C. P. Code must be served, even though such notice may not be necessary under the law of that State. AIR 1969 Cal 11 (12): 72 Cal WN 795.

(3) Non-compliance with provisions of section cannot have any adverse effect in a place to which the Code is not applicable although the Courts of that place followed the Code in spirit. AIR 1958 Manipur 7 (11).

(4) Pleadings should be scrutinised in light of provisions in Code to see whether notice under section is necessary. AIR 1950 Pat 527 (531) (DB) * AIR 1960 Cal 264 (266): 64 Cal WN 272 (DB). (Overruled on another point in AIR 1964 SC 600.)

(5) Section enacts only rule of procedure. AIR 1951 SC 253 (266): 1951 SCR 474 * AIR 1967 Bom 472 (477): 69 Bom LR 52 (DB) ° AIR 1961 Pat 200 (201) * AIR 1960 Cal 391 (393, 394): 64 Cal WN 502 (DB).

[c] Inserted by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1948 (6 of 1948), S. 2 [21-2-1948].

[d] Added as clause (aa), ibid.

[e] Clause (aa) was re-lettered as clause (b) by A. C. A. O., 1948 [23-3-1948] which also omitted the original clause (b).

[f] Substituted for the words "a State Government" by Act 26 of 1963, S. 3 (c) [5-6-64].

[g] The word "and" was omitted by A. C. A. O., 1948 [23-3-1948].

[h] Original clause (b) and the last clause (d) were omitted by A. C. A. O., 1948 [23-3-1948].

[i] Inserted by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1963 (26 of 1963), S. 3 (b) [5-6-1964].

[j] Bill No. 34 of 1968 introduced in the Parliament proposes to amend the Code extensively. Amongst the proposals is one proposing deletion of S. 80. For the said Bill, see Gaz. of Ind. 18-11-1968, Pt. II, S. 2, Ext., P. 1259.

[k] Section does not apply to any suit against the Administrator-General in which no relief is claimed against him personally — See Act 45 of 1963, S. 40 [1-3-1964].

(b) by himself or another trades within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or

(c) is in possession of immoveable property situate within those limits and is to be sued with reference to such property or for money charged thereon.

(3) No such Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy shall be arrested under this Code, and, except with the consent of the Central Government certified as aforesaid, no decree shall be executed against the property of any such Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy.

(4) The Central Government may by notification in the Gazette of India authorise a State Government and any Secretary to that Government to exercise with respect to any Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy named in the notification the functions assigned by the foregoing sub-sections to the consenting authority and a certifying officer respectively.

(5) A person may, as a tenant of immoveable property, sue, without such consent as is mentioned in this section, a Prince, Chief, ambassador or envoy from whom he holds or claims to hold the property."

[b] Provisions of sub-sections (1) to (3) shall also apply to such members of the Staff or retinue of the Ruler, Ambassador or Envoy of a Foreign State or of the High Commissioner of a Commonwealth country, as may be included in the Diplomatic List published by the Ministry of External Affairs, from time to time, as they apply in relation to a Ruler of foreign State — S. O. 2016, Gaz. Ind., 17-6-1967, Pt. II, S. 3 (ii), p. 2006.

suit, within the meaning of S. 86 (1) read with S. 87B. Such proceeding is not therefore barred by S. 86(1) read with S. 87B. AIR 1965 SC 1798 (1801) : (1965) 3 SCR 201 * AIR 1962 Madh Pra 320 (328, 330): 1961 MPLJ 844 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1798.)

(9) Suit against Nepal Airlines Corporation for damages. Ambassador of King of Nepal though not a party, claimed immunity as a foreign sovereign on behalf of King of Nepal on the ground that the Corporation was a department of the State. Held Ss. 86 and 87 did not deal with this case, and the Ambassador though not a party could claim the immunity asked for and the suit must be dismissed or not proceeded with. AIR 1966 Cal 319 (324, 325, 333) : 69 Cal WN 767 (DB).

(10) A suit for partition is not a suit within the meaning of this section. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 361 (366) : (1966) 2 Andh WR 121.

(11) Vendee holding power of attorney from H. E. H. Nizam entitling him to enforce the sales. The vendee could implead himself in his own name and provisions of Ss. 86 and 87B did not apply. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 361 (365) : (1966) 2 Andh WR 121.

(12) A proceeding which does not commence with a plaint or petition in the nature of a plaint, or where the claim is not in respect of dispute ordinarily triable in a Civil Court would not be regarded as falling within S. 86. This section does not debar commencement of proceedings for adjudication of an Industrial Dispute for two reasons, neither party to the proceeding is sued by the initiation of the proceeding and the Tribunal is not a Court. AIR 1964 SC 444 (446) : (1964) 5 SCR 1 * AIR 1963 Raj 22 (24) : 1962 Raj LW 669 (DB). (Affirmed in AIR 1964 SC 444.)

(13) Section 86 (1) prescribes a limited liability against foreign States. First limitation is that such a suit cannot be instituted except with the consent of the Central Government. Second limitation is that the Central Government shall not give consent unless it appears that the case falls under one or the other of clauses (a) to (d) of S. 86 (2). AIR 1966 SC 230 (236) : (1966) 1 SCR 319.

2. Suits against Rulers of foreign States.— (1) The sanction required by the section is necessary for all suits against a Ruler of a foreign State whether in his private capacity or in his sovereign capacity. AIR 1952 Bom 335 (335) : ILR (1953)

Bom 237 * AIR 1916 Mad 308 (309, 310): 38 Mad 627 * AIR 1916 Mad 445 (446) (DB) * AIR 1924 All 422 (423, 424): 46 All 355 (DB).

(2) Section 86 (1) applies to cases when suits are brought against rulers of foreign States. Foreign States fall within its scope whatever be their form of Government, whether monarchial or republican. AIR 1966 SC 230 (236): (1966) 1 SCR 319. (AIR 1960 Cal 768 and AIR 1962 Cal 387 Reversed.)

(3) A suit brought against a defendant described as "The Gaekwar Baroda State Railway through the Manager and Engineer-in-Chief" was held to be a suit in reality, though not in form, a suit against His Highness the Gaekwar of Baroda and the provisions of this section applied. AIR 1938 PC 165 (169): ILR (1938) All 601: 65 Ind App 182: 32 Sind LR 531.

(4) Where at the time of the suit filed in 1948, the State of the defendant had merged in the Dominion of India, the defendant could not claim protection under the section. AIR 1955 Bom 449 (449): ILR (1956) Bom 22.

(5) The permission under this section is necessary even for an application for leave to sue in forma pauperis. AIR 1951 All 603 (604, 605) (DB).

(6) The section does not apply to proceedings for letters of administration. AIR 1956 Bom 45 (49): ILR (1955) Bom 912 (DB).

(7) A suit instituted against the family deity of a Raja marfat the Raja as trustee is not maintainable without the permission of the Central Government under Section 86. AIR 1957 Him Pra 16 (20).

(8) When Section 86 (1) refers to a ruler of a foreign State, it refers to the Ruler in relation to the said State and means a person who is for the time being recognized by the Central Government to be the head of the State. AIR 1966 SC 230 (235): (1966) 1 SCR 319.

(9) As a matter of procedure it would not be permissible to draw a sharp distinction between the Ruler of a foreign State and a foreign State of which he is the Ruler. In every case the suit has to be in the name of the State. AIR 1966 SC 230 (234): (1966) 1 SCR 319.

3. Consent when to be obtained. — (1) A consent obtained after the institution of the suit will not validate the institution thereof. (1897) 21 Bom 351 (366) * 1909 Pun Re No. 21, p. 45 (50, 51) * AIR 1958 Bom 30 (31, 32): 59 Bom LR 655.

(2) The words "to sue" in the section include every step from the presentation of the plaint to the recovery of judgment. AIR 1953 Ajmer 56 (57) * AIR 1921 Pat 23 (24): 6 Pat L Jour 185 (DB).

(3) A person is 'sued' not only when the plaint is filed but also when the suit remains pending against him. The word 'sued' covers the entire proceeding in an action. It follows that consent of the Central Government is necessary not only for the filing of the suit against the ex-Ruler but also for its continuation from the time consent is required. The prohibition, in Section 87-B, therefore, affects not only a suit instituted after the enactment of Section 87-B but one which though instituted before its enactment, is pending. AIR 1962 SC 73 (76): (1962) 1 SCR 702 * 1966 All LJ 746 (748) (DB). (AIR 1962 SC 73, Foll. AIR 1953 Ajmer 56, Rel. on; AIR 1955 Bom 449, Dist.)

(4) It is not necessary in giving the certificate of consent under Section 86 for the Central Government to name any agent or other person to represent the ruler. AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (43).

(5) There is no provision in Section 86 for the issue of a notice before a certificate is granted. AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (43).

(6) Scope and applicability — Government's consent to sue a former Ruler is no consent to sue his successor — The plaintiff has to obtain the consent afresh — The successor recognised by the President under Article 366 (22) has in his own independent right, the personal immunity from civil action. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 106 (108): (1969) Andh WR 271 (DB).

[But see AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (43). (Separate sanction is not necessary when successor is impleaded as one of the legal representatives.)]

(7) In a suit against Ruler of former Indian State consent of Central Government is condition precedent and cannot be waived and as sub-cl. (2) of S. 86 is not made applicable, there are no limitations placed by law upon the powers of Central Government as regards the grant of consent and the fact that such a Ruler has waived the privileges by submitting to jurisdiction either expressly or by implication can be taken into account in granting its consent. The absence of consent is fatal to the proceeding against the Ruler. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 320 (326, 327): 1961 MPLJ 844 (DB). (Reversed in AIR 1965 SC 1798 on another point.)

(8) In a suit against a Ruler of a former Indian State who is also a Governor in respect of an act done by him in his personal capacity the plaintiff should not only deliver a notice to him under Article 361 (4) of the Constitution but should also obtain the consent of the Central Government before he can sue. AIR 1963 Mys 171 (172): 40 Mys LJ 895.

[a]87. Style of foreign Rulers as parties to suits.—The Ruler of a foreign State may sue, and shall be sued, in the name of his State:

The old S. 87 was as follows:

"87. A Sovereign Prince or Ruling Chief may sue, and shall be sued, in the name of his State:

Provided that in giving the consent referred to in the foregoing section the Central Government, or the State Government, as the case may be, may direct that any such Prince or Chief shall be sued in the name of an agent or in any other name."

tary proprietary right to remain in possession of lands without payment of rent is not a suit by a tenant of immovable property. AIR 1920 Oudh 203 (204) (DB).

(2) A suit by the plaintiff as co-sharer against the Ruling Chief as a co-sharer for a share of the profits is not a suit brought "as a tenant of immovable property." AIR 1924 All 422 (424): 46 All 355 (DB).

5. Waiver of objection to want of consent. — (1) Clause (d) of sub-section (2) of the section makes it clear that the privilege accorded by the section can be waived by the Ruler of a foreign State either expressly or impliedly. ILR (1952) 2 Raj 386 (394) (DB) * AIR 1951 Mad 880 (881) (DB).

(2) The defendant's entering appearance and invoking the jurisdiction of the Court under Order 7, Rule 11 (d) and Section 86, is not sufficient to conclude that they waived their right of immunity by submitting to the jurisdiction of the Court. AIR 1962 Cal 387 (390).

(3) In the case of a Ruler of former Indian State, Section 86 (2) is not made applicable by Section 87-B and therefore the consent of the Central Government is imperative under Section 86 (1) and cannot be waived. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 320 (326, 327): 1961 MPLJ 844. (Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1798.) * AIR 1966 Andh Pra 361 (366): (1966) 2 Andh WR 121.

6. Inquiry into the validity of consent. — (1) The opinion of the Central Government is final on the question whether any of the Clauses (a) to (d) is satisfied in a given instance. AIR 1950 PC 99 (102): 77 Ind App 156 * AIR 1945 Bom 187 (193, 194) (DB) * AIR 1935 Oudh 164 (164) (DB).

7. Effect of non-compliance with the section. — (1) A suit against a Ruler of a foreign State instituted without the previous sanction of the Government should be either dismissed or allowed to be withdrawn with liberty to bring a fresh suit duly sanctioned. (1950) 3 Sau LR 95 (102) (DB) * (1897) 21 Bom 351 (366) * AIR 1935 Oudh 164 (164, 165) (DB).

[See also AIR 1962 Madh Pra 320 (327): 1961 MPLJ 844. (Suit against former Indian Ruler of a State — Absence of consent under Section 86 (1) is fatal.)]

(2) A suit against several defendants, one or some of whom alone are privileged, is not bad as against the others for want of sanction as against the privileged defendants. 1909 Pun Re No. 21, p. 45 (51).

(3) Where a suit was instituted against Ruler of a former Indian State without the consent of the Central Government as required by S. 86 read with Sec. 87-B no decree could be passed in the suit against him. But the suit against the firm other than the Ruler was competent, and a decree could be passed against the firm other than the Ruler and such a decree could be executed against the partnership property and against the other partners. AIR 1965 SC 1718 (1721): (1965) 3 SCR 421 * AIR 1959 Bom 529 (531): 61 Bom LR 651 (DB). (Affirmed in AIR 1965 SC 1718.)

(4) A decree passed by a Court without the requisite certificate under S. 86 would be a nullity and is incapable of execution. AIR 1958 Bom 30 (32): ILR (1957) Bom 786.

8. Sub-section (3). — (1) The consent required for executing the decree against the property is necessary even if the decree-holder happens to be a tenant of the judgment-debtor. AIR 1935 Cal 664 (665, 666) (DB).

Section 87 — Note 1

(1) The section is based on public policy and is imperative. AIR 1938 PC 165 (168, 169): ILR (1938) All 601: 65 Ind App 182: 32 Sind LR 531. (Reversing AIR 1934 All 740: 56 All 828.)

(2) Where the Ruler of a State has severed his connexion with the State, this section does not preclude a suit being filed on behalf of the State by the administrator of the State by virtue of the provisions of Section 85. AIR 1933 Lah 456 (458) (DB).

[a][87A. Definitions of "foreign State" and "Ruler".—(1) In this Part,—

(a) "foreign State" means any State outside India which has been recognised by the Central Government; and

(b) "Ruler", in relation to a foreign State, means the person who is for the time being recognised by the Central Government to be the head of that State.

(2) Every Court shall take judicial notice of the fact—

(a) that a State has or has not been recognised by the Central Government;

(b) that a person has or has not been recognised by the Central Government to be the head of a State.]

SUITS AGAINST RULERS OF FORMER INDIAN STATES

[a][87B. Application of Sections 85 and 86 to Rulers of former Indian States.—(1) The provisions of Section 85 and of sub-sections (1) and (3) of Section 86 shall apply in relation to the Rulers of any former Indian State as they apply in relation to the Ruler of a foreign State.

(3) This Section applies only to Rulers of Foreign States and is not made applicable to Rulers of former Indian States. AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (43).

(4) Sections 86 and 87 have no relation to the principles of private international law based on the independence of a foreign sovereign or of a foreign State but they afford an additional protection or privilege to a foreign sovereign providing immunity from being sued in the Municipal Courts of India without previous permission of the Central Government being obtained to the institution of such suit.

Where a suit was filed against Nepal Airlines Corporation for damages it was held that the defendant was a department of the Government of Nepal and as such was entitled to claim immunity from the processes of the Indian Courts. The Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit on the ground of sovereign immunity claimed by the defendant and the Ambassador of Nepal to the Government of India. The Ambassador of Nepal need not necessarily be a party to the suit for the purposes of claiming the immunity. AIR 1966 Cal 319 (328, 329, 333): 69 Cal WN 767 (DB).

(5) For the purpose of procedure every suit has to be in the name of the State. Not permissible to draw a sharp distinction between the Ruler of a foreign State and a foreign State of which he is the Ruler. AIR 1966 SC 230 (234): (1966) 1 SCR 319. (AIR 1960 Cal 768 and AIR 1962 Cal 387, Reversed.)

Section 87-A — Note 1

(1) Ruler of foreign State refers to rules of all foreign States whether monarchial or republican. AIR 1966 SC 230 (236): (1966) 1 SCR 319. (AIR 1962 Cal 387 and AIR 1960 Cal 768, Reversed.)

Section 87-B — Note 1

(1) Where at the time of the suit filed in 1948 the State of the defendant had merged in the Dominion of India the defendant was no longer a Sovereign Prince or Ruling Chief and could not claim protection under S. 86. AIR 1955 Bom 449 (449): ILR (1956) Bom 22.

(2) By virtue of this section the Rulers of former Indian States have been given exemption only against being sued and the Code makes no provision with regard to any rights or privileges of such Rulers when they file a suit in a Court in any State in India. AIR 1955 Bom 275 (275, 276): ILR (1955) Bom 581 (DB).

(3) Consent of Central Government is condition precedent for filing suit against Ruler of former Indian State and this cannot be waived. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 320 (326, 327): 1961 MPLJ 844 (DB).

(4) This section does not contravene the provisions of Article 14 of the Constitution. AIR 1955 Bom 195 (197, 198): ILR (1955) Bom 62 (DB) * AIR 1953 Ajmer 56 (57) * AIR 1963 Mys 171 (173): 40 Mys LJ 895. ((1962) 1 SCJ 104: AIR 1962 SC 73 Rel. on.) * AIR 1962 SC 73 (75, 76): (1962) 1 SCR 702.

(5) Section does not contravene Article 14 or Article 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution and is not invalid. AIR 1964 SC 1590 (1592, 1593): (1964) 7 SCR 55 * AIR 1964 SC 1663 (1665): (1965) 1 SCJ 273 * AIR 1969 Andh Pra 106 (107): (1969) 1 Andh WR 271 (DB).

(6) Certificate to sue Ruler of Indian State need not state name of agent to represent Ruler. AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (43).

(7) Commencement of procedings under Industrial Disputes Act for adjudication of industrial dispute between Ruler of former Indian State and his employees

(2) In this section—

(a) "former Indian State" means any such Indian State as the Central Government may, by notification[b] in the Official Gazette, specify for the purposes of this section; and

(b) "Ruler," in relation to a former Indian State, means the person who, for the time being, is recognised by the President as the Ruler of that State for the purposes of the Constitution.]

[a] Added by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act (2 of 1951), S. 12 [1-4-1951].

INTERPLEADER

88. Where interpleader suit may be instituted.—Where two or more persons claim adversely to one another the same debt, sum of money or other property, moveable or immoveable, from another person, who claims no interest therein other than for charges or costs and who is ready to pay or deliver it to the rightful claimant, such other person may institute a suit of interpleader against all the claimants for the purpose of obtaining a decision as to the person to whom the payment or delivery shall be made and of obtaining indemnity for himself:

Provided that where any suit is pending in which the rights of all parties can properly be decided, no such suit of interpleader shall be instituted.

are not barred under Section 86 read with Section 87-B. AIR 1964 SC 444 (446): (1964) 5 SCR 1 * AIR 1963 Raj 22 (23, 24): 1962 Raj LW 669 (DB).

(8) On coming into force of Sec. 87-B a suit properly instituted become incompetent from 1-4-1951 for want of consent of the Government of India and ceased to be maintainable in Court thereafter. 1966 All LJ 746 (748) (DB) * AIR 1962 SC 73 (76): (1962) 1 SCR 702.

(9) Institution of proceedings under Section 14 read with Section 17, Arbitration Act, against Ruler of former Indian State — Not a suit — Proceedings not barred, in the absence of consent of Central Government under Sections 86 and 87-B. AIR 1965 SC 1798 (1801): (1965) 3 SCR 201.

(10) For a suit against Ruler of a former Indian State appointed Governor — Compliance with Section 86 read with Section 87-B, Civil P. C. as well as Article 361 (4), Constitution of India necessary. AIR 1963 Mys 171 (172): 40 Mys LJ 895.

(11) Successor of Ruler who has been recognised by the President as the successor of his deceased father, is 'ruler' within meaning of Section 87-B. AIR 1964 SC 1663: (1965) 1 SCJ 273.

(12) Suit may be brought against firm of which a partner is a Ruler of former Indian State without consent of Central Government — Decree can be validly passed against other partners. AIR 1965 SC 1718 (1721): (1965) 3 SCR 421.

(13) Suit against firm — Ruler of former State one of the partners — Want of requisite consent under Sections 86 and 87-B — Firm appearing through counsel and admitting decree — Decree is valid against other partners though a nullity against the ruler. AIR 1959 Bom 529 (531): 61 Bom LR 651 (DB).

(14) Normally, it is not the function of the Central Government to attempt to adjudicate upon the merits of the claim intended to be made by the litigants in their proposed suits; that is the function of civil Courts of competent jurisdiction. Section 87-B authorises the Central Government either to accord consent or to refuse to accord such consent; it is not open to the Central Government to impose any conditions on such consent, or to accord consent only in part, or to refuse it in part, particularly in cases where reliefs are claimed on one and the same cause of action. The further direction contained in the order that consent would not be accorded in respect of certain other properties is clearly invalid. AIR 1964 SC 1663 (1666, 1667): (1965) 1 SCJ 273.

ARBITRATION

89. Arbitration.—[Repealed by Section 49 (1) of the Arbitration Act X of 1940.]

The repealed Section 89 ran as follows.

"(1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Indian Arbitration Act. 1899, or by any other law for the time being in force, all references to arbitration whether by an order in a suit or otherwise, and all proceedings thereunder shall be governed by the provisions contained in the Second Schedule.

---

Section 88 — Topic Indicator (contd.)

Adverse claim need not extend to the whole property — See Note 3.
Claim may be legal or equitable — See Note 2.
"Interpleader suit" meaning of — See Note 1.
Plaintiff must be ready to pay and deliver property to rightful owner — See O. 35, R. 2.
Procedure in such suits — See O. 35, R. 4.
Procedure where the debtor is sued — See Note 1.
Protection afforded by the Section — See Note 1.
Receiver in interpleader suit — See O. 40, R. 1.
Suits not really interpleader — See Notes 1, 2 and 4.

1. Scope. — (1) Each of the defendants interpleading is virtually in the position of a plaintiff and his claim will be governed by the rules of the Limitation Act. AIR 1925 Mad 497 (562): 48 Mad 1 (DB).

(2) The Court of Wards under Punjab Court of Wards Act can institute interpleader suit against several claimants, when, on the death of any person of whose property the Court of Wards has assumed jurisdiction, the succession to his property is disputed. Such a suit falls prima facie within this section and is not barred by Section 48 of the Punjab Court of Wards Act. AIR 1954 Punj 103 (104): ILR (1954) Punj 769 (DB).

(3) If the pleadings placed by the several claimants to the property, the subject matter of the interpleader suit, should claim that there is some further property which is part of the estate but has somehow or other been omitted from it and should also be brought within the suit, it can be done by allowing an application or amendment to that effect. Neither Section 88 nor Order 35 has required to the contrary. Similarly under Order 1, Rule 10, hte Court below can implead certain persons as defendants. The order of the Court allowing the amendment of the plaint by inclusion of certain property and by addition of some persons as parties, does not, therefore violate any rule of law such as will entitle interference under the extraordinary powers belonging to the High Court under Article 227 of the Constitution. AIR 1961 All 559 (561).

2. Claims must be bona fide and adverse to one another. — (1) The defendants must claim the money or property adversely to one another from the plaintiff. AIR 1922 Cal 138 (139) (DB).

(2) A decision given on the claims of the co-defendants in an interpleader suit will operate as res judicata between them. AIR 1928 Oudh 155 (179).

3. Claims must be with reference to the same subject-matter. — (1) The rival claims must be with reference to the same debt, sum of money, or other property. (1910) 37 Cal 552 (557) (DB).

(2) It is not necessary that each of the defendants should claim the whole of the subject-matter of the suit. (1863) 1 Mad HCR 360 (361) (DB).

4. Plaintiff should claim no interest in the subject-matter. — (1) If the plaintiff has, in some way identified himself with one of the parties in the sense that it will make a difference to him which of the two succeeds, an interpleader suit will not lie. AIR 1952 Mad 564 (564) * AIR 1927 Rang 91 (93): 4 Rang 465 (DB) * (1910) 37 Cal 552 (557) (DB) * (1894) 18 Bom 231 (235).

(2) Section 88, Civil Procedure Code does not indicate that the plaintiff in an interpleader suit shall admit in its entirety the claim against him. To the extent the plaintiff admits his liability, he may ask that the rival claimants interplead where the amount is in dispute, the Court may declare that the plaintiff is discharged from liability only to the extent of the amounts admitted and leave the parties to settle their disputes for the balance otherwise or in other proceedings. The interpleader suit is therefore maintainable. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 92 (95, 96): (1965) 2 Andh WR 403 (DB).

(6) In order to attract the provisions of Section 91, C. P. Code, it is not enough to prove that the obstruction caused is to a public road; it should also be proved that the obstruction caused by the defendant constituted a public nuisance. It is, therefore, open to an individual member of the public to bring a suit for removal of obstruction to a public road if it constitutes a nuisance, without establishing special damage to the plaintiff. Even where the obstruction constitutes public nuisance the plaintiff can maintain a suit for its removal without the consent of the Advocate-General as required by Section 91 if the plaintiff proves special damage. 1958 Andh LT 801 (803).

(4) Where a suit is brought on behalf of the members of one community to vindicate their right to take out processions along a certain route, the suit is not one for the removal of a public nuisance. AIR 1934 All 941 (943).

(5) Section 91 is restricted in terms to public nuisances in fact and a constructive public nuisance can be no ground for a suit under that section. (1910) 5 Ind Cas 213 (224) (Bom).

(6) A private nuisance is a Civil wrong but a public nuisance is a criminal offence an act not warranted by law or an omission to discharge legal duty, which act or omission obstructs or causes inconvenience or damage to the public in the exercise of rights common to all the subjects. AIR 1960 All 632 (633).

(7) Public road vested in Panchayat Board — Encroachment by way of necessary construction — Dose not constitute a public nuisance within meaning of Section 91 (1) — Suit for removal — No sanction of Advocate-General necessary. AIR 1962 Mad 431 (432): (1962) 2 Mad LJ 201.

(4) Every class or community has a right to conduct a religious procession with its appropriate observances along a highway so that the procession does not interfere with the ordinary use of such streets by the public and subject to such directions as the Magistrates may lawfully give to prevent obstructions of the thoroughfare or breaches of the public peace. 4. Remedies for a public nuisance. — (1) Where A obstructs a public highway by occupying and enclosing a portion thereof he may be prosecuted under Section 268 of the Indian Penal Code. This will not preclude a suit under this section by the Advocate-General or by two or more persons with his consent. Nor will the institution of the said two proceedings bar a suit by a private individual whose house abuts on that highway and the access to whose house is cut off by such enclosure by A causing him special damage. AIR 1929 Bom 94 (95): 53 Bom 187 (DB).

5. Injunction. — (1) Where the act committed causes damage to private individuals, an injunction will be granted. (1878) 2 Bom 457 (468) (DB) * (1884) 8 Bom 35 (38) (DB) * (1877) 3 Cal 20 (22) (FB) * (1888) 15 Cal 460 (467) (FB).

(2) No mandatory injunction will be granted if the nuisance is only constructive. (1910) 5 Ind Cas 213 (229) (Bom).

(3) In the case of village pathways it is open to a permanent resident entitled to use the pathway to sue for an injunction without proving special damage. The fact that others might have joined the plaintiff under Order 1, Rule 8 does not stand in the way of the plaintiff. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 975 (976).

6. Saving of rights, existing independently of this section — Sub-section (2). — (1) The section does not control or restrict the provisions of Order 1, R, 8 under which a person may sue on behalf of others. AIR 1940 Pat 449 (465): 19 Pat 208 (DB) * AIR 1925 Cal 1233 (1233) (DB) * AIR 1934 All 941 (943).

(2) If there is no right of action without proof of special damage, the mere adoption of the procedure laid down in Order 1, R. 8 cannot obviate the necessity of such proof. AIR 1942 Cal 360 (364): ILR (1942) 1 Cal 533 (DB).

(3) Though the residents of a particular locality are commonly interested in the removal of an obstruction to a village path, each has a special right which is protected by Section 91 (2) irrespective of the class of cases covered by Section 91 (1). AIR 1968 All 18 (19).

(4) Section 91 (2) does not confer any special right on a private individual to maintain a suit in respect of a public nuisance. That right exists independently of the section. 1967 Raj LW 255: ILR (1966) 16 Raj 1229.

(5) If the case is not merely a case of public nuisance but is in addition a case of private nuisance then the plaintiff in such a case would be within his rights to bring a suit by himself, and this is exactly what sub-section (2) of Section 91 provides and the plaintiff in such a case need neither allege nor prove special damage.

Where in respect of a public thoroughfare the plaintiffs claimed not only a general right of way, but they also claimed rights of light, air and drainage, it was held, that the suit was competent without the consent of the Advocate-General as it clearly fell under Section 91 (2), Civil P. C. AIR 1963 Raj 25 (32, 33): ILR (1961) 11 Raj 836.

1. Applicability, object and scope. — (1) The main purpose of Section 92 (1) is to give protection to public trusts of a charitable or religious nature from being subjected to harassment by suits being filed against them. AIR 1966 SC 878 (881): (1966) 2 SCR 151.

(2) This section is intended to be an exhaustive statement of the law applicable to cases in which there has been a breach of trust in relation to a public trust (whether express or constructive) of a charitable or religious nature. AIR 1955 Bom 55 (58) * AIR 1922 All 349 (351, 352): 44 All 622 (DB).

(3) The real test for the applicability of the section is to see whether the suit is fundamentally on behalf of the public for the vindication of a public right and in order to apply the test the Court must look to the substance and not to the form of the suit. AIR 1927 Mad 338 (339) * AIR 1935 Mad 855 (856) * AIR 1940 Pat 425 (428, 429) (DB) * AIR 1926 Mad 1029 (1030).

(4) The allegations in the plaint as originally laid must be looked into to find out whether the suit would come within the mischief of Section 92. Where all the three elements necessary to bring the suit within the mischief of Section 92 were there in the plaint as originally laid, the withdrawal of the offending prayer, namely the prayer coming within one of the sub-clauses (a) to (h) of Section 92 at a later date will not save the suit from the mischief of Section 92. (Averments in the plaint as a whole and not in written statement to be considered.)

of the scope of the section merely by the fact that claims for reliefs other than those described in the section are also added therein. AIR 1953 Bom 153 (157) : ILR (1953) Bom 271 (DB) * (1894) 27 Cal 418 (426) (DB) * AIR 1921 Mad 563 (565, 566) (DB).

(6) Where persons in management of a Dharmashala temple and shops on land belonging to State are dispossessed of the said properties by an executive order, such an executive action is destructive of basic principles of rule of law. The proper course is by a suit under S. 92 Civil P. C., even if those persons claim adversely to the trust. AIR 1961 SC 1570 (1574, 1575) : (1962) 2 SCR 69.

(7) Where an order under Section 5 of The Charitable and Religious Trusts Act is not complied with, by virtue of S. 6 of the Act a suit for any of the reliefs mentioned in this section, may be instituted without the previous sanction of the Advocate-General. AIR 1933 Mad 854 (854) : 57 Mad 153 (DB).

(8) When there is no dispute which normally calls for adjudication by way of suit, S. 7 of The Charitable and Religious Trusts Act is the more appropriate provision of law. (1957) 99 Cal L Jour 161 (164).

(9) This section applies to all Courts including the Chartered High Courts. AIR 1955 Bom 55 (58).

(10) The section is not hit by Art. 14 of the Constitution of India. AIR 1955 Raj 166 (167): ILR (1955) 5 Raj 324 (DB).

(11) Amendment of Scheme of trust — Application maintainable under S. 151 — Relief for removal of trustee can also be included provided prior sanction of Advocate General under S. 92 has been obtained. AIR 1966 All 509 (510).

(11-A) As the very basis of a suit under S. 92 is the existence of a public charitable trust, it cannot be said that an issue as to whether there is a public charitable trust or whether the property is private property is merely an incidental issue or a mere argument leading up to the final decision. Unless the Court decides that there is a public charitable trust, it would have no jurisdiction under S. 92 and the plaintiff cannot obtain any of the reliefs which he seeks. Therefore, an issue tried in a suit under S. 92 with regard to the nature of property would operate as res judicata in a subsequent suit filed between the same parties. AIR 1959 Bom 396 (399) : 60 Bom LR 1273.

(12) Consent under Sec. 399, Companies Act (1956) — Has no analogy with consent of Advocate General under S. 92. Civil P. C. (1965) 69 Cal WN 137: (1965) 35 Com Cas 187.

(13) For S. 92 to apply all the three conditions enumerated under S. 92(1) must co-exist, i.e., there must be an express or constructive trust for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature; there must be an allegation of breach of trust or the direction of the Court should be deemed necessary for the administration of such trust: and the suit should have a prayer for any one of the reliefs mentioned in sub-cls. (a) to (h) in Cl. (1) of S. 92. If any one of these conditions is not existing then the suit will not come within the mischief of S. 92. AIR 1963 Ker 191 (192): 1962 Ker LT 662  1968 All LJ 1079 (DB). (Section applies to defence.)

(4) In order that the section may apply, the trust must be a public one. (5) In the case of public trust the beneficial interest is vested in an uncertain and fluctuating body and the trust itself is of a permanent character. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 323 (325) : ILR (1951) Trav-Co 543 (DB) * AIR 1957 SC 133 (136): 1956 SCR 756 : ILR (1957) 1 All 171 * AIR 1950 All 62 (66) (DB) * AIR 1942 Cal 343 (349) : ILR (1942) 1 Cal 211 (DB) * AIR 1922 All 519 (520) (DB).

(6) Section 92 relates to those charities only in which the public are interested. The endowment must be for a public purpose of a charitable nature and the beneficial interest must be vested in the public in general or a considerable section thereof. The distinction between a private and public trust is that whereas in the former the beneficiaries are specific individuals in the latter they are the general public or a class thereof. While in the former the beneficiaries are persons who are ascertained or capable of being ascertained, in the latter they constitute a body which is incapable of ascertainment. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 181 (182) * AIR 1960 Cal 558 (560). (Public trust — Will creating private religious trust as well as public charitable trust — Substantial income of trust property to be spent on public charity — Case is not outside S. 92.)

(7) The fact that the uncertain and fluctuating body is only a section of the public or caste will not detract from the public character of the trust. AIR 1957 SC 133 (137) : 1956 SCR 756 : ILR (1957) 1 All 171 * 1954 Ker L Tim 666 (668, 669) (DB) * AIR 1953 Mad 220 (221) * AIR 1942 Cal 343 (349) : ILR (1942) 1 Cal 211 (DB) * AIR 1932 Pat 33 (51) : 11 Pat 988 (DB) * AIR 1931 All 212 (214) : 53 All 422 (DB) * AIR 1938 Bom 471 (473) (DB).

(8) In order to determine whether a particular trust is a public trust within the meaning of S. 92 one has to see whether the beneficial interest is vested in an uncertain and fluctuating body of individuals and whether the trust is of a permanent character. Even though the properties were to be used for the benefit of a particular institution. if there was a public user, the trust would become a public trust. Other well-recognized tests to determine a public trust are:

(i) The nature of the object and purpose of endowment, that is, whether it is open to the public generally or not.

(ii) The authority of the donor to derive funds.

(iii) The existence of any reversionary right in the donor, and

(iv) The user by the public. There was the further allegation in the same paragraph that the Church was bound by a trust in favour of the Jacobite Syrian Community subject to the spiritual supremacy of the Patriarch of Antioch:

Held, that these allegations prima facie showed that the Church was a public trust, because the beneficiaries of the trust formed a section of the general public.)

(9) In order to create a trust there must be a dedication for the purposes of the trust. Whether in any particular case a property has been validly dedicated to a public, religious or charitable trust is a question of fact to be determined by a reference to the terms of the document of dedication where there is one, or, where there is no document or the terms thereof are ambiguous, to the user, treatment, surrounding circumstances and also the feelings and sentiments of the religious community to which the parties belong. (5) The founder and his representatives or persons of same sect and form of religious worship as that of the founder of the religious endowment for carrying on the sectional worship, so also persons who have contributed to the funds of a trust, or who have devoted time and energy to the affairs of the trust are persons having interest in the trust. said to have such interest. AIR 1967 SC 1415 (1417, 1418): (1967) 2 SCR 739.

7. The suit must be for one of the reliefs specified in the section. — (1) The section is limited in its application to suits for reliefs specified in the section. AIR 1952 SC 143 (144): 1952 SCR 513 * AIR 1947 Nag 233 (235): ILR (1947) Nag 819 * AIR 1935 Mad 825 (826): 58 Mad 988 (FB).

(2) Unless a suit prays for a relief specified in the section the section will not apply. (3) If in substance a relief specified in the section is even impliedly asked for, the section will apply. AIR 1927 Mad 886 (886) (DB) * (1906) 33 Cal 789 (809, 810) * AIR 1939 Mad 102 (105).

(4) Each of the three conditions specified in Section 92 must be satisfied in order that the suit may be filed in the manner provided by the section, one cannot evade the section simply by adding certain inconsequential reliefs not allowed by the section when the suit is clearly within the scope of the section. AIR 1960 Cal 558 (559).

(5) Suit claiming a declaration that appointment of defendant trustees was not in accordance with will and as such void — Court invited to adjudicate lease granted by defendant trustees as void and make an order directing its cancellation and delivery — Injunction also claimed against executor and lessees — Held, that reliefs claimed were not proper reliefs which could be claimed under Section 92. AIR 1960 Cal 558 (561).

(6) Private trust — Breach of trust or mismanagement on part of trustee — Suit can be brought in Civil Court. AIR 1968 SC 915 (917): (1968) 2 SCR 897.

(7) If a party intending to institute a suit under Section 92 of the Code, improperly introduces in the plaint of the intended suit reliefs that are not permitted by the section, he can hardly complain that sanction, though applied for, has been refused but the fact that some of the reliefs cannot be granted because of the non-compliance with the provisions of Section 92 of the Code cannot disentitle the plaintiff to get other reliefs which can well be claimed in an ordinary suit. AIR 1960 Cal 558 (561).

(8) It is no doubt true that where the reliefs sought for in a suit fall within the ambit of Section 92 of the Civil Procedure Code, it will have to be struck off the file if the sanction of the Advocate-General has not been obtained as required by the law. But it is equally settled that where such a suit also includes other reliefs which do not fall within the scope of Section 92 of the Code, it need not be struck off the file as a whole. Where the reliefs are inextricably mingled the problem is certainly difficult in permitting the plaintiff to elect the relief not vitiated by the lack of sanction as required by Section 92. Where there are averments to justify the grant of an independent relief the Court may even permit amendment of the plaint in suitable cases. AIR 1965 Mad 531 (531, 532): (1965) 2 Mad LJ 231.

8. Effect of adding other reliefs.— (1) A suit for a relief specified in the section will not be taken out of the scope of the section merely because a subordinate or consequential relief, not specified in the section, is asked for in addition to a relief so specified. AIR 1942 Bom 291 (293) (DB) * AIR 1925 All 683 (684): 47 All 770 (DB) * AIR 1918 Bom 134 (136): 42 Bom 742 (DB).

(2) In a suit to enforce private rights the mere addition of a relief which is specified in the section and which cannot be claimed by reason of the bar created by this section cannot vitiate the entire proceedings, it being open to the Court to permit the plaintiff to amend the plaint or to refuse such relief to him. ILR (1954) 6 Assam 361 (366, 367) (DB).

[But see AIR 1953 Bom 153 (157): ILR (1953) Bom 271 (DB).]

9. "Such further or other relief as the nature of the case may require." — (1) The words "such further or other relief as the nature of the case may require" must, on general principles of construction, be taken to mean relief ejusdem generis with those described in Cls. (a) to (g) of the section and not one wholly outside thereof. AIR 1942 Cal 343 (347): ILR (1942) 1 Cal 211 (DB) * AIR 1957 Andh Pra 964 (965) * AIR 1932 Bom 65 (66, 67) (DB) * AIR 1928 PC 16 (18): 55 Ind App 96: 55 Cal 519.

(2) Though the other relief must be ejusdem generis with the reliefs specifically enumerated, it need not be one in addition to a relief which falls under any of the preceding clauses and which is claimed in the suit. AIR 1942 Cal 343 (347): ILR (1942) 1 Cal 211 (DB).

(3) Where in a suit filed under the provisions of Section 92, C. P. Code, the plaintiffs do not ask for any relief against some of the defendants the Court cannot pass any decree as against those defendants. AIR 1963 SC 309 (313): (1963) 3 SCR 623.

(2) Although a suit for declaration that a certain property appertains to a religious trust lies outside the scope of Section 92, still when the defendant denies the existence of a trust, a declaration that the trust does exist might be made as ancillary to the main relief claimed under the section if the plaintiff is held entitled to it. AIR 1959 Bom 396 (398): 60 Bom LR 1273 (DB).

(3) A declaration may be granted where it is ancillary to the relief claimed in the section. (5) It is wrong to call shebaits as mere pujaris or archakas. A shebait is a human ministrant of the deity while a pujari is appointed by the founder or the shebait to conduct worship. Pujari thus is a servant of the Shebait. Shebaitship is not mere office, it is property as well. AIR 1962 SC 1329 (1333).

(6) A suit against the transferees from the head of a math belonging to the Vaishnava Bairagi community for declaration that property in their hands is trust property and for possession is outside the scope of Section 92. All such suits must be instituted in the ordinary manner and not under Section 92. AIR 1959 Bom 491 (494, 495): 59 Bom LR 1144. (Where the plaintiffs sue as representatives of the Bairagi community and in effect seek that the property should be restored to the Bairagi community, the suit is maintainable under Order 1, Rule 8.)

(7) Scope of Section 50 — Suit for declaration that suit property belongs to public trust and for recovery of possession from alienees to whom it is sold in breach of trust — Alienees impleaded as party defendants — Suit maintainable under Section 50 — Not barred by Section 80. (1962) 3 Guj LR 843.

11. Removing a trustee — Clause (a). — (1) The section applies to a suit for the removal of a trustee de son tort or a person who is a de facto and not de jure trustee. AIR 1940 Pat 425 (428, 429) (DB) * AIR 1960 Cal 558 (560).

(2) A suit by some trustees, for a declaration that the appointment of the defendant as a co-trustee is invalid and for an injunction restraining him from interfering with their management, is a suit for the removal of a trustee falling within this section. (3) The guiding principle in granting or refusing a prayer for the removal of a trustee under this section is to see whether in the particular case, it is for the welfare of the trust to do so, having regard to the original purposes of the trust. (5) As a general principle back accounting cannot be decreed except on proof of dishonesty and malversation. A mere spending for other religious or charitable purposes cannot always amount to a diversion of trust funds. Charities or the performance of the religious services cannot by themselves amount to a diversion of funds and in absence of evidence to show what was the amount so spent in relation to the amount spent for the main trust it cannot be said that there has been such a diversion of funds as to be termed a misappropriation or malversation of the trust funds or even a breach of trust. 17. Setting a scheme — Clause (g).— (1) In giving effect to the provisions of this section and in appointing new trustees and settling a scheme the Court is entitled to take into consideration, not merely the wishes of the founder so far as they can be ascertained, but also the past history of the institution and the way in which the management has been carried out heretofore, in conjunction with other existing conditions that may have grown up since its foundation. (9) It is open in a suit under S. 92, where a scheme is to be settled, to provide in the scheme for modifying it as and when necessity arises, by inserting a clause to that effect. Such a suit for the settlement of a scheme is analogous to an administration suit and so long as the modification in the scheme is for the purposes of administration, such modification can be made by application under the relevant clause of the scheme, without the necessity of a suit under Section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Such a procedure does not violate any provision of Section 92. If the scheme is amended in pursuance of such a clause in the scheme it will not amount to amending the decree. The decree stands as it was, and all that happens is that a part of the decree which provides for management under the scheme is being given effect to. AIR 1961 SC 1206 (1211): (1961) 3 SCR 930. (22) Where a compromise decree in a suit for framing a scheme for the management of a school committee, which was a registered society, provided that the managing board should thereafter consist of a fixed number of members and further provided for the appointment of a sub-committee with powers to draw up the constitution and to make recommendation for any additional changes in the constitution but that power to make recommendations was subject to an important qualification, viz., that it should be 'without prejudice to the strength and power of the managing board';

Held, on a construction of the decree, that the words 'without prejudice to the strength and power of the managing board' were absolute and they did not empower the sub-committee to make any changes either with regard to the strength or the power of the managing board. (1958) 1 Andh WR 244: 1958 Andh LT 285.

(23) When in an administration suit under Section 92, Civil P. C., the Court frames a scheme in the final decree and liberty to apply is reserved the suit is not altogether dead. The Court while laying down the scheme having felt that it might be necessary to give directions and orders to work out the scheme, gave the parties liberty to apply in the suit itself, even after the final decree is passed. For the limited purpose of giving effect to the scheme the suit is pending, even though it has come to an end by the passing of a final decree. The Court is competent even to amend the scheme by adding a clause found to be necessary subsequently. The Court has no further power under the 'liberty to apply' clause to scrap the old scheme altogether and substitute it by a new scheme and pass an entirely new final decree containing the new scheme. This can only be done by filing a new suit under Section 92 of the Code, only after the sanction of the Advocate General is obtained. What the party is not entitled to do directly should not be allowed to be done indirectly. AIR 1960 Cal 631 (636, 637).

(4) Suit under S. 92 can be compromised under O. 23, R. 3 — Consent of Advocate-General is not necessary for such compromise — Public trust — Court must exercise its plenary powers and scrutinise terms of compromise and reject compromise which sacrifices interest of trust. (d) appoint a receiver of any property and enforce the performance of his duties by attaching and selling his property;

(e) make such other interlocutory orders as may appear to the Court to be just and convenient.

[See Orders 38, 39, 40.]

SECTION 94 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. "If it is so prescribed."

1. Scope:— (1) Supplemental proceedings are a means to an end and not an end in themselves. Thus, a suit only for the appointment of a receiver is not maintainable. Madh B LJ 1955 HCR 1117 (1119).

(2) The provisions relating to O. 40 are subject to the controlling S. 94 and in taking any action under O. 40 or passing any interlocutory order, it is the duty of the Court of law to keep in view that the rights of the parties are not jeopardised and the ends of justice not defeated. AIR 1960 Raj 192 (194, 195): 1960 Raj LW 334 (DB).

(3) By virtue of S. 7, clauses (c) and (e) of the section do not extend to Provincial Small Couse Courts. AIR 1919 Cal 6 (6): 46 Cal 717 (DB).

(4) Any error in the manner of exercise of jurisdiction conferred by S. 94 would not affect the validity of the Court's act if the Court's jurisdiction is derived from a source independent of the provisions which merely prescribe the manner of its exercise. AIR 1945 Nag 97 (100, 101): ILR (1945) Nag 121 (DB).

(5) The Courts have power to pass orders referred to in cls. (a) to (e) of the section only if it is so prescribed by the rules and this would exclude the inherent power of the Court under S. 151 to pass such orders where they are not prescribed by rules. AIR 1928 Mad 491 (492) (DB) ° AIR 1933 Mad 500 (501): 56 Mad 563 * AIR 1932 Mad 180 (181) ° AIR 1953 Assam 104 (104): ILR (1952) 4 Assam 160 ° AIR 1953 Madh B 154 (155) * ILR (1954) Madh B 284 (287) ° AIR 1952 Mys 76 (77): ILR (1952) Mys 354 ° AIR 1945 Pat 483 (484, 485): 24 Pat 496 (DB).

(6) The applicant for an injunction must make out a prima facie case therefor. AIR 1928 Cal 464 (465): 55 Cal 978 (DB).

(7) Whether it is a fit case in which an injunction should be issued has to be determined on its own merits. Interest of the opposite party is as important as the interest of the party asking for interim injunction. AIR 1968 J and K 86: 1968 Kash LJ 134.

(8) The grant of interim reliefs is always in the discretion of the trial Court which has to exercise such discretion in accordance with well-established judicial principles and not in a capricious or arbitrary manner. However, it is for the person aggrieved with the order made by the trial Court to show in a convincing manner that the discretion had not been properly exercised by that Court, and unless that burden is discharged the order must be upheld by the appellate Court. AIR 1967 Goa 149 (151) (FB).

(9) A mere apprehension of interference with the plaintiff's collection of rent and of the breach of the peace does not justify the grant of an injunction. AIR 1926 Cal 604 (605) (DB).

(10) It is not proper exercise of discretion to grant an injunction restraining the opposite party from the bona fide exercise of his statutory rights. AIR 1920 Pat 423 (423): 5 Pat L Jour 76 (DB).

(11) Order 39, R. 2 (3), applies to disobedience generally of an injunction granted by the Court whether under O. 39 or under Section 94. AIR 1918 Mad 340 (341) ° AIR

(12) The facts in each case have to be closely scanned and carefully considered by the Court before the issue of an injunction. AIR 1955 Assam 174 (176).

(13) When a witness summoned to produce a document under O. 16, R. 6 fails to comply with the summons, he may be punished by arrest and imprisonment or attachment under O. 16, R. 10. AIR 1928 Mad 299 (305): 51 Mad 1 (SB).

(14) An order directing the furnishing of security and submission of accounts is an order of the kind contemplated by Section 94 clause (e). (1912) 17 Ind Cas 361 (362) (DB) (Cal).

(15) A Court has power under clause (e) to stay an execution sale pending the disposal of a suit under O. 21, R. 63 of the Code. AIR 1951 Mad 321 (322).

(16) A Civil Court though a court of special jurisdiction by virtue of S. 28 of the Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act, 1947 does not lose its qualities of a civil nature. As there is nothing in the Bombay Act which is contrary to the exercise of powers to grant temporary injunctions or which prohibits the exercise of such powers the Rent Court as a Civil Court will have power to deal with civil matters and all matters incidental thereto unless the provision in the Bombay Act indicated to the contrary. The Court constituted under S. 28 of the Bombay Act would therefore have jurisdiction to grant a temporary injunction. (1966) 7 Guj LR 147 (156): ILR (1966) Guj 167 (DB) ° AIR 1966 Orissa 96 (98): ILR (1965) Cut 794.

(17) Court has jurisdiction to pass the order in the nature of an interim injunction even when the proceedings are before the Arbitration. AIR 1968 J and K 86 (89): 1968 Kash LJ 134.

(18) An arbitrator under the Co-operative Societies Act is not a Court or a Judge. He has the incidental or consequential powers necessary to achieve the object of deciding the dispute by implication. The power of a Civil Court to grant stay or injunction is a supplemental power and not an incidental power. He has therefore no power to grant an injunction. AIR 1968 All 22 (28): 1967 All LJ 454.

(19) An interim order is as much an order of the Court as a final order and is capable of being enforced. AIR 1968 Bom 35 (39): 69 Bom LR 250 (DB). (Interim order was about payment of interest.)

(20) Attachment before judgment — Two conditions are necessary, viz., Court has to issue order directing security to be furnished for the sum specified and in the same order it may make attachment of property — No attachment comes into existence unless whole procedure prescribed by law for making attachment is gone through—Though a Court has jurisdiction to attach property in order to achieve that object it is bound to follow procedure provided by law; for, a thing for which provision has been made must be done in that way or not at all — If no attachment comes into effect according to procedure prescribed any step taken towards achievement of that object is mere nullity and has no effect on property. AIR 1967 All 136 (138, 140): 1966 All LJ 990 (DB).

2. "If it is so prescribed." — (1) (Majority-view: J. C. Shah J., dissenting). — The effect of the expression 'if it is so prescribed' in S. 94 is only this that when the rules in O. 39, Civil P. C., prescribe the circumstances in which temporary injunction can be issued, ordinarily the Court is not to use its inherent powers to make the necessary orders in the interests of justice It is in the incidence of the exercise of the power of the Court to issue temporary injunction that the provisions of S. 94 of the Code have their effect and not in taking away the right of the Court to exercise its inherent power. AIR 1962 SC 527 (532, 534, 537): 1962 Supp (1) SCR 450 * AIR 1961 J & K 29 (30) ° AIR 1959 Ker 45 (46): 1958 Ker LT 385 (DB) ° ILR (1966) Cut 400: 32 Cut LT 999.

(2) Whatever be the inherent powers of a High Court apart from the provisions of O. 39 those powers cannot be exercised by the High Court when dealing with an appeal or revision from an order made by a subordinate Court. If the Subordinate Court had not such power and jurisdiction, the High Court will have to set aside the order of that Court. AIR 1961 J & K 29 (30).

(3) Election petition before S. D. O. by sitting pradhan against opponent who was declared duly elected — S. D. O. cannot give interim relief — He cannot withhold transfer of charge of office of Pradhan to opponent, till the disposal of election petition. Because neither U. P. Panchayat Raj Act nor the rules thereunder authorise the S. D. O. hearing election petition to grant interim relief. He has therefore not the powers conferred upon Civil Courts by S. 94 and S. 151 and Orders 39 and 41 CPC. AIR 1963 All 518 (520, 522): ILR (1961) 2 All 298 (DB).

(4) Clause "if it is so prescribed" in S. 94 means that Interlocutory order can be made only if rules under the Code prescribe for such order. AIR 1966 Cal 603 (604).

(5) Courts have also inherent powers to issue temporary injunction in circumstances which are not covered by the provisions of O. 39 CPC if the Court is of opinion that the interests of justice require the issue of such interim injunction. AIR 1962 SC 527 (532, 534, 537): 1962 Supp (1) SCR 450.

95. Compensation for obtaining arrest, attachment or injunction on insufficient grounds.—(1) Where, in any suit in which an arrest or attachment has been effected or a temporary injunction granted under the last preceding section,—

(a) it appears to the Court that such arrest, attachment or injunction was applied for on insufficient grounds, or

(b) the suit of the plaintiff fails and it appears to the Court that there was no reasonable or probable ground for instituting the same, the defendant may apply to the Court, and the Court may, upon such application, award against the plaintiff by its order such amount, not exceeding one thousand rupees, as it deems a reasonable compensation to the defendant for the expense or injury caused to him:

Provided that a Court shall not award, under this section, an amount exceeding the limits of its pecuniary jurisdiction.

(2) An order determining any such application shall bar any suit for compensation in respect of such arrest, attachment or injunction.

1. Scope.—(1) The section applies also to cases in which the plaintiff is a minor represented by a next friend. AIR 1935 Mad 886 (887): 59 Mad 415.

(2) The section authorises an order for compensation only against the plaintiff but not against his next friend. But a separate suit for compensation against the next friend is not barred. AIR 1941 Mad 719 (720): ILR (1941) Mad 985 (DB).

(3) The section applies to arrest or attachment before judgment. AIR 1939 Pat 13 (16, 17).

(4) The jurisdiction exercised by the Court must be considered in terms of the clear language of Section 95, C. P. Code, and the said section does not, in any way, place any restriction. Therefore, the fact that the order of attachment has been made absolute in the presence of the defendant or that it has not been set aside is not a bar for the defendant applying under Section 95. AIR 1959 Ker 18 (20, 21): 1958 Ker LT 565.

(5) The application of any penal provision of the nature of Section 95 has to be considered by the Court with very great care and anxiety. AIR 1959 Cal 668 (669): 63 Cal WN 197 (DB).

2. Arrest or attachment before judgment.—(1) No compensation is awardable under this section unless the attachment or arrest has been actually effected. 1956 Madh-B LJ 927 (928) ° 1958 Raj LW 367 (369) * AIR 1952 Bhopal 14 (14) ° AIR 1917 Mad 145 (147): 39 Mad 952 (DB) * AIR 1925 Bom 357 (358, 359): 49 Bom 629.

(2) A defendant who has been arrested can be granted compensation though he did not receive the summons. (1891) 15 Bom 160 (163).

(3) The section applies also to temporary attachments under Order 38, Rule 5. AIR 1919 Mad 20 (20) (DB) ° AIR 1932 Cal 92 (93) ° 1932 Mad WN 956 (957).

3. Attachment or arrest must have been applied for on insufficient grounds.—(1) The words "on insufficient grounds" must be taken to mean "without reasonable or probable cause." AIR 1953 Madh B 90 (91):

(2) That on the finding that R the plaintiff in a suit on a promissory note was only a benamidar for Kanthammal the defendant No. 2 and that it was for her benefit that the suit was instituted, it might follow that the attachment was applied for on insufficient grounds as R had no real claim against Kanthammal though the attachment was confirmed, and Section 95 (1) (a) would be attracted because, to bring the case under that provision, it would be sufficient to show that the attachment was effected and that it was applied for on insufficient grounds. AIR 1961 Mad 352 (353, 354): (1960) 2 Mad LJ 484. (Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 Mad 412.)

(3) An application for attachment on the ground that the plaintiff would have difficulty in realizing the decretal amount is made on insufficient grounds. AIR 1934 Oudh 429 (430): 10 Luck 199 (DB).

(4) The mere fact that the grounds have not been mentioned in the application for attachment or arrest before judgment will not make the plaintiff liable for compensation. AIR 1953 Madh B 90 (91): ILR (1953) Madh B 29 (DB) * ILR (1954) Madh B 134 (136, 137) ° AIR 1937 Nag 126 (127): ILR (1938) Nag 361.

(5) Application for removal of attachment before judgment on deposit of amount — No plea that attachment was obtained on insufficient grounds — Attachment terminated — Subsequent application for compensation under Section 96 not maintainable. AIR 1942 All 261 (263): ILR (1942) All 360.

(6) Where on the defendant's furnishing security his property is released from attachment, but before the release he protests that the attachment was on insufficient ground, he is entitled to claim compensation. AIR 1953 Madh B 247 (249): ILR (1954) Madh B 62.

(7) No compensation can be granted on the defendant's showing that at the time of attachment he had property of greater value than the amount claimed in the suit. ILR (1954) Madh B 134 (136).

(8) The fact that the order for attachment was not made absolute is, by itself, not sufficient to entitle the defendant to compensation. Madh B LJ 1954 HCR 1284 (1286).

(9) The setting of the order of attachment which is alleged to have been obtained on insufficient grounds is not an essential preliminary to the grant of compensation under Section 95 of the C. P. C. AIR 1961 Mad 220 (222, 223): (1960) 2 Mad LJ 479.

4. "Or the suit of the plaintiff fails."— (1) Where there was no want of reasonable and probable cause for instituting the suit, but the same was dismissed on the ground of plaintiff's fraudulent conduct, the defendant, will not be entitled to claim compensation. (1903) 13 Mad L Jour 70 (71) (DB).

(2) Mere evidence of malice will not prove the absence of reasonable or probable ground for instituting the suit. AIR 1915 Cal 173 (174, 175): 42 Cal 550 (DB).

(3) Clause (b) of Section 95 (1), C. P. Code, contemplates compensation being granted in a case of attachment being effected in respect of a suit which ultimately fails and it appears to the Court that there was no reasonable or probable ground for instituting the same. Where the applicant herself in conspiracy with the plaintiff allows him to file a suit for recovery of money under a promissory note executed by her jointly with another and the plaintiff succeeds in that suit in levying an attachment before judgment on the property of the applicant, the applicant cannot succeed in her application under Section 95 on the suit being dismissed as against her. To such a case Section 95 (1) (b) will not apply. AIR 1963 Mad 412 (413): (1963) 2 Mad LJ 168 (DB). (AIR 1961 Mad 352, Reversed.)

(4) The disposal of a suit in which an application for compensation under Sec. 95 has been made cannot divest the Court its power to deal with that application which it is clear, the duty of the Court. AIR 1964 Mys 4 (6): (1963) 1 Mys LJ 238.

5. Procedure for obtaining compensation. —(1) Beyond an application for compensation there is no particular procedure or formality to be followed. AIR 1917 Mad 885 (885).

(2) An application under Section 95 is necessary for the purpose, which may form even part of a counter, but the Court has to become seized of the matter before it can proceed. The Court cannot provide for grant of compensation under S. 95, as part of the suit, and embody its decision while passing the decree in the suit. After the Court has been seized of this application a formal notice should be given to the aggrieved party, his objection heard, and then an order passed. (1961) 2 Mad LJ 454: 74 Mad LW 810.

(3) Section 95, C. P. Code alone governs the procedure in a summary application for compensation for wrongful arrest or attachment and there is no justification for hedging this remedy round with restrictions which the section itself does not import. AIR 1963 Raj 177 (177): 1963 Raj LW 163.

(4) An application is to be made only after the suit is heard and not before. AIR 1923 Mad 352 (353) ° 1931 Mad WN 956 (957).

Section 95 — Note 5 (contd.)

(5) An application for compensation for wrongful attachment of property cannot be entertained by the Court unless the order of attachment has been set aside as having been obtained on insufficient grounds. AIR 1934 Mad 638 (639) * AIR 1942 All 261 (262, 263): ILR (1942) All 360.

[But see AIR 1940 Mad 77 (78).]

(6) Court has power under this section to permit the conversion of an application for compensation into a suit for compensation upon payment of the necessary court. (1912) 16 Ind Cas 443 (444) (DB) (Cal).

6. Amount and basis of compensation.— (1) The discretion to grant compensation has to be exercised in a judicial manner. Where a Court gives no reasons for refusing an application under this section, the order is not one according to law AIR 1955 Mad 552 (553) ° AIR 1934 Oudh 429 (431): 10 Luck 199 (DB).

(2) By the very terms of Section 95, the Court has a wide discretion in deciding whether any compensation should be allowed and, if so, to what extent. The discretion is a judicial discretion and the Court to which such an application is made must take into consideration all the circumstances of the case including the question whether or not the grounds are so clearly insufficient that the applicant himself could not but have known that they were insufficient. The Court should not merely look at the question from the point of view of the ultimate decision by which the applicaion was disallowed but also consider the question whether the applicant for injunction had reason to believe that they were insufficient. AIR 1959 Cal 668 (669): 63 Cal WN 197 (DB).

(3) The word "injury" is not confined only to some tangible injury that can be measured directly in money but humiliation or injury to reputation will be included in the term "injury" and general damages can be awarded. (4) An attachment before judgment effected on insufficient grounds is itself an injury, actionable per se, as it interferes with the common law rights of the defendant and entitles the defendant, without proving special damage, to obtain compensation by way of general damages. AIR 1960 Bom 326 (328): 61 Bom LR 1254 (DB).

(5) In the case of a suit by a third party for damages for wrongful attachment of his property in execution of a decree passed against another person, it was held that the wrong was actionable per se and that the plaintiff was entitled to general damages although he did not prove any special damage. (1866) 10 Moo Ind App 563 (575) (PC).

(6) The defendant is not bound to prove special damages in an application under Sec. 95. AIR 1959 Ker 18 (21): 1958 Ker LT 565 (DB). ((1940) 1 MLJ 782 and AIR 1940 Mad 77 and 21 MLJ 1052 and AIR 1922 Mad 206 and ILR (1956) Trav-Co 324, Foll.; 39 Cal WN 915, Dissent. from.)

(7) An order under Section 95 awarding compensation for improper attachment before judgment has to be passed as an order collateral to the decree or decision in the suit; and it is appealable under Sec. 104. Such appeals are treated as appeals from orders and not appeals from decrees. (1961) 2 Mad LJ 454: 74 Mad LW 810.

(8) In an action for wrongful arrest damages are at large. In other words general damages in addition to special damages, if any, alleged and proved are recoverable. Where no special damage is alleged the applicant is entitled to general damages. AIR 1963 Raj 177 (177). 1963 Raj LW 163.

(9) When an order of attachment so obtained has been made absolute after hearing the parties, it would mean that according to the Court the application for attachment was made on sufficient grounds and if that order has become final, it will not be open the same Court on a subsequent application under Section 95 of the Civil P. C., to hold the contrary. So long as the prior binding order or attachment, is not set aside either by appeal or review or otherwise, an applicaion under Sec. 95 of the C. P. Code cannot be allowed on the ground that the order has been procured on insufficient grounds. AIR 1961 Mad 220 (222, 223): (1960) 2 Mad LJ 479 ° AIR 1963 Mad 412 (413): (1963) 2 Mad LJ 168 (DB).

(10) Where an order of attachment that has become final is only ex parte and there is no final order on merits and after considering the objections of the defendant, then an application under Section 95 can be allowed on the ground that the order has been procured on insufficient grounds and it will not be equitable to apply the principle of the rule of res judicata in such a case. AIR 1961 Mad 220 (222, 223): (1960) 2 Mad LJ 479.

(11) Under Section 95 the presentation of an application for cancellation of the injunction or attachment complained against is not a condition precedent for sustaining an application for the payment of compensation. 7. Court which can grant compensation.— (1) Compensation can be awarded only by the Court by which the arrest, etc., was ordered and the application for compensation has to be made only to that Court. (1898) 22 Bom 42 (46) (DB) ° (1865) 3 Suth WR (Misc) 28 (28) (DB).

(2) Where a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from executing a decree obtained by him in another suit is granted on an undertaking by the plaintiff to compensate the defendant for the loss that he may suffer on account of such injunction, and the suit of the plaintiff is dismissed, the undertaking is to be enforced by application not to the Court executing the defendant's decree but to the Court which granted the injunction. (1898) 22 Bom 42 (46) (DB).

8. Provincial Small Cause Court.—(1) A Provincial Small Cause Court can order the attachment of moveables and also award compensation for a wrongful attachment thereof under this section though it cannot do so with respect to immoveable property. 1907 Pun Re No. 77, p. 397 (398) ° AIR 1915 Mad 1072 (1072).

(2) In Small Cause suits an independent inquiry, regarding claim for compensation for wrongful attachment before judgment, is not necessary and the evidence on the point can be taken in the course of the suit proceedings. AIR 1951 Madh B 79 (79).

(3) A suit for damages for illegal attachment is not cognizable by a Small Cause Court. (1913) 18 Ind Cas 695 (695) (All).

9. Chartered High Court, power of.— (1) Section does not apply to suits entertained by High Court on its original side and hence the High Court can on an application by the defendant award under Rule 329 of the Bombay High Court Original Side Rules, compensation exceeding Rs. 1000 for wrongful attachment before judgment. AIR 1926 Bom 523 (524).

[But see (1908) 10 Bom LR 1002 (1002, 1003).]

(2) The Original Side Rules of the Madras High Court do not contain rules similar to those of the Bombay High Court. Hence the provisions of Section 95 will apply with necessary changes in that High Court. AIR 1955 Mad 552 (553).

10. Regular suit, if and when barred.— (1) Remedy by way of claiming compensation under Section 95 (1) is optional — Regular suit for claiming compensation not barred by Section 95 (2) unless an order for compensation has been passed under S. 95 (1). AIR 1963 Punj 158 (162): 65 Punj LR 33.

(2) A regular suit for compensation is not barred by the omission to proceed under the summary procedure provided for by this section. (1866) 1 Agra 104 (105) ° (1869) 11 Suth WR 143 (143) (DB).

(3) If an application is made and disposed of under this section such disposal would operate as a bar to a regular suit, whatever may be the result of the application. (1874) 21 Suth WR 375 (376) (DB) ° (1911) 11 Ind Cas 917 (918) (DB) (Low Bur).

(4) A claim for compensation made in a counter affidavit against a petition for attachment before judgment cannot bar a regular suit. AIR 1920 Mad 397 (399) (DB).

(5) An application under this section is no bar to a subsequent suit for damages caused by reaping and removal of crop from the land, which the plaintiff was prevented from entering by the Court's injunction. 1932 Mad WN 536 (536, 537) (DB).

(6) In a suit for compensation the plaintiff must not only prove want of reasonable or probable cause for obtaining the arrest, attachment or injunction but also that the defendant was actuated by malice: AIR 1951 Raj 26 (30) (DB) * AIR 1944 Cal 289 (296): ILR (1944) 2 Cal 358 (DB) ° (1911) 35 Mad 598 (602) (DB).

[But see (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 357 (362) (DB).]

(7) Malice is not necessarily hatred or enmity, but any improper motive. A plaintiff acts improperly in making use, for putting undue pressure on his debtor, of a process intended to prevent fraudulent conduct on the part of the debtor. (1911) 35 Mad 598 (602) (DB).

(8) A suit lies for maliciously and wrongfully obtaining a temporary injunction or an excessive attachment of property. AIR 1927 Cal 247 (249): 53 Cal 1008 (DB) ° AIR 1926 Cal 757 (760) * AIR 1922 Lah 303 (304) (DB).

(9) When a decree for a perpetual injunction is made by the first Court but is set aside in appeal, the defendant cannot maintain a suit for damages caused by the said suit having been brought. AIR 1915 Cal 173 (175): 42 Cal 550 (DB).

(10) Apart from proving want of reasonable and probable cause, it is necessary for the plaintiff also to establish that the proceedings in the previous suit had terminated in his favour. AIR 1951 Raj 26 (29) (DB).

(11) It is only in cases where the plaintiff in the suit for damages for wrongful attachment was a party to the suit in which the goods were wrongfully attached that malice and want of reasonable or probable cause is to be proved by the plaintiff. AIR 1924 Rang 302 (307): 2 Rang 181.

[New] Appeal from final decree where no appeal from preliminary decree.— Where any party aggrieved by a preliminary decree passed after the commencement of this Code does not appeal from such decree, he shall be precluded from disputing its correctness in any appeal which may be preferred from the final decree.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 97.— The Committee have inserted an express provision to compel litigants to appeal from preliminary decrees, and have estopped them, on their failure to do so, from raising objections to such decrees in appeals from final decrees. On this point they accept the unanimous opinion of the Calcutta High Court. They think it unreasonable that parties should allow proceedings to be carried on to their final stage and large costs be incurred if they intend to rely upon objections which could be taken at an earlier stage".

(5) On a difference of opinion on a point of law, reference must be under S. 98, C. P. Code and not S. 10 (2) of the Punjab Courts Act, as that section applies only in the absence of any other provision. AIR 1916 Lah 113 (125) : 1917 Pun Re No. 71 (FB).

(6) It cannot be held that after the Constitution and the extension of the Central Act of the Code of Civil Procedure to Mysore, the provision in S. 15(3) of the Mysore High Court Act must be deemed to have been superseded as per Art. 254 (1) of the Constitution on the ground that this provision is repugnant to the provision in S. 98 (2). 2. Difference as to preliminary objection.—(1) The decision of a preliminary objection to the hearing of an appeal is not a "hearing" of the appeal. Section 98 does not apply to a difference of opinion in such a decision. (1889) 11 All 176 (181) (SB).

3. Difference as to part of decree. — (1) Where the Judges agree that a part of the decree should be reversed, but differ as to the rest, then the part as to which the Judges agree should be reversed, and rest of the decree confirmed. 99. No decree to be reversed or modified for error or irregularity not affecting merits or jurisdiction.—No decree shall be reversed or substantially varied, nor shall any case be remanded, in appeal on account of any misjoinder of parties or causes of action or any error, defect or irregularity in any proceedings in the suit, not affecting the merits of the case or the jurisdiction of the Court.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 99.— The Committee have extended this clause in order to give the Courts a large discretion in dealing with irregularities in proceedings, and they have inserted express words to meet the point decided in ILR 26 Bom 259 and ILR 27 Mad 80 and in recent decision of Calcutta High Court." —S. O. R.

opportunity under Art. 311 of the Constitution and have referred to the third Judge the question of law whether in the circumstances of the case the plaintiff had sufficient opportunity within Article 311 of the Constitution, as a question of law has been stated by the Judges a duty devolves upon the third Judge to decide the said question in accordance with the provisions of the proviso to sub-section (2). AIR 1959 Punj 402 (411) : 61 Punj LR 167.

6. Differing Judges not stating point of law—Effect.—(1) Under the proviso, it is discretionary for the members of the Bench hearing the appeal to state the point of law on which they differ. AIR 1954 All 521 (522).

(2) Where differing Judges do not state the point for decision of other Judge or Judges, decree appealed from should be confirmed. AIR 1954 All 521 (522).

(3) Where the differing Judges have, without stating the point as required by the section, delivered their judgments without any reservation, they cannot subsequently state the point of law. (1887) 9 All 625 (643) (FB). (Such reference is ultra vires.)

(4) According to practice of Patna High Court Judges note down the point of law on which they differ, in the order sheet for reference to a third Judge. It is not necessary for them to state the same in their respective judgments. AIR 1943 Pat 433 (445) (DB).

(5) Under S. 15(3), Mysore High Court Act it is not necessary that a material question or questions about which there is a difference of opinion should always be formulated before a reference is made to the Full Bench though such question may be formulated. AIR 1950 Mys 55 (56): 55 Mys HCR 97 (FB).

(6) Practice in Mysore High Court to refer cases under S. 15(3) of Mysore High Court Regulation after delivering differing opinions including final orders to be passed on such opinions — Practice not strictly warranted by S. 15(3) — Held, decision of Full Bench on such reference could not be attacked as wanting incompetence. AIR 1963 SC 1 (19. 20, 50): (1963) 3 SCR 22. (ILR 9 All 625, Overruled.)

7. Sub-section (3).—(1) After the amendment of the Letters Patent in 1928, the procedure under clause 36 of the Letters Patent on a difference of opinion is the same as that under S. 98 except that a reference under clause 36 is obligatory, while it is optional under S. 98, and the reference under clause 36 may be on a point of fact as well as of law, while under S. 98 it can only be on a point of law. (1955) 59 Cal WN 320 (356) (DB).

(2) Sub-section (3) shows clearly that the applicability of clause 36 is not in any way controlled by this section. Clause 36 applies to all appeals to Chartered High Courts whether from subordinate Courts or under the Letters Patent and S. 98 applies only to High Courts other than Chartered High Courts, e.g., Chief Courts and Courts of Judicial Commissioners. AIR 1929 Mad 641 (659) : 52 Mad 563 (FB). (If, at any time, cl. 36 ceases to exist, S. 98 will come into operation.) * AIR 1938 All 641 (647, 649) : ILR (1938) All 972 (FB) * AIR 1934 Lah 371 (379) : 15 Lah 425 (FB) * (1948) 27 Pat 332 (390) (DB) * AIR 1933 Pat 67 (68, 69) : 11 Pat 772.

(3) Chartered High Court — Difference between two Judges hearing appeal — In such case Cl. 28 of Letters Patent (Pat.) applies and not S. 98 — Clause 28 being wider than S. 98, case can be referred to third Judge even when two Judges differ on question of fact. AIR 1966 Pat 154 (160) : ILR 45 Pat 1471.

TOPIC INDICATOR

Affecting merits or jurisdiction — See Note 1.
"Any proceedings in the suit" — Proceedings subsequent to institution— See Note 1.
Appeals from appellate decrees and S. 99 — See Note 1.

Section 99 (contd.)

Error, etc., in court-fee, stamp or valuation — See Note 1.
"Jurisdiction." — See Note 1.
Wrong order of remand — See Note 4.

1. Scope and object.— (1) Section implies that the Court has inherent powers to remand a case. AIR 1960 All 655 (655): 1960 All LJ 586.

(2) Object of S. 99 is to prevent technicalities from overcoming the ends of justice, and from operating as a means of circuity of litigation. (1886) 8 All 365 (375) (DB) * AIR 1937 PC 233 (234): ILR (1937) All 655 : 64 Ind App 254 : 31 Sind LR 590.

(3) Contract Act (1872), S. 28 — Section not applicable to appeals from orders not amounting to decree. AIR 1964 Mys 147 (155) : (1963) 2 Mys LJ 513 (DB).

(4) Section 99 is based upon the principle that the rules of procedure are made to subserve the ends of justice and not to defeat them. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 94.

(5) A decision which is correct on the merits and is within the jurisdiction of the Court, should not be upset merely for technical and immaterial defects. AIR 1954 SC 340 (342): 1955 SCR 117 * AIR 1967 Punj 163 (165): (1966) 68 Pun LR (D) 214 (DB) * AIR 1965 Mys 110 (112): (1965) 1 Law Rep 51 (DB) * AIR 1959 Pepsu 7 (8) : 1 Pepsu LR 180.

(6) The law that an error or irregularity cannot be raised as a ground of appeal only refers to errors, defects or irregularities of procedue, not to rules of law or conditions which affect the substantive rights of the parties. (1861) 9 Moo Ind App 268 (282) (PC).

(7) A non-compliance with every rule of procedure does not ipso facto destroy the validity of the whole proceeding. The purpose of the rule violated must, in each case, be examined. AIR 1920 Cal 597 (598, 599): 46 Cal 978 (DB).

(8) The section clearly confers discretion upon an appellate Court. A trial Court cannot assume the role of an appellate Court and condone material faults in its own procedure with the help of this section. AIR 1954 Pepsu 115 (117): ILR (1953) Patiala 615.

(9) Administration of special oath — Record of statement of parties in order sheet is sufficient — Section 99 condones all irregularties of form and procedure unless merits of the case are affected. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 108 (109): 1961 MPLJ 769.

(10) An error, defect or irregularily of procedure must. in order to be a valid ground of appeal, be a material one, that is, should have either —

(a) affected the merits of the case. AIR 1928 Mad 919 (921) (DB) * AIR 1925 Cal 98 (100) (DB) * AIR 1923 Nag 58 (59, 60) (DB), or

(11) The term "jurisdiction" in Section 99 is used in the sense of pecuniary or local jurisdiction or jurisdiction relating to subject-matter; it does not mean the legal authority of a Court to do certain things. (1901) 28 Cal 324 (330) (DB) * AIR 1964 Mys 147 (155): (1963) 2 Mys LJ 513 (DB).

(12) A mere irregularity, which does not affect merits of case or jurisdiction of Court, is no ground for reversing or varying a decision in appeal. AIR 1956 Vindh Pra 1 (5) * AIR 1945 Nag 244 (247): ILR (1945) Nag 587 * (1913) 19 Ind Cas 918 (919) (FB) (Cal) * AIR 1928 Pat 438 (439) (DB) * AIR 1930 Bom 225 (227) (DB) * ILR (1963) 13 Raj 1183 (1184) * 1963 Raj LW 653 (654) * AIR 1961 Punj 325 (326): 63 Pun LR 499. (15) Principle underlying the section should be applied to interlocutory orders. AIR 1945 Nag 97 (100): ILR (1945) Nag 121 (DB).

(16) Section 99 does not apply to the procedure followed by arbitrators in giving awards. AIR 1953 Ajmer 49 (49).

(18) Per Beg, J. — Section 99 is not in conflict with Section 105, as the latter relates to matters not affecting the merits of the case, and the former relates to matters affecting the merits of the case or jurisdiction of the Court. AIR 1957 All 527 (532) (DB).

(19) Defect in summons which does not prejudice defendant in his defence should not be ground for nullifying or rendering inoperative provisions of Section 17 West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act (12 of 1956) regarding deposit or payment of arrears of rent by defendant after service of summons. AIR 1959 Cal 231 (236, 237): 63 Cal WN 216 (DB).

(3) When a second appeal is brought up for admission, the Judge has jurisdiction to see whether the grounds mentioned in the section exist and to reject the appeal if no such grounds exist. AIR 1960 Mad 341 (341).

(4) The right of appeal being a substantive right is to be regulated by the law in force at the time when the suit out of which it arises was commenced and nothing that happens later can take away such right except by express enactment or necessary intendment. (8) The provision restricting the grounds that may be taken in second appeal is based on the ground of public policy expressed in the maxim interest reipublicae ut sit finis litium — it concerns the State that there be an end to litigation. AIR 1921 Oudh 98 (99): 24 Oudh Cas 221.

[See also AIR 1918 PC 92 (94): 46 Cal 189: 45 Ind App 183.]

(14) Although no second appeal can be preferred on questions of fact, when such an appeal is already before the High Court it may determine issues of fact when such issues (1) have not been determined by the lower appellate Court or (2) have been wrongly determined by reason of any illegality, omission, error or defect such as is referred to in sub-section (1) of Section 100, Civil P. C. provided the evidence on record is sufficient for such determination. This is in view of the express provisions of Section 103 of the Code. AIR 1958 All 699 (702) (DB).

(1967) 1 Andh WR 85 : ILR (1967) Andh Pra 838.

(21) It is the nature of the suit and not the value of appeal that is material for purposes of Section 102. It is the character of the suit as it was originally framed and presented to the Court and not which it may assume in the course of or after the trial by virtue of the findings of the Court or in the appeal that may eventually be brought that determines the nature of the suit for the purposes of Section 102. Where neither the suit nor the grounds taken in appeal fall within the prohibited sphere of Sections 100 to 102 the plea as to non-maintainability of the appeal is wholly devoid of substance. (2) The judgment of the lower Appellate Court which is meagre and not in accordance with the rules is an irregularity; but unless the error is substantial and is likely to have affected the decision on the merits i. e., unless it can be shown that the said Court failed to apply its mind properly to the case or to the evidence or that the appellants are prejudiced in any way, the error will not be a ground of second appeal. AIR 1918 Mad 811 (812) (DB).

(3) In the following cases of errors or defects, it has been held that no second appeal will lie, unless it is shown that they have affected the decision on the merits;

(xi) Transfer of appeal by District Judge to Additional District Judge — Even if the order of transfer is irregular that would not affect the inherent jurisdiction of the Additional District Judge to hear the appeal. Even if the case was not regularly transferred to him, that would be an irregularity not affecting the merits of the case and would, therefore, not come under Section 100 (1) (c). (v) Erroneous finding of fact by lower appellate Court — Not substantial error or defect in procedure so as to justify High Court to go into question and arrive at its own conclusion by re-appreciating evidence — High Court will be justified in interfering with finding only when finding is based on no evidence or is based on evidence which is inadmissible. ILR (1967) Guj 117.

19. Omission to frame or try issues of facts.—(1) An omission to frame proper issues or framing wrong issues is an error or defect in procedure, and if it would have possibly affected the decision on the merits, it would be a ground of second appeal. (5) The mere fact that the judgment does not deal with all the evidence or all the circumstances relied upon by the first Court or the fact that the discussion of the evidence is unsatisfactory, or that the judgment contains certain mis-statements or that the judgment is written in a few lines, or that the judgment omits to discuss each point separately and to record a finding merely stating that the Appellate Court agrees with the conclusions of the trial Court is not a ground of second appeal if it does not affect the decision on the merits. (6) The fact that the reasons for differing from the lower Court's judgment are not specifically stated in the judgment, is not in itself a ground of second appeal where the reasons are evident and it is otherwise clear that the evidence has been considered in arriving at the finding. [See AIR 1938 Sind 198 (200) (DB).]

(vi) The orders of subordinate Courts which are either subject to appeal or subject to revision by the High Court should contain a sufficient statement of the contention of the parties and the reasons in support of the conclusions of the Court; as it is part of the duty of Courts to assist superior Courts also in coming to conclusions on appeals or revisions directed against their orders. Hence where the order is such that on a reading of the order alone the revisional Court finds it impossible to hold one way or the other it must set the order aside as defective in material particulars. (2) Under Section 3 of the Evidence Act, "fact" means and includes—

(1) any thing, state of thing, or relation of things capable of being perceived by the senses;

(2) any mental condition of which any person is conscious.

A question whether any such fact exists or does not exist is a question of fact and a finding thereon is a finding of fact. (3) A finding which has to draw on a rule of law for the recording of it or for the ascertainment of its truth is a finding on a question of law; any other, a finding on a question of fact. AIR 1952 All 54 (64) (DB) * AIR 1960 All 395 (396).

Sections 100 and 101 — Note 22 (contd.)

(4) An inference of fact must be distinguished from an inference of law. Where from evidentiary facts and documents, an inference is drawn as to the existence or non-existence of another fact then the inference is one of fact and the question as to the inference, a question of fact. (Question whether trust deed was fictitious is a question of fact.)

(5) Where a finding is given on a question of fact based upon an inference from facts, that is not always a question of law. The proposition that an inference from facts is one of law will be correct in its application to mixed question of law and fact but not pure questions of fact. Inferences of fact may themselves be inferences of fact and not law and such inferences are not open to review. Inferences from facts would be a question of fact or of law according as the point for determination is one of pure fact or mixed question of law and fact. AIR 1957 SC 49 (59): 1956 SCR 691 ° AIR 1958 All 54 (61) (DB).

(6) When the finding is one of fact, the fact that it is itself an inference from other basic facts will not alter its character as one of fact. AIR 1957 SC 49 (65): 1956 SCR 69.

(7) When the question is whether certain facts give rise to a legal right or liability, the inference is one of law, and the question of such inference, a question of law. AIR 1953 SC 153 (153): 1953 SCR 934 ° AIR 1954 Orissa 40 (44) (DB) * 1953-2 Mad L Jour 241 (241) ° AIR 1952 Sau 86 (87) ° AIR 1951 Pat 641 (643) (DB) * AIR 1950 Nag 127 (129): ILR (1949) Nag 862 ° AIR 1949 Nag 300 (301): ILR (1949) Nag 224 (DB) * AIR 1947 Bom 49 (53): ILR (1946) Bom 984 ° AIR 1947 Mad 426 (428) ° AIR 1946 Nag 266 (270): ILR (1946) Nag 301 (DB) * AIR 1943 Pat 169 (176): 22 Pat 55 (DB) ° AIR 1942 Lah 42 (45) (DB) ° AIR 1940 Bom 263 (264): ILR (1940) Bom 505 * AIR 1918 PC 92 (93): 46 Cal 189: 45 Ind App 183 ° AIR 1927 PC 102 (104): 54 Ind App 178 ° AIR 1924 Cal 92 (95) (DB) ° (1903) 25 All 1 (17): 29 Ind App 203 (PC) * AIR 1928 Nag 87 (88): 23 Nag LR 192 ° ('97) 21 Bom 91 (94) (DB) * AIR 1931 Bom 371 (372, 376) (DB) ° AIR 1928 PC 243 (245): 55 Ind App 380 ° AIR 1959 Punj 117 (119): ILR (1959) Punj 626 (DB).

(8) The proper legal effect of a proved fact is essentially a question of law. Whenever an inference is drawn from certain conclusion on facts, that inference is a question of law in its essential nature. AIR 1958 Cal 273 (275) * AIR 1963 Bom 165 (169): 64 Bom LR 752 (DB). (The finding of legitimacy is a question of fact and merely because the determination of fact depends upon inferences to be drawn from finding of other facts, it does not become a question of law.)

(9) Even an inference of fact must be drawn in a legal manner, i.e., in a manner neither unreasonable nor illogical nor unwarranted by the facts from which it is drawn. If not so drawn, it is an error of law. The question, therefore, whether an inferenve of fact is reasonable or is warranted by facts is also a question of law. (10) When the point for determination is a mixed question of law and fact, while the finding on the facts found is final the decision of the Court as to the legal effect of those findings is a question of law which can be reviewed. (12) A question of adverse possession is a mixed question of law and fact. See Note 30.

(13) Whether the interpretation of a particular order is a question of fact, or a question of law, or a mixed question of fact and law depends on the circumstances of each particular case. The general rule is this. Where intention is to be inferred from the terms of a document, in this case the order, the question is one of law, or mixed of fact and law; where the intention is to be inferred from the other facts and circumstances tending to show what was the real intention of the Judge in passing that particular order, then the question may be either a question of pure fact or, again, may be a question of mixed fact and law. AIR 1941 Lah 62 (63) (DB).

(14) A mixed question of law and fact will be open to second appeal where the lower Appellate Court has committed an error on the matter of law involved in the mixed question of law and fact but not if it has committed an error only on the matter of fact so involved. (9) Misconstruction (or misinterpretation) of a document means that the Court has mistrued the legal effect or nature of a document. For example, if the document creates a lease but the Court wrongly thinks it as a license, or if it is an agreement of guarantee but the Court holds it to be one of indemnity this is a misconstruction of the document. But if a document contains allegations or recitals of facts and a party relies on these recitals in proof of his own allegation of facts, and the Court either rejects the recitals as incorrect or misunderstands their effects, this is not a misconstruction of the document but an erroneous view of the facts stated in the document. (6) Finding by lower appellate Court that on the evidence produced, defendants had acquired a prescriptive right to use water from a tank for irrigation purposes — Contention that finding was vitiated because there was no plea and no issue framed with regard to Easements Act — Held that on the evidence the provisions of the Easements Act were attracted to the case and if the lower appellate Court had adverted towards the same, it could not be said that there was any error of substantial nature so as to vitiate the finding — When once the provisions of an enactment are attracted, the Court is not absolved from its duty of following the clear provisions of law which are applicable to the case. SECTION 102 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Small Cause suits.
3. Effect of trying Small Cause suits as ordinary suits.
4. Suit includes execution proceedings.
5. Appeal from order of remand — See also O. 43, R. 1 (u).
6. Appeal from order of review — See also O. 43, R. 1 (w).

TOPIC INDICATOR

Appeal from order refusing to re-admit an appeal — See Note 1.
Effect of decision when question of title is raised. — See Note 2.
It is the character of the suit as originally framed that determines whether second appeal lies or not — See Note 2.
Pecuniary value of the suit is determined from plaint allegations — See Note 2.
Prayer for declaration does not alter the nature of the suit — See Note 15.
Return of plaint involving question of title — See Note 2.
Suit for recovery of excess amount of tax paid — See Note 2.
Suit for return of document — See Note 1.

1. Scope.—(1) Where a suit of a small cause nature is tried not by a Small Cause Court, but by a Court in its ordinary jurisdiction the decree or order is not open to a second appeal, when the value of the original suit does not exceed the value prescribed in Section 102. AIR 1941 Mad 665 (665) ° AIR 1935 Bom 254 (255).

(2) An order, passed by executing Court in execution of a decree in a suit of a small cause nature, is not open, to second appeal though it may be within section 47. AIR 1953 Sau 16 (17) (FB) * AIR 1921 All 55 (55): 43 All 403 (DB).

[See however AIR 1922 Lah 290 (291): 3 Lah 141 (DB).]

(3) This section does not apply to an order refusing to re-admit a first appeal dismissed for default as an appeal lies from such order under Order 43, Rule 1 (t). 1883 Pun Re No. 100 p. 311 (312) (DB).

(4) An objection as to bar under this section can be raised in Letters Patent appeal for the first time. AIR 1940 Cal 528 (528) (DB).

(5) Suit for mesne profits of immovable property is exempt from the jurisdiction of Small Cause Court — Second appeal lies from such suit. AIR 1967 Assam and Nagaland 53 (54) (DB).

(6) Mere breach of contract by Government or any of its officers does not amount to an act referred to in Art. 3 of Sch. II of Provincial Small Cause Courts Act 1887. Hence suit for recovery of balance of cost of paper supplied to the Election Department and utilised by it is not excepted from cognizance of the Court of Small Causes. (1966) 32 Cut LT 383: ILR (1966) Cut 102.

(7) Since a suit for return of document could not be entertained by a Court of Small Causes under the Hyderabad Small Cause Courts Act, the suit could not be held to be one of a Small Cause nature so far as the area to which the Hyderabad Act applies. Hence the appeal and also a second appeal would lie and High Court had jurisdiction to entertain the second appeal and deal with it in accordance with law. (1967) 1 Andh WR 370.

2. Small cause suits.—(1) The test for finding out whether a particular suit is a small cause suit within Section 102 is to see whether it is excepted under Sch. II to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. AIR 1945 Pat 417 (419): 24 Pat 307 (DB) ° AIR 1935 Rang 386 (386): 13 Rang 633 (FB) ° (1967) 33 Cut LT 1091: (1968) 2 Lab LJ 326 * (1960) 64 Cal WN 172.

(5) Where the lower Appellate Court has relied on inadmissible evidence as also other evidence in arriving at its finding, the High Court has, generally, no power to decide whether the evidence other than that which has been improperly admitted warrants the finding of the lower Court and the proper course for the High Court in such cases is to remand the case to the lower Court. AIR 1937 Cal 537 (540): ILR (1937) 2 Cal 661 (DB).

(6) Lower Appellate Court not applying its mind to points in controversy — Second Appellate Court is competent to decide question without remanding the case — Existence of power of remand does not mean order of remand must necessarily be made. ILR (1965) Guj 262 (275, 276): (1965) 6 Guj LR 342.

to the cases specified in Clauses (ff) to (i) and by sub-section (2) that right is further restricted to only one appeal. (1911) 33 All 479 (480) (DB).

[But see AIR 1923 All 356 (357): 45 All 535 (536) (DB). (Section 104 bars an appeal under Letters Patent if order is unappealable under S. 104.)]

(2) Although an order may fall under this section read with O. 43, R. 1, a Letters Patent appeal will not lie from such an order unless it amounts to a 'judgment' within the meaning of the Letters Patent. AIR 1953 All 647 (650) (DB) * AIR 1961 Punj 424 (425, 426): ILR (1960) 2 Punj 386. (Order setting aside abatement under O. 22, R. 9, Civil P. C. is not 'judgment' under Cl. 10.)

(3) Where in an appeal to the High Court from an order appealable under this section the High Court passes a judgment therein a further or second appeal will lie against that judgment on the ground that it is also a "judgment" within the meaning of the Letters Patent. (4) A special appeal under Chap. 8, R. 5 Allahabad Rules of Court (1952) from an order passed by a Single Judge under S. 104 (1) is not barred under S. 104 (2) as it is a special provision to the contrary. AIR 1962 All 543 (545): 1962 All LJ 729. (14 All 226 held not good law.)

(Note— AIR 1962 All 543 and AIR 1937 All 165 held to be impliedly overruled in view of AIR 1962 SC 256 in AIR 1964 All 235.)

(5) Although bar imposed by S. 104 does not operate to prevent the appeal being filed but the bar imposed by Ch 8. R. 5 of Allahabad Rules of Court namely that it cannot be filed without special leave of the Judge stands. If there are two bars on maintainability of appeal and only one is removed, the appeal is still not maintainable on account of the other. AIR 1964 All 235 (236): ILR (1963) 1 All 867 (DB).

5. Execution proceedings. — (1) Where an order in execution neither falls under S. 47 nor is specified in this section, then there will be no appeal at all. AIR 1953 SC 23 (27): 1953 SCR 136 ° AIR 1953 All 708 (709): ILR (1954) 2 All 94 (DB).

imposing terms for restoration after hearing petitioner — Order neither final nor appealable. (1968) 1 Andh LT 321.

(4) Order allowing application of decree-holder under O. 21, R. 66 for reduction of upset price in sale proclamation — Order does not fall under S. 47 — Order is not appealable. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 152 (153): (1965) 2 Andh WR 481.

(5) An order striking off execution case, though comes within S. 47, is neither a decree nor an appealable order. Such an order does not come within purview of S. 104. ILR (1965) Cut 823: 32 Cut LT 628.

6. Appeals to Supreme Court.— (1) This section does not govern appeals to the Supreme Court. See AIR 1924 PC 95 (100, 101): 51 Cal 361: 20 Nag LR 33: 51 Ind App 72 ° AIR 1934 Oudh 291 (292) (DB) ° (1913) 40 Cal 645 (647, 648): 40 Ind App 140 (PC).

7. Clause (ff). — (1) The fact that an order under S. 35A is appealable as an order in terms of this clause does not mean that such an order even where it forms part of a decree cannot be a decree within the meaning of S. 2 (2). AIR 1954 Nag 272 (274): ILR (1954) Nag 418 (DB).

8. Clause (g). — (1) Section 104 read with S. 95 shows that an order for compensation for obtaining an improper arrest or attachment is appealable. (1911) 11 Ind Cas 349 (349) (DB) (Mad).

(2) An "order under S. 95" will include an order either granting or refusing compensation and, in either case, will not be open to second appeal. AIR 1919 Mad 20 (20) (DB). (Order refusing compensation.) * AIR 1942 All 261 (262): ILR (1942) All 360. (Order allowing compensation.)

(3) Where an order under S. 95 is passed by a Court of Small Causes, no appeal will lie against the order. AIR 1919 Mad 23 (23) (DB). (Dissenting from the obiter dictum to the contrary expressed in AIR 1915 Mad 1072.) * AIR 1937 Nag 126 (127): ILR (1938) Nag 361.

(4) Section 104 contemplates appeals from one Court to another Court to which appeals are preferred from its orders. The Code does not contemplate appeal from order of Single Judge of a High Court to another Bench of High Court. Hence an order under S. 95 passed by a Single Judge of High Court is not appealable under S. 104. AIR 1958 All 105 (106) (DB).

9. Clause (h). — (1) This clause applies only to orders made under the provisions of the Code. (1880) 5 Cal 311 (313, 314) (DB). (Order imposing fine under the Stamp Act is not appealable.)

(2) A negative order of refusal is not appealable under this clause. Nor is an order for arrest or detention appealable under this clause if it is in execution of a decree. AIR 1943 Pesh 58 (58) ° AIR 1932 All 523 (524) (DB).

(3) An order for attachment for contempt is not within this clause. (1883) 7 Bom 5 (12) (DB).

(4) Order refusing arrest or attachment under O. 39, R. 2 is appealable under O. 43, R. 1 though not under S. 104. AIR 1917 Mad 448 (449, 450): 39 Mad 907 (914) (DB).

(5) A conditional order of arrest, though not appealable under O. 43, R. 1 is appealable under Section 104. AIR 1924 Rang 361 (361): 2 Rang 362 (DB).

(6) Even apart from O. 43, R. 1, a right of appeal from orders is provided for by S. 104 and this right has not been curtailed by O. 43 of the Code. Hence an order of detention of a person in civil prison for breach of an order of injunction passed under R. 2A of O. 39 as amended by the Allahabad High Court would therefore be appealable under S. 104 (1) (h) and that right would not be affected by any failure to make a consequential amendment in O. 43, R. 1 after the introduction of new R. 2-A in O. 39 by the High Court. AIR 1958 All 641 (642) (DB). (AIR 1958 All 639. Foll.: 1951 All WR (HC) 636 and Civil Revn. No. 838 of 1955, D/- 17-1-1958 (All), Overruled.) * AIR 1958 All 639 (640): ILR (1957) 2 All 240.

10. Clause (i). — See also Order 43, R. 1.

(1) An order vacating an interim injunction though appealable under O. 43, R. 1 (r) read with S. 104 to the Subordinate Court, is revisable by the High Court even though no appeal has been filed before the subordinate Court. AIR 1966 Mad 370 (371): (1966) 1 Mad LJ 451.

(2) Order refusing to set aside an ex parte decree is appealable under O. 43. AIR 1967 Bom 361 (365): 68 Bom LR 857.

(3) Order dismissing application for restoration of another application dismissed for default is not appealable but revision lies. AIR 1961 Manipur 35 (37). (AIR 1937 Oudh 344, Diss. from; AIR 1924 All 682 (2), Rel. on.)

11. Proviso to sub-section (1). — (1) The effect of proviso is that an appeal against an order under S. 35A lies only when the order is one awarding compensatory costs. When the order is one refusing to award compensatory costs, no appeal will lie. (1935) 162 Ind Cas 860 (860) (Nag).

12. Sub-section (2). — (1) An order passed on appeal under sub-sec. (1) is not open to any further appeal. AIR 1954 Nag 125 (126) ° 1958-1 Andh WR 369 (370) ° AIR 1954 Pepsu 49 (50): ILR (1953) Patiala 343 (DB) * AIR 1947 Nag 75 (75) (DB) ° AIR 1942 All 261 (262): ILR (1942) All 360 ° AIR 1942 Bom 82 (84): ILR (1941) Bom 629 (DB) ° AIR 1942 Oudh 370 (371) (DB).

(2) The sub-section is general and bars a second appeal against any order passed in an appeal under this section and not merely against an order deciding an appeal on the merits. AIR 1941 All 338 (339).

(4) An order rejecting a Civil Miscellaneous appeal as incompetent cannot be re-

105. Other orders.—(1) Save as otherwise expressly provided, no appeal shall lie from any order made by a Court in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction; but, where a decree is appealed from, any error, defect or irregularity in any order, affecting the decision of the case, may be set forth as a ground of objection in the memorandum of appeal.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where any party aggrieved by an order of remand made after the commencement of this Code from which an appeal lies does not appeal therefrom, he shall thereafter be precluded from disputing its correctness.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 105.— Though, the remarks of the Privy Council in Moheshur v. The Bengal Government (7 Moo Ind App 283) are wide enough to embrace an appeal from an order of remand the Committee think that those orders were probably not in their Lordships' contemplation when they condemned the view that a failure to appeal from an interlocutory order should deprive the person aggrieved of his right to object to such an order when subsequently appealing from the decree. And the Committee think there are good reasons on the score of delay and expense for treating an appeal from order of remand as a special case and precluding an appellant from taking, on an appeal from decree, any objection that might have been urged by way of appeal from an order of remand. The Committee have deleted the word 'such' to remove a difficulty it creates (10 Moo Ind App 340, 413; 12 Moo Ind App 157)". —S. O. R.

TOPIC INDICATOR

Appeal apparently against decree, but not really directed against interlocutory order — See Note 3.
Applicable and non-applicable orders — See Note 1.
Preliminary decree — See Section 97.
Save as expressly provided — See Note 2.
Section does not control O. 47, Rr. 7 and 9 — See Note 10.
This section and Section 36, Stamp Act — See Note 1.

1. Scope and object. — (1) Section 105 only makes a negative provision and is not meant to create a right of appeal from orders other than those mentioned in S. 104 (1); it merely provides a remedy. It cannot be said that in such cases the order is one from which an "appeal lies" so as to preclude a revision. AIR 1955 Pepsu 113 (114): ILR (1956) Patiala 41 (DB).

(2) In view of S. 105 no appeal lies from any order under C. P. C. which is not covered by S. 104 or O. 43, R. 1, C. P. C. AIR 1953 SC 23 (27): 1953 SCR 136. (An order under S. 151, Civil P. C. is not appealable.)

(3) Section 105 applies to appealable as well as to non-appealable orders. AIR 1943 Oudh 288 (290) (DB) * AIR 1958 Andh Pra 494 (496) (DB) ° AIR 1957 Raj 367 (371): ILR (1957) 7 Raj 460 ° ILR (1955) 1 Cal 299 (311). (5) An interlocutory order which is otherwise appealable can be appealed against after the decree in the suit has been passed. AIR 1951 Mad 883 (1)(883): ILR (1951)

[But see (1905) 32 Cal 1023 (1029) (DB) ° (1909) 36 Cal 762 (763) (DB).]

(6) Rejection of document — Order not final — S. 36 of Stamp Act does not override S. 105, Civil P. C. 1961 MPLJ 169 (171, 172).

(7) Where an order under O. 11, R. 21 was passed against the defendant and the defendant did not file an appeal against the order and did not comply with the order and eventually a decree against him was passed it was held that an appeal from the decree was competent and the defendant could raise in view of S. 105 the error or irregularity of the order made under O. 11, R. 21, C. P. C. AIR 1968 Punj 298 (299, 300): ILR (1967) 2 Punj 352.

(8) Section 105 allows an appealable order which has not been appealed from to be made a subject of appeal in an appeal from the decree. AIR 1952 Bom 80 (84): 53 Bom LR 793 (DB). (Case under Bombay Agricultural Debtors' Relief Act.) ° ILR (1963) 1 Ker 473. (Interlocutory order — Plaintiff acting in pursuance of it — Plaintiff not precluded from objecting to it in final appeal against the decree.) ° 1962 Mys LJ (Sup) 211 (DB).

(9) The language of S. 105 makes it clear that it is open to a party not to prefer an appeal against an order which is appealable under Civil Procedure Code and yet, to challenge its correctness in an appeal preferred against the final decree where that order has affected the decision of the case. By virtue of S. 108, Civil Procedure Code, provisions of S. 105 will apply to a case of an appeal against final order also. (1968) 2 Mad LJ 266: (1968) 81 Mad LW 387.

(10) By virtue of S. 108, C. P. C. the provisions of S. 105 will apply to a case of an appeal against final order also. (1968) 2 Mad LJ 266: (1968) 81 Mad LW 387. (Appeal from an order dismissing to set aside sale.)

2. Order must be one under the Code.— (1) The word "order" refers to orders passed under the Code. (1895) 17 All 438 (443) (DB).

(2) The words "save as otherwise expressly provided" contemplate appeals from orders of a character provided for elsewhere than in the Civil Procedure Code and include appeals allowed under other laws. AIR 1952 Bom 80 (84): ILR (1952) Bom 323 (DB) ° ILR (1956) 1 Cal 317 (322) * (1895) 17 All 438 (440) (DB).

(3) As section 43 of the Delhi Rent Control Act (59 of 1958) makes a provision contrary to the provision of S. 105, C. P. C. that section does not apply to appeals from orders passed under S. 38 of that Act. (1964) 66 Punj LR 586 (588).

3. "Where a decree is appealed from."— (1) An erroneous order of remand passed by an Appellate Court cannot be attacked in an appeal from a decree of the trial Court passed on such remand. (1909) 32 Mad 318 (320) (DB).

[But see AIR 1940 Mad 756 (757): ILR (1940) Mad 901 (DB).]

(2) A final decision by a Division Bench of High Court against an interlocutory order of lower Court passed in a revision cannot be agitated in an appeal against the decree in the same suit to another Division Bench of High Court. AIR 1951 Hyd 132 (134): ILR (1951) Hyd 798 (DB).

(3) An appeal will lie from a decree where the only ground of appeal is the defect, error or irregularity of an order made in the suit. (1890) 14 Bom 232 (235) (DB) ° (1881) 7 Cal 148 (149) (DB) ° (1910) 34 Mad 228 (230) (DB).

(4) What the section means is that the ground of objection is open to the aggrieved party when appealing from the decree and should be considered and disposed of in deciding the appeal if taken. AIR 1956 Pat 244 (251) (DB). (AIR 1923 Mad 147: 46 Mad 47 (DB), Foll.)

(5) The principle of this section would apply not only to decrees and interlocutory orders but also to orders and interlocutory orders which lead up to the final order. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 316 (316): ILR (1951) Trav-Co 369 (DB) ° AIR 1917 Mad 404 (405) ° AIR 1936 Mad 936 (937).

[But see (1936) 164 Ind Cas 730 (731) (DB) (All) ° AIR 1944 Pesh 33 (34).]

(6) Sub-s. (1) of S. 105 only postpones the challenge to an interlocutory order till an appeal is preferred from the final decree. But the challenge must be in an appeal from the final decree filed not in the Court making the interlocutory order attached but in appeal ultimately taken to the higher Court from the final decree. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 288 (294): 1964 MPLJ 502 (DB).

(8) Appellant has unconditional right to withdraw appeal and if he makes an application to the Court, it has to grant it. This right flows either from S. 107 (2) or O. 23, R. 1. AIR 1963 SC 1566 (1571): (1964) 2 SCR 538.

(9) It is true that Section 107 (2) gives the appellate Court the same powers and the same duties as nearly as may be as are conferred by C. P. C. on Court of original jurisdiction in respect of suits instituted in them. But when sub-section (1) and the matters mentioned therein are kept in view, the power of the appellate Court under sub-section (2) should be understood not as widely as it may prima facie appear to justify. Assuming that appellate Court has power of a Commissioner for inspection the power should be very sparingly used and only in the interest of justice. AIR 1969 Mad 144 (145): 81 Mad LW 374.

(10) Where the appeal from an order of the Subordinate Judge properly lay to the High Court but it was wrongly entertained by the District Judge and allowed by him the proper course to be followed in appeal to the High Court from the order of the District Judge is to direct the lower appellate Court to return the memorandum of appeal for presentation to the proper Court applying the provisions of O. 7, R. 10 read with Section 107, C. 9. Inherent powers. — (1) Every Court trying civil causes has inherent jurisdiction to take cognizance of questions cutting at the root of the subject-matter in controversy. (1912) 35 Mad 607 (612): 39 Ind App 218 (PC).

(2) An appellate Court has inherent power to add, as a party respondent, a person who was not a party to the suit. (1910) 6 Ind Cas 912 (918) (DB) (Cal).

(3) An appellate Court has inherent power to allow to figure as an appellant a person who was not a party to the suit. AIR 1918 Mad 409 (410, 411) (DB).

(4) Two suits disposed of by lower Court by common judgment — Appeal filed only in one such suit — Appellate Court cannot claim jurisdiction under inherent powers to pass order in connection with the other suit in which there is no appeal before it. AIR 1965 Manipur 24 (26). (Counter suits by A and B disposed of by one judgment — Appeal filed by A alone — No appeal filed by B as he had been prevented by the fact that the Court did not draw up a separate decree in his suit — Appellate Court allowing A to amend the plaint in his own suit and also his written statement in B's suit — Held, the order allowing the amendment of the written statement was without jurisdiction.)

(5) Records of Court lost in appeal — Appellate Court has inherent power to reconstruct the records. 1967 Cur LJ 781: ILR (1968) 1 Punj 314. (It remains duty of unsuccessful party to displace judgment appealed from and to lead secondary evidence with regard to matters on which he places reliance, since

10. (2) Though ordinarily, the discretion exercised by the trial Judge is not interfered with in appeal, that rule is not an absolute one and it has its exceptions. AIR 1960 Cal 582 (589): 64 Cal WN 861 (DB). (Where the order of the trial Judge was very brief and contained no discussion and no reason for variation and modification of the order of interim injunction granted previously:

(3) The Appellate Court cannot lay down any rules with a view to indicate the particular groove in which the discretion of the lower Court should run. AIR 1928 Pat 630 (633): 8 Pat 235 (DB).

(4) This power of interference should not be exercised lightly, or except for preventing gross mischief or miscarriage of justice, but, subject to that, the appellate court's power in this behalf is wide, ample and unrestricted and may and always should be exercised to relieve the aggrieved party. AIR 1960 Cal 47 (51): 63 Cal WN 717 (DB).

(5) A Court of appeal would not interfere with the exercise of discretion by Court below, if the discretion has been exercised in good faith after giving due weight to relevant matters and without being swayed by irrelevant matters. AIR 1964 All 534 (535): 1964 All LJ 353 (FB).

(2) Appraisal of evidence is a function not of revision Court but of appellate Court. (1965) 67 Punj LR 488: 1965 Cur LJ 256.

(3) Where the appreciation of oral testimony is concerned, the Appellate Court has to reconcile two conflicting view points namely, on the one hand, the undoubted duty of the Court of appeal to review the recorded evidence and to draw its own inferences and conclusions and on the other hand, the unquestionable weight which must be attached to the opinion of the Judge of the primary Court who had the advantage of seeing the witnesses and noticing their look and manner. (3A) When there is an irreconcilable difference between the evidence of the parties and the trial Court has accepted the evidence of the plaintiff and rejected that of the defendants in so far as it was in conflict with the evidence of the plaintiff a Court of review should be slow to differ from the opinion of the trial Judge as to credibility, in respect that he has seen and heard the witnesses and should not differ without convincing reasons. 1961 MPLJ 992: ILR (1960) MP 117. (5) When there is conflict of oral evidence of the parties on any matter in issue and the decision hinges upon the credibility of witnesses then unless there is some special feature about the evidence of a particular witness which has escaped the trial Judge's notice or there is a sufficient balance of improbability to displace his opinion as to where the credibility lies, the appellate Court should not interfere with the finding of the Trial Judge on a question of fact. AIR 1959 All 264 (274) : 1958 All LJ 780 (DB) * AIR 1964 Madh Pra 137 (144) : 1963 MPLJ 498 (DB) * AIR 1961 Orissa 22 (26) : ILR (1960) Cut 512 (DB) * AIR 1961 Punj 288 (290): ILR (1961) 1 Punj 751 (DB). (No nicely-balanced calculation can ordinarily justify reversal at the decision of the Court on facts.)

(6) The duty of the appellate Court is to see whether the evidence taken as a whole can reasonably justify the conclusion arrived at or whether there is an element of improbability arising from proved circumstances which in the opinion of the Court outweighs such finding. (7) The rule that on a question of fact the conclusion of the trial Judge will not be interfered with should not be treated as having a too general application. AIR 1949 PC 207 (222) : 76 Ind App 17 : ILR (1949) All 531 * AIR 1952 Punj 120 (122) * AIR 1915 Cal 225 (231) (DB) * AIR 1922 Cal 260 (267) : 49 Cal 132 (DB) * AIR 1936 All 537 (544) (DB) * AIR 1936 Rang 399 (400) (DB) * AIR 1963 All 194 (198) * AIR 1962 Punj 180 (182, 183). (i) Where the finding is opposed to experience of life and course of business. AIR 1915 PC 50 (51).

(j) Where the case is one of conflicting evidence and the conduct of parties, effect of documents or the weight of probabilities reduce the value of the opinion of the Judge. AIR 1923 Mad 103 (104) (DB) * AIR 1918 PC 10 (11) : 21 Oudh Cas 104 * (1909) 31 All 116 (127, 135) : 36 Ind App 9 (PC) * AIR 1969 SC 395 (399): (1969) 1 SCJ 786 * (1968) 81 Mad LW 618. (9) In appreciating evidence generally, discrepancies on material points should not be disregarded. AIR 1914 PC 38 (40) : 36 All 187 (194).

(10) The failure of the Appellate Court to tackle the crucial question between the parties and consider the evidence in the case amounts to a substantial error of procedure. AIR 1920 Pat 359 (362).

(11) Appreciation of evidence— Powers and duties of appellate Court — Court comparing evidence of both parties and coming to its own conclusion — Failure to write elaborate judgment is no error in procedure — No interference in second appeal. AIR 1963 Assam 184 (185, 186): ILR (1963) 15 Assam 325.

(12) While considering the evidence of both parties it is not incumbent upon the appellate Court to consider each and every circumstance separately which has been considered by the trial Judge. If the appellate Court has applied its mind to the evidence properly and has given reasons which are cogent and which can be sustained on the evidence, the judgment of the appellate Court cannot be assailed simply because some of the reasons given by the trial Judge either have not been considered or have escaped the notice of the appellate Court, especially when, even if those reasons stood, there will be no difference in the decision. AIR 1957 Pat 64 (64).

13. Powers regarding court-fee. — (1) An Appellate Court cannot deal with the appeal until the court-fee payable on the memorandum of appeal is paid. AIR 1954 Ajmer 15 (15) * AIR 1954 Bom 43 (45) : ILR (1953) Bom 1176 (DB) * (1912) 16 Ind Cas 46 (47) (DB) (Cal).

(2) An Appellate Court cannot in the generality of cases, award an amount in excess of that in respect of which the appeal is brought and court-fee paid. (1903) 30 Cal 516 (519, 526) * (1911) 11 Ind Cas 198 (200) (DB) (Lah).

(3) In view of Section 107, the appellate Court has the duty to see whether the appeal memorandum is properly valued and duly stamped and in case the court-fee paid is insufficient it should fix a reasonable time for payment of the deficit. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 5 (6) : ILR (1951) Trav-Co 275 (DB) * AIR 1957 Pat 111 (112).

(4) Section 149 C. P. C. read with Section 107 gives discretion to the Court to permit making up the deficit in the court-fees on the memorandum. But the discretion has to be exercised judicially. AIR 1968 Bom 309 (310) : 70 Bom LR 50. (Negligence of the party his counsel or his clerk — No good reason for exercise of discretion in his favour.)

14. Power to direct stay of proceedings grant interim injunctions and pass interlocutory orders. — (1) An Appellate Court having seisin of an appeal has power to pass all such interlocutory orders as are necessary in the interest of justice, such as an order granting an interim injunction. (1904) 14 Mad L Jour 471 (473, 474) (FB).

(2) An Appellate Court has power of appointing a temporary guardian in a pending appeal from an order of appointment under the Guardians and Wards Act. (1906) 3 Cal L Jour 29 (36) (DB).

(3) An Appellate Court has the power to stay further proceedings or proceedings in execution. (1907) 34 Cal 1037 (1049) (FB) * AIR 1956 Raj 49 (50) : ILR (1955) 5 Raj 175.

(4) Under Section 62 of the Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act, 19 of 1951, the original Court has no power to stay the Commissioner's order during the pendency of the suit. The prohibition will continue till the disposal of the appeal. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 156 (157).

(5) An injunction is a discretionary relief and ordinarily a Court of Appeal will be slow to interfere with the exercise of discretion by a trial Court, but this principle will not hold good if it be found that the trial Court has 'clearly acted on some wrong principle, committed some error of law or failed to consider matters which demanded consideration'. 16. Duties of the appellate Court.— (1) Before an Appellate Court reverses the finding of the lower Court it should apply its mind to a consideration of the whole of the evidence in the case. AIR 1942 Cal 498 (504) (SB) * AIR 1917 Mad 689 (690) (DB) * 1967 Ker LT 773. (Appellate Court must refer to the reasoning of trial Court on findings of facts for reversing them.)

(2)Where the appellate Court differs from the conclusions of the trial Court it can enter its own findings and reverse the decree. It has to go into the evidence on record to see if it justfied the conclusions of the trial Court. If the conclusion was right, even if the reasoning given therefor was not satisfactory, the appellate Judge ought to accept the decision giving its own reasons therefor. A total refusal, however, to advert to the evidence on record by the Court of first appeal is an abdication of its function and duty. 1963 Ker LT 362 : 1963 Ker LJ 338.

(3) The Appellate Court should bring on the record all the necessary parties, to the appeal. AIR 1916 Mad 828 (829) (DB).

(3A) It is the duty of the Appellate Court to apply correct principles of law. AIR 1916 Pat 363 (363, 364) (DB) * AIR 1915 Cal 618 (619) : 42 Cal 451 (454) (DB) * AIR 1968 Mad 311 (315) : (1968) 1 Mad LJ 174 (DB).

(4) The Appellate Court should give clear findings of fact. AIR 1919 Cal 360 (360) (DB).

(5) The directions given by the Appellate Court should be free from doubt. (1907) 31 Mad 28 (32) (DB).

(6) The appellate Court should rectify the errors of the lower Court. AIR 1946 Nag 336 (340): ILR (1946) Nag 334 * AIR 1926 Pat 159 (160).

(7) It is the duty of the Appellate Court to decide an appeal according to law, giving findings on all the issues decided by the lower Court against the appellant, however, small the subject-matter of the appeal may be. AIR 1917 Lah 210 (210).

(8) Where the appellant waives his objection to the findings against him, the Appellate Court should accept those findings. AIR 1916 PC 14 (15, 16): 38 All 440: 43 Ind App 179.

(9) An Appellate Court is not entitled to call for a private report from the trial Court for its own information. The Appellate Court can only act in the manner provided by the Code. AIR 1940 Pat 54 (54, 55): 18 Pat 649 (DB).

(10) The first and foremost principle of modern appellate procedure is that in the absence of an error on the face of the record the Appellate Court should proceed on the assumption that the lower Court has acted wholly within law. Secondly, an Appellate Court should be slow to interfere with an order of the trial Court when the error complained of has not resulted in a miscarriage of justice. Minor and technical errors of procedure should be disregarded particularly when a judgment is right on the law and facts and the error does not affect the substantial rights of the parties. Thirdly, a decision right in result should not be set aside on the ground only that the reasons which form the basis of the decision are not correct. AIR 1957 Punj 312 (314): ILR (1957) Punj 1454 (DB).

(11) It is not only the law but the duty of every Court, including the Appellate Court, to see that its procedure, if it is found defective does not harm a litigant. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 257 (259) (DB) * (1964) 2 Andh LT 421 (DB). (Filing of additional written statement by way of amendment.)

(12) Lower Appellate Court not bound to give a list of documents considered by it — Overall impression that findings of lower Court are based on a consideration of evidence, documentary as well as oral in the case, is enough. AIR 1967 All 278 (279).

(13) When appellate Court agrees with trial Court's view of evidence, it need not restate effect of evidence or reiterate reasons given by trial Court — Expression of general agreement is generally enough. AIR 1967 SC 1124 (1129) : (1967) 1 SCR 93 * AIR 1967 Pat 157 (160) : 1966 BLJR 386* AIR 1966 All 367 (369) : 1965 All LJ 549.

(14) Appeal against an order of the District Judge — High Court holding the appeal not tenable. It is unnecessary for the High Court to make observation about the merits of the order of the District Judge. AIR 1968 Madh Pra 196 (197): 1968 MPLJ 356 (DB).

(15) When an appeal from ex parte order fails on merit the appellate Court cannot direct the lower Court to allow the party to proceed under O. 9, R. 13 because after the appeal fails there remains nothing in that order to be set aside by the primary forum whose order it was. (1967) 71 Cal WN 262 (268).

(16) Court will not pass an order which would lead to the anomalous result of requiring the party to go to the same Court for the same relief which he has already got. Courts are meant to do substantial justice and not to put complications in

108. Procedure in appeals from appellate decrees and orders.—The provisions of this Part relating to appeals from original decrees shall, so far as may be, apply to appeals—

(a) from appellate decrees, and

(b) from orders made under this Code or under any special or local law in which a different procedure is not provided.

(5) By Section 29 of the West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act of 1956 all final orders of the Rent Controller have been made appealable to specified authorities and Section 29 (3) provides that such appeals will be dealt with according to the procedure applicable to apeals from orders under C. [1882, 1877, S. 595; See O. 45 and Cl. 39 of the Letters Patent.]

[b] Substituted for "His Majesty in Council," ibid.

[c] Substituted by S. 3 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1951 (2 of 1951), for "the States" which words were substituted by A. L. O., 1950 for "the Provinces."

[d] Substituted for "decree or final order" by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

[e] Substituted for "decree or order" by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1956 (66 of 1956), S. 11 [1-1-1957].

(1) It should terminate the proceedings in the High Court.

(2) It should determine the rights and liabilities of the parties on merits and should be final and conclusive so as to cover the entire range of substantive rights and liabilities of the parties. AIR 1961 All 245 (260): 1960 All LJ 897 (FB).

(9) 'Judgment' meaning of — Adjudication should put an end to a suit or proceeding so far as the Court before which it is pending — High Court reversing decision of lower Court and remanding case for fresh disposal — Proceeding in High Court terminated so far as that Court is concerned — Order passed is judgment within the ambit of Letters Patent (Madras), Clause 15. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 9 (11) (DB).

(4) The finality, must be a finality in relation to the suit. If after the order the suit is still a live suit in which the rights of the parties have still to be determined no appeal lies against it under Section 109 (a). The fact that the order decides a matter and even a vital issue is by itself not material unless the decision puts an end to the suit. (5) The decision of a cardinal point may in many cases finally dispose of the rights of the parties in the suit; but the test to find out whether an order is a final one is not whether the point decided thereby is a cardinal one, but whether the rights of the parties in the suit are finally disposed of by it. 5. Valuation of subject-matter in dispute on appeal. — (1) The amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute on appeal to the Supreme Court must be Rs. 20,000 or upwards. (2) The true test as regards the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute on appeal is, what is really at stake in the appeal itself. (2) Where there is such affirmance of a decree of the Court below, a reversal or variation merely on a matter which is not the subject-matter of the suit will not take the appellate decree out of the class of decrees of affirmance. AIR 1955 All 680 (682, 683) (DB) * AIR 1944 Mad 269 (271): ILR (1944) Mad 890 (DB).

(3) A variation of the lower Court's decree in the matter of costs or grant or extension of time for payment of the amount decreed or the correction of an error in the lower Court's decree due to oversight does not prevent the appellate decree from being a decree of affirmance. AIR 1953 SC 521 (523): 1954 SCR 506: ILR (1954) 1 All 168 * AIR 1956 Madh B 145 (150): ILR (1956) Madh B 192 (DB) * AIR 1943 All 358 (360): ILR (1943) All 840 (DB) * AIR 1928 Pat 190 (191) (DB) * AIR 1927 Pat 379 (381) (DB) * AIR 1956 Hyd 145 (145): ILR (1956) Hyd 377 (DB) * AIR 1961 SC 1795 (1804): (1962) 2 SCR 452. (Variation as to costs.)

(3-A) Unlike the order of costs which is entirely in the discretion of the Court, an order as to interest under Section 34, forms part of the dispute between the parties, and if a variation is made in regard to it, it is an integral part of the decision or the decree and would affect the character of the appellate decree. AIR 1961 SC 1795 (1804): (1962) 2 SCR 452.

(3-B) Any variance with reference to extraneous matters or on matter consequential on the final order therein will not be sufficient to take the case out of the class of orders of affirmance. AIR 1965 Mad 478 (479, 480): 77 Mad LW 439. (The directions as to the disposal of the matter by the Appellate Tribunal on the quashing are extraneous to the subject-matter of the writ proceedings and relate to the consequences of the quashing.)

(3-C) In determining whether the appellate decree passed by the High Court is one of affirmance, the appellate decree must be considered as a whole in relation to the decision of the trial Court similarly considered as a whole. That is the proper approach in applying the test of affirmance. If there is a variation made in the appellate decree it is not a decree of affirmance and this is not affected either by the extent of the variation made or by the fact that the variation is made in favour of the intending appellant and not against him. AIR 1961 SC 1795 (1797, 1801): (1962) 2 SCR 452 * AIR 1962 Mad 490 (492): 75 Mad LW 480 (DB).

The lower Court passes a decree in favour of the plaintiff for Rs. 8000 disallowing his claim for the balance, viz., Rs. 12,000. The High Court on appeal varies the decree by enhancing the amount decreed to Rs. 9000. The plaintiff wants to appeal to the Privy Council on the ground that he is entitled to the balance of the amount also viz., Rs. 11,000. The High Court's decree cannot be said to be one of affirmance of the lower Court's decree. AIR 1925 PC 60 (60): 51 Ind App 319: 51 Cal 969 * AIR 1941 All 66 (68): ILR (1941) All 180 (FB) * AIR 1956 Hyd 145 (145): ILR (1956) Hyd 377 (DB) * AIR 1932 Nag 118 (120): 28 Nag LR 142 (DB) * AIR 1961 SC 1795 (1797, 1798, 1802): (1962) 2 SCR 452. (8 Cal WN 294, Overruled.)

(7) Where the appellate Court makes a variation in the decision of the trial Court either because a concession has been made in that behalf or the variation has been obtained by parties by consent or a part of the subject-matter covered by the decree has been withdrawn, such variation does not affect the character of the appellate decree. Variation or affirmance by the appeal Court should be an act of adjudication. AIR 1961 SC 1795 (1804): (1962) 2 SCR 452.

(8) The expression of a different view in appeal as to consequences flowing from particular adjudication on merits between parties in writ petitions cannot make decision in appeal one of variance with that of first Court as required under Article 133 (1) (c). Thus where the High Court quashes the orders of the Tribunal in a writ appeal and there is a reference in the judgment that all the appeals before the Tribunal will get revived, such reference will not make the decision in the writ appeal one of variance on the ground that even the appeals from which no writ appeals were filed would get revived. AIR 1965 Mad 478 (479, 480): 77 Mad LW 439 (DB).

9-A. Doctrine of merger.. — (1) Where there are two orders, one by the inferior authority and the other by a superior authority, passed in an appeal or revision the question whether there is a fusion or merger of the two orders by the application of the doctrine of merger depends on the nature of the appellate or revisional order in each case and the scope of the statutory provisions conferring the appellate or revisional jurisdiction. AIR 1967 SC 681 (683): (1967) 1 SCR 732.

10. "Involve". — (1) Where there are concurrent findings of fact and no question of law would arise unless the findings of fact are also re-opened, no question of law can be said to be involved in the appeal. (1901) 23 All 94 (98) (DB) * (1894) 16 All 274 (275, 276) (PC) * (1891) 18 Cal 23 (30): 17 Ind App 122 (PC).

(2) The mere circumstance that a question of law is raised in a case would not justify the inference that the proposed appeal involves a substantial question of law unless it is necessary to decide the question of law for a proper decision of the case. AIR 1950 Madh B 81 (82) (DB) * AIR 1949 All 632 (634): 50 Cri L Jour 958.

(3) The mere fact that a question of law seems to arise in the appeal is not sufficient for granting leave under the section. It must definitely and clearly arise. AIR 1943 Mad 67 (69) (DB) * (1902) 25 Mad 215 (219, 220): 23 Ind App 38 (PC).

11. Substantial question of law. — (1) It is not enough if a mere question of law is involved. It must be a substantial one. AIR 1951 Punj 313 (315): ILR (1950) Punj 377 (DB) * AIR 1957 All 28 (36) (DB) * AIR 1949 Bom 134 (135) (DB) * AIR 1923 Mad 30 (31) (DB).

(2) Proper test for determining whether a question of law is substantial would be whether it is of general public importance or whether it directly and substantially affects the rights of the parties. If the question is settled by the highest Court or the general principles to be applied in determining the question are well settled and there is mere question of applying those principles or that the plea raised is palpably absurd, the question would not be a substantial question of law. Thus a construction of document of title or of document which is the foundation of rights of parties necessarily raises a question of law. AIR 1962 SC 1314 (1318): (1962) Supp 3 SCR 549.

(3) The function of the Privy Council being one to declare the law and not to alter it, a question of law which has been definitely settled by the Privy Council, the Supreme Court or the High Courts or on which there is or may be no difference of opinion is not substantial question of law. AIR 1917 PC 71 (76): 40 Mad 793: 44 Ind App 261 * AIR 1951 Mad 969 (973): ILR (1952) Mad 264 (FB) * AIR 1956 Madh B 145 (149): ILR (1956) Madh B 192 (DB) * AIR 1952 Madh B 149 (151) (FB) * AIR 1956 Pat 526 (527) (DB).

(4) Although a point has not been directly decided by Courts, if the principles clearly applicable to the case are well established, the question is not a substantial question of law, and the difficulty in the application of such principles to the case cannot render it substantial. AIR 1951 Mad 969 (973): ILR (1952) Mad 264 (FB) * AIR 1956 Him Pra 65 (68) * AIR 1952 Punj 191 (193) (DB) * AIR 1949 Bom 134 (135) (DB) * AIR 1948 Mad 111 (113) (DB) * AIR 1964 Him Pra 17 (19).

(5) The words 'substantial question of law' mean a substantial question of law as between the parties in the case involved, and not merely a question of general importance. AIR 1953 SC 521 (523): 1954 SCR 506: ILR (1954) 1 All 168 * AIR 1951 Mad 969 (972): ILR (1952) Mad 264 (FB) * AIR 1927 PC 110 (110): 2 Luck 93: 54 Ind App 126 * AIR 1928 PC 172 (173): 55 Cal 944: 55 Ind App 235.

(6) The mere appreciation of the effect of documentary evidence or the meaning of entries and terms in a document do not raise substantial questions of law. (8) A question whether a testamentary disposition by a Hindu in favour of female heir confers on her only a limited estate in the absence of evidence that he intended to confer on her an absolute interest in the property is a substantial question of law. AIR 1954 SC 355 (357): 1955 SCR 51.

(9) Questions relating to ordinary items of accounting in the taking of accounts between a principal and agent do not form proper subject-matter for an appeal to His Majesty in Council. AIR 1945 PC 35 (36, (38): ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 174.

(10) Question as to the inclusion or exclusion of the ordinary items of accounting in the taking of a partnership account do not involve any question of principle and are not proper subject-matter for an appeal to His Majesty in Council. (12) When the entirety of the claims of one party against the other was actually referred to the arbitrators the question whether the items of claim which were included later for consideration by the arbitrators fell within the scope of this entirety was more or less a question of fact. There was no substantial question of law involved. AIR 1968 Cal 391 (394) (DB).

(13) Whether a contract is in the nature of a wagering contract depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case and is largely a question of fact. 12. "Court immediately below". — (1) The test for determining the right to appeal to Supreme Court is not whether the judgment appealed from is of a Court subordinate but whether the judgment is of a Court immediately below. AIR 1963 SC 1279 (1287): (1964) 1 SCR 270.

(2) A single Judge of the High Court hearing either a proceeding as a Court of original jurisdiction or in exercise of appellate jurisdiction is a Court immediately below the Division Bench of the same High Court which hears an appeal against his judgment under Letters Patent. Appeal with certificate under Article 133 (1) (a) and (b) is therefore competent. (Difference in meaning of expressions "Court immediately below" and "subordinate Court" explained.). 13. "Judgment, decree or final order".—(1) Order of remand passed by the High Court where the principles finally determining the substantive rights of the parties are laid down is final within the meaning of Section 110. (2) Though an appeal under S. 116-A. Representation of the People Act (1951) is an appeal as of right and is open both on facts and law, still the practice of the Court has uniformly been to give the greatest assurance to the assessment of evidence made by the judge who hears the witnesses and watches their demeanour and judges of their credibility in the first instance. AIR 1969 SC 395 (399): (1969) 1 SCJ 786. (Ground of credibility of witnesses — Appellate Court is at a disadvantage.)

(5) The question whether from the Wajib-ul-arz entries an inference of surrender or relinquishment of a sovereign right by Government can be properly drawn is not a pure question of fact and therefore, the Supreme Court can examine the entries and consider their true scope and legal effect. AIR 1957 SC 286 (293): 1956 SCR 889: ILR (1957) Punj 819.

(6) Where the value of the claim in the trial Court as well as before the Supreme Court is more than Rs. 20,000 and the judgment of the High Court under appeal has reversed the decree of the trial judge, the appellants are entitled to agitate both questions of fact and of law in the Supreme Court. (9) Where the contentions, though not specifically urged in the High Court or in the statement of case filed by the appellant in the Supreme Court, will still be allowed by the Supreme Court to be argued, if they are necessarily involved in the question which is the subject-matter of the appeal. AIR 1959 SC 135 (142): 1959 SCR 1350.

(10) Where the determination of the question raised required evidence in regard to the same, it would not be legtimate to allow those questions to be agitated for the first time in the Supreme Court. AIR 1958 SC 239 (245): 1958 SCR 1067.

(11) Disputed questions are decided on basis of affidavits and it is within discretion of High Court whether to allow a person who has sworn affidavit before it to be cross-examined or not — Exercise of discretion by High Court would not be lightly interfered with while hearing appeal by Special Leave. AIR 1967 SC 295 (300, 301): 1966 Supp SCR 311.

(12) Where the respondent's attitude was not bona fide and the main pleas taken by him were rejected by the Courts and the ground on which he succeeded was taken for the first time in appeal, the Supreme Court ordered the parties to bear their own costs throughout. (13) Where the employer failed to make out a claim for deduction of one of the items constituting a prior charge substantially as a result of the previous awards passed in its favour, the Supreme Court remanded the case to allow the employer an opportunity to make out a specific claim in respect of that item and lead evidence in support of the said claim. AIR 1958 SC 928 (933).

(14) New point raised before Supreme Court — Question raised one of construction of surety bond — All facts on which the appellant seeks to rely upon to be found only in the order sheet and there cannot be any facts outside the record — Remand in such a case would serve no useful purpose — Further, where the respondent also had not contended before the lower Court that he had sources other than the order sheet to prove his case he would not be prejudiced by allowing the appellant to raise the question for the first time in the Supreme Court. AIR 1964 SC 859 (862): (1964) 2 SCR 152.

(15) Delay in making application for preparation of list under Rule 394 of Rajasthan High Court Rules — High Court can condone delay in proper cases under Order 12, Rule 3 of Supreme Court Rules — Order 12, Rule 3 even overrides provisions of Civil P. C. by virtue of Section 112 of the Code. ILR (1961) 11 Raj 30.

(16) The High Court has a discretion in a proper case to extend the time even beyond the limit provided by Order 45, R. 7, because of the provisions of Order 12, R. 3 of the Supreme Court Rules, read with Section 112 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

1-A. Scope.— (1) A reference under Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act (1894) cannot be equated with a reference under Section 113 of Civil P. C., because the latter has to be made by the Courts below under certain specified circumstances enumerated in that section. ILR (1963) 2 Punj 442 (DB).

(2) The opinion of the Court cannot be sought under this proviso about the validity of a notification issued under the provisions of an Act or its continued existence. AIR 1954 Raj 233 (234): ILR (1954) 4 Raj 1 (DB).

(3) A reference cannot be made under the proviso upon the validity of a custom. AIR 1952 Raj 10 (11): ILR (1951) 1 Raj 308 (DB).

(4) The absence of the reference and not the form in which the lower Court frames the question must be considered in order to see whether the reference relates to the validity of an Act. Ordinance or Regulation or to a notification. AIR 1954 Raj 233 (234): ILR (1954) 4 Raj 1 (DB).

(5) The proviso requires that the Court should also express its opinion on the question whether the Act is valid or invalid. If the Court does not express any opinion on the point, the reference would not be regarded as properly made. AIR 1953 Hyd 52 (53): ILR (1952) Hyd 1039 (FB) * AIR 1958 Mad 412 (413).

(6) An opinion is to be sought when the Court itself feels some doubts about the question and not when the Court has formed an opinion and acted upon it and that opinion is disagreed with by another Court. AIR 1959 All 659 (659): 1959 All LJ 592 (DB).

(7) The fact that the decree in the suit is subject to appeal and hence a reference will not lie under Order 46, Rule 1 will not bar a reference in a case which is strictly covered by this proviso. AIR 1954 Him Pra 23 (24) * AIR 1954 Raj 233 (234): ILR (1954) 4 Raj 1 (DB).

(8) Where the specific remedy under this section or Article 228 of the Constitution is open to a party, the High Court should not interfere under its extra-ordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. ILR (1953) 3 Raj 1025 (1027) (DB).

(9) The question contemplated by the proviso to Section 113 is as to the validity of an Act or a provision in it while Article 228 of the Constitution has in view a question as to the interpretation of the Constitution. A question may, however, come within the proviso as also Article 228, as where the validity of a provision in an Act is challenged on the ground that it contravenes an article of the Constitution. (10) The object of the proviso seems to be that the Acts of legislature should be interpreted by the highest Tribunal in the State. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 567 (568): 1957 Cri L Jour 1066.

(2) Where a case is stated and a question is referred by subordinate Tribunal to the High Court for decision and a new aspect of law touching that question has arisen subsequent to such reference. The High Court is justified in answering that question with reference to the new aspect of law provided it will not require the investigation of and finding on any facts out-

SECTION 114 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. "May apply to the Court which passed the decree etc."

3. Powers of the Court of review.

TOPIC INDICATOR

Decree in Letters Patent Appeal. See Note 1.

Order in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. See Note 1.

Recall of manifestly erroneous or invalid order. See Note 1.

Restoration proceedings and review. See Note 1.

Review of award under Land Acquisition Act. See Note 1.

1. Scope.— (1) Section 114 applies to decrees in appeals under the Letters Patent. AIR 1927 Bom 232 (233) * 1957 MPLJ 811 (814) (DB) * AIR 1953 Punj 106 (107): ILR (1953) Punj 379 (DB) * AIR 1917 Mad 670 (670): 40 Mad 651 (DB).

[But see (1904) 1 All L Jour 509 (511) * AIR 1931 All 242 (249): 53 All 535 (FB).]

(2) A review lies against an order refusing an application for leave to sue as a pauper. AIR 1956 Hyd 41 (42): ILR (1956) Hyd 143 (DB).

(3) The company law does not affect the power of review which is otherwise vested in a Court. AIR 1937 Lah 82 (83).

(4) Where an application for review of a preliminary decree was not disposed of on merits, it was held that a fresh application for review could be maintained. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 981 (987) (DB).

(5) The High Court does possess the power to recall and correct an invalid or manifestly erroneous order passed by it in the exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 226 in respect of the enforcement or vindication of civil rights. This power is derived not from Section 114 and Order 47 but from Section 151 of the Code. The aggrieved party is entitled to choose between coming to the original Court under Section 151, or going up in appeal, and its right to adopt the course it chooses cannot be abridged. AIR 1960 All 152 (153, 154): 1959 All LJ 798.

(6) The words 'appeal allowed by this Code' in Section 114, C. P. Code do not refer to the appeal the judgment in which is sought to be reviewed. The requirement of Clauses (a) and (b) of Section 114 is that that prospective appeal is one which is allowed by the Code (but not preferred), or one which is not allowed by the Code. What is really to be seen for the application of Section 114 is whether the decree or order which followed the judgment was or was not appealable under the Code. If it was, the additional condition required to be fulfilled was that no appeal should actually have been preferred. AIR 1961 All 381 (383, 385): 1961 All LJ 172 (FB).

[See also 1967 Cur LJ 234 (240): 1967 Pun LJ 140. (Case under Punjab Tenancy Act Section 82.)]

(7) In considering the question whether or not review lies under Section 114 a reference to the jurisdiction in exercise of which the judgment sought to be reviewed is made is not relevant. That jurisdiction may or may not have been derived from the Code. AIR 1961 All 381 (383, 385): 1961 All LJ 172 (FB).

(8) Though the power to review is given to every Court under Section 114 and Section 47, C. P. C., this is not any special power. The power is exercised by the Court where it has jurisdiction whether an original or appellate (including second appellate jurisdiction) to deal with the matter. AIR 1968 Raj 179 (181): 1968 Raj LW 190 (DB) * AIR 1961 All 381 (383, 386): 1961 All LJ 172 (FB). (Where, therefore, no appeal has been preferred, a decision given by the High Court in a special appeal is open to review.)

(9) Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act (31 of 1958), (as amended by Act 2 of 1961), Section 22 (2) (a) — Application under — Court could review its decision under Section 114, C. P. C. (1963) 1 Ker LR 44 (46).

(10) Review is a remedy to be sought for and applied under special circumstances. The jurisdiction or power to review cannot be assumed or imported in the absence of any specific provision therefor or of even indication of the conditions for the exercise of it. AIR 1953 Mys 156 (159): 32 Mys LJ 12 (FB) * AIR 1966 All 26 (32): ILR

(1965) 1 All 739 (DB). (Power of review must be specifically granted by statute.) * (1962-63) 23 FJR 453 (455) (Punj). (Employees' Insurance Court has no power of review.)

[See also 1967 Cur LJ 151 (155) (Punj). (Deputy commissioner held not to have power to review as it was not conferred on him by any provision of Punjab Gram-panchayat Act.)]

[See however 1966 Ker LT 290 (291): 1966 Ker LJ 454. (Original order passed by the Director of Public Instruction in violation of natural justice — Director of Public Instruction had no power to hear appeal from his order — If these contentions are correct a review application may be maintainable.)]

(11) Order refusing leave to file Letters Patent Appeal — Review lies. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 18 (20): (1962) 2 Andh WR 328.

(12) In a proper case an application for review would lie from an order passed in proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. The procedure will be such as is laid down in C. P. C. or the Rules framed by the High Court. AIR 1962 Cal 346 (348) * AIR 1960 Mad 177 (178, 179): 73 Mad LW 16. (Review granted as necessitated by special circumstances due to change in law in exercise of inherent powers — It was not strictly speaking a review within Order 47, Rule 1.)

(13) When a Court exercise its powers of review under Section 114 and Section 47 it acts in the exercise of the same jurisdiction in which it has passed its previous order or judgment under review. AIR 1968 Raj 179 (181): 1968 Raj LW 190 (DB).

(14) The fact that a person is given a right under Section 232 of Andhra Gram-panchayat Act (2 of 1964) to move the Government to call for records and examine the Orders passed by authorities specified in Clauses (b), (c) and (e) does not necessarily confer any right on him to have the orders reviewed. (1968) 1 Andh WR 278 (283) (DB).

(15) The provisions of C. P. C. relating to review are not applicable to the exercise of the power of review by Revenue Officers under Section 82 of the Punjab Tenancy Act. In the absence of any rules and any statutory provisions the general principles for exercise of review of jurisdiction will apply to proceedings for review by Revenue Officers. 1967 Cur LJ 234 (240): 1967 Pun LJ 140.

(16) An award under the Land Acquisition Act as amended in 1921 is deemed to be a decree. The provisions of review to the extent it is allowed by the Civil Procedure Code will be applicable as a review is not prohibited by the Land Acquisition Act. (1966) 1 Mad LJ 302 (304): 79 Mad LW 132.

(17) An order cancelling a certificate to file an appeal to the Supreme Court is passed under Order 12, Rule 3 of the Supreme Court rules the High Court cannot review the order as the Supreme Court rules do not permit such a course. Section 114 of C. P. C. does not apply to such a case by virtue of Section 112 and Section 4, C. P. C. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 245 (246): (1962) 1 Andh WR 24 (25) (DB).

(18) There cannot be inherent power, in all quasi-judicial tribunals to vary on the merits all quasi-judicial orders without regard to time and without adverting to the nature of the error or infirmity attaching to those orders. Such a proposition might come into conflict with the settled rule which attaches finality to orders. Correction of accidental slips or omissions or clerical or arithmetical mistakes or mistakes inadvertently made might well fall within the inherent power of Courts and quasi-judicial tribunals. AIR 1963 Punj 92 (94, 95): 64 Punj LR 884.

(19) Revisional and appellate powers — Directed at correcting errors of inferior Court — Power of Review — Directed towards correction of its own errors — Review can be made not only when there is error on the face of the record but also where new evidence has been discovered. Powers under S. 21 S. T. Act are akin to the power of review. (1968) 22 STC 26 (39) (DB) (All).

(20) A restoration proceeding and an application for review are essentially different. A review application cannot be considered in a broader sense to include restoration application. AIR 1964 Orissa 205 (209): ILR (1963) Cut 723.

(21) There can be a review of only a part of judgment — Order refusing leave to file letters patent appeal is only a part of the judgment of the second appellate Court. The judgment as a whole may be subject to review. AIR 1969 Mad 227 (231).

(22) Where an error is discovered by way of a wrong recital in the judgment by the party concerned, he may file an application for review for rectifying the error. 1968 Pat LJR 529 (532): 1959 BLJR 662 (DB).

2. "May apply to the Court which passed the decree etc."— (1) Lower Court holding that Section 7 (iv) (c) Court-fee's Act applies to the case—Judicial Commissioner coming to the same finding — Petition to the Lower Court to review its finding — Petition in effect, is of review of judgment of Judicial Commissioner which is final — Lower Court not competent to entertain such petition. AIR 1968 Manipur 1 (2).

(2) The power to review a prior order is principally the power vested in an officer to review an order previously made by himself and not by anybody else. AIR 1967 Bom 356 (360): 68 Bom LR 474 (DB).

(3) Under Section 114, C. P. C. the Court can act only on an application by

115. Revision.—The High Court may call for the record of any case which has been decided by any Court subordinate to such High Court and in which no appeal lies thereto, and if such Subordinate Court appears—

(a) to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law, or

(b) to have failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or

(c) to have acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity, the High Court may make such order in the case as it thinks fit.

(4) Power of review which the Board of Revenue had, stood transferred under Section 4 of the Revenue Appellate Tribunal Act to the Revenue appellate Tribunal on the abolition of the Board of Revenue — Application for review prosecuted to the Board of Revenue before its abolition pending can be decided by the Revenue Appellate Tribunal. (1962) 40 Mys LJ 986 (989) (DB).

(5) High Court dismissing revision application against appellate Order of District Judge — Appellate order merges with the order dismissing revision — Appellate order cannot be reviewed by District Judge. 1967 Raj LW 548.

3. Powers of the Court of review.— (1) Where, in a case under Land Acquisition Act, an error in awarding compensation had been introduced only by reference to something held in another case extraneous to the present record, and the judgment was substituted by an entirely new judgment passed in review because the Tribunal was dissatisfied with its previous judgment.

Held, that assuming that Tribunal had jurisdiction to review its own order, it had in this case travelled outside the limits of its jurisdiction and powers under Sec. 114 or Order 47, Rule 1, C. P. Code. The order upon the review application was, therefore, liable to be set aside. AIR 1959 All 214 (216): 1958 All LJ 768 (DB).

26. High Court's revisional powers under other Acts.
27. Appeal and review.

1. Scope of the section. — (1) Section empowers the High Court, in cases where no appeal lies, to satisfy itself on three matters: (a) that the order made by the Subordinate Court is within its jurisdiction; (b) that the case is one in which the Court ought to exercise its jurisdiction (c) that in exercising the jurisdiction the Court has not acted illegally, that is, in breach of some provision of law or with material irregularity that is by committing some error of procedure in the course of the trial which is material in that it may have affected the ultimate decision. AIR 1959 SC 492 (496, 497, 498): (1959) Supp (1) SCR 733 * AIR 1962 Cal 597 (600) (DB).

(4) The maintainability of a revision application is not affected by the fact that the grounds are so couched as if they are grounds of appeal and not grounds of revision. It is the substance of the attack with which the Court is concerned and where the main ground of attack is that the order in question is illegal and untenable the Court will not stay its hand because of the fact that the revision petition was initially drafted as an appeal. AIR 1967 Punj 241 (244).

(10) Basing findings or conclusions upon facts which have no bearing or connection with them, is a material defect of procedure. Where there is only a show of reaching conclusions upon the facts of the case, there is a material irregularity in exercise of jurisdiction. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 540 (544).

(11) An appeal is a continuation of the proceedings, in effect the entire proceedings are before the appellate authority and it has power to review the evidence subject to the statutory limitation prescribed. But in the case of a revision, whatever powers the revisional authority may or may not have, it has not the power to review the evidence unless the statute expressly confers on it that power.

(12) Per Hidayatullah, J. — The power which Section 115 confers is clearly of the nature of a proceeding on a writ of certiorari. But it differs from that power in many ways. The power is clearly limited to the keeping of the Subordinate Courts within the bounds of their jurisdiction. It does not comprehend the power exercisable under the writ of Prohibition or Mandamus. AIR 1964 SC 497 (505): (1964) 4 SCR 409.

(13) Though the scope of Art. 227 of the Constitution of India is wider than Section 115, it is limited. A mere erroneous decision which error not being apparent on the face of the record cannot be corrected either under Section 115 or under Article 227 — High Court cannot assume appellate powers to correct every mistake of law. (14) Power of interference under Article 227 of the Constitution is wider than that under Section 115, though of course that power has to be invoked sparingly and only in cases of grave dereliction of duty. An order passed without jurisdiction can be interfered with under Article 227. Where the impugned order is not revisable under Section 115 being appeable, it can be set aside under Article 227. (21) Having regard to the general principle that a Court or a Tribunal is entitled to take note of subsequent events, the High Court can take additional evidence in revision, when that evidence was not available during trial. (1967) 2 Andh WR 216.

(22) Contention that Railway Amendment Act (38 of 1961) came into effect on 1-1-1962 and hence applies to case though not raised in lower Court taken in revision petition — Judicial notice can be taken of law in force on any particular relevant date and such law alone is to be applied irrespective of whether any party referred to it or not. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 327 (328).

(23) The limitations to govern the exercise of the revisional jurisdiction are those in force at the time when such a jurisdiction is attempted to be exercised and not those that were in force at the time when the exercise of that jurisdiction was invited by the presentation of the revision petition or at the time when the order sought to be revised was passed. (24) Though the High Court will not disturb a finding of fact in revision, yet when the finding is based on a wrong approach to relevant statutory provisions, the High Court can and will interfere under Section 115, C. (26) Whereas an appeal confers statutory vested right on a litigant which accrues the moment the proceedings in question are instituted the right of revision is merely a discretionary power to be exercised by the revisional Court according to the circumstances of the case or exigencies of the situation. A person cannot as a matter of right claim the proceedings to be revised. AIR 1964 J and K 32 (33): 1963 Kash LJ 234 (DB). (AIR 1962 Punj 94, Rel. on.)

(27) Revisional powers of the Commissioner under Section 3 (3), U. P. (36) Unlike Sections 100 and 115 of Civil P. C., the power of revision under the Criminal P. (3) The proceedings for revision if started suo motu must not be based on a mere conjucture and there should be some ground for invoking the revisional powers. Once those powers are invoked, the actual interference must be based on sufficient grounds and if it is considered necessary that some additional inquiry should be made to arrive at a proper and just decision, there can be no bar to the revising authority holding a further enquiry or directing such an enquiry to be held by some other appropriate authority. AIR 1968 SC 843 (846): (1968) 2 SCR 492. (1961-12 STC 663 (AP) Overruled.)

(4) Where a party applies for revision, the mere fact that a non-party has also joined is no bar to the High Court entertaining and disposing of the application. (1901) 28 Cal 574 (579).

(5) Death of party pending revision — Does not affect High Court's powers of revision for under Section 115, the High Court can even suo motu call for the records and dispose of the case after examining and satisfying itself that the lower Court's order does not suffer any infirmity specified in the section. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 384 (384): ILR (1967) Andh Pra 915 (DB).

(8) In a revision against the order of the lower court setting aside ex parte proceedings on payment of costs, the order of the lower Court was kept intact. The defendants who had also undertaken to produce their evidence in the lower Court failed to produce it after the return of the record and asked for further time, which was ganted subject to payment of costs. (9) Neither the Code of Civil Procedure nor the Saurashtra Agricultural Debtor's Relief Act requires that an order made either on an application for adjustment of debts or in an appeal from any such application should be drawn up. But once an order is drawn up, the petitioner is required by Rules 5 and 6 of Ch. (2) The expression 'case' includes civil proceedings other than suits, and is not restricted by anything contained in the section to the entirety of the proceeding in a civil Court. The expression 'case' includes a suit, but in ascertaining the limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court there would be no warrant for equating it with a suit alone. An advisory opinion cannot be regarded either as a judgment or as an order, for it does not finally determine the case. It is not the exercise of judicial function. An opinion given by a Court in its executive or administrative capacity cannot fall within the ambit of the expression 'case decided'. AIR 1959 Punj 61 (62, 63) : 60 Pun LR 294.

(2) Expression 'Persona designata' connotes a person appointed by name or other personal description in contradistinction to one whose identity is to be ascertained by the office he holds. Where a person is indicated in the statute not by name but by an official designation, the question always arises whether the intention was to single him out as a 'persona disignata' i.e. as an individual, the designation being merely his further description, or, was that he would cease to be the person so indicated on losing his official designation. If he is a judicial officer and is intended by the statute not to act otherwise than in judicial capacity he cannot come within the expression persona designata so that, he may, irrespective of his continuance in office perform the duty. Whether the intention is one or the other has to be gathered from the words used the nature of the functions to be performed and the objects and purport of the statute. (1962) 1 Andh WR 296: (1962) 2 Andh LT 18. (Munsif-Magistrate exercising powers under S. 19, Hyderabad Gram Panchayats Act, 1950, does not act as persona designata.)

(3) Person indicated in statute or legal instrument not by name but by official designation — Determination of question whether intention is to single him out as persona designata — Test applicable is to find out — Whether the person who is named as an individual or is designated by his office is the person who is selected to exercise the power by excluding others from exercising of such power. If the answer is in the affirmative, then such person becomes persona designata. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 22 (27) : (1968) 2 Andh WR 343.

(4) Where it is provided that a matter is to be decided by a certain Court, the presiding officer of such Court will act as a Court but where it is provided that a certain "Judge" is to decide a matter, the entire provisions of the statute will have to be looked into for the purpose of determining whether the judicial officer acts as a Court or as a persona designata. (5) In order to constitute a Tribunal a persona designata what has to be seen is whether the powers given to that Tribunal are merely an extenuation of the powers which it had already possessed, if the power is given to a regularly established Court, or whether that particular work has been given to an individual Judge holding that office in his personal capacity and not in his capacity as a Court. (7) The absence of the State Government's revisional jurisdiction over an order under S. 7-E, U. P. (Temporary) Control of Rent and Eviction Act, 1947, is more consistent with its being an order of a Court, than with its being an order of a persona designata. Thus a Munsif exercising jurisdiction under S. 7-E acts as a Court and not as a persona designata. His order is, therefore, revisable by the High Court. (9) The Tribunal appointed under Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act, 1948, is only a persona designata and could not in any sense be construed as a Court. Even if a District Judge is appointed as the Tribunal, he cannot be considered as a Court subordinate to the High Court. The mere fact that the procedure contained in the Code of Civil Procedure is also to be followed by a Tribunal cannot be considered as the postulate for conferring upon a Tribunal the status of a Court subordinate to the High Court. 11. Exercise of jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity.— (1) It is only when a Court decides a case perversely that it can be said to act illegally or with material irregularity in the exercise of its jurisdiction and other errors on questions of law or procedure are outside this clause. AIR 1915 Mad 1223 (1233): 39 Mad 195 (FB) * (1894) 17 Mad 410 (414, 415) (FB) * (1896) 1 Cal WN 617 (625, 626) (DB) * AIR 1968 Cal 528 (531) * AIR 1967 Cal 133 (136).

(2) Though a Court may have jurisdiction to make an order, if the effect of the order is finally to shut out a trial when it ought never to have been so shut out, then such an error must be regarded as a material irregularity although it may not be palpable or gross. (4) Where the Court exercises its jurisdiction in the manner prescribed but arrives at a conclusion or decision which is erroneous in law or fact, it does not act illegally or with material irregularity but decides erroneously in the proper exercise of jurisdiction. AIR 1956 Bom 323 (325) * AIR 1956 Pat 290 (293) * AIR 1955 All 666 (667) (DB) * AIR 1969 Goa 53 (55) * AIR 1968 Bom 279 (280): 69 Bom LR 796 * (1964) 5 Guj LR 941 * (1964) 66 Pun LR 1170 * AIR 1961 Mad 158 (159): (1960) 2 Mad LJ 274 * AIR 1960 All 590 (593): 1960 All LJ 514 (DB) * AIR 1959 All 574 (576): 1958 All LJ 550.

(5) Where the Judge ignored the nature of the proceedings before him and on the scanty material before him he thought it proper to indulge in inferences and conclusions which could not be held to be justified, and further failed to exercise his jurisdiction, interference under Section 115, Civil P. (6) It would be difficult to formulate any standard by which the degree of error of subordinate Courts can be measured. AIR 1949 PC 156 (158):76 Ind App 67: ILR (1950) Mad 1. (1 Cal WN 617 and AIR 1931 Cal 27, Disapproved.) * AIR 1953 SC 23 (28): 1953 SCR 136.

(7) The words "acting illegally" mean acting in breach of some provision of law and the words "acting with material irregularity" mean committing some error of procedure in the course of the trial which is material in that it may have affected the ultimate decision. (8) Application for permission to sue in forma pauperis — Pendency of — Permission granted — Application still remains pending though it is deemed plaint — Meaning of 'deemed' — Stay order till disposal of pauper application, continues to be in force — Confirmation of sale though after grant of pauper application amounts to breach of provisions of law — Revisional power can be exercised. AIR 1967 All 161 (162).

(9) The erroneous decision must pertain to the exercise of jurisdiction i.e., to a procedure and the error must amount to an illegality or material irregularity. Where it is possible for the Subordinate Court to exercise jurisdiction in more than one manner, it cannot be said that it had wrongly exercised the jurisdiction or followed a wrong procedure when it applied the rule which may not be considered to be most appropriate. That will not amount to an illegality or material irregularity in the exercise of jurisdiction. AIR 1960 All 590 (593): 1960 All LJ 514 (DB).

(10) Where, in appeal from decision of a Munsif without Small Cause Court's powers in a small cause suit tried as a regular suit under Section 35 of Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, the point as to jurisdiction was not raised before the appellate Court, in not deciding that point the appellate Court had not acted in the exercise of his jurisdicion illegally or with material irregularity. (6) It cannot be suggested that if the question is one of principle, the High Court will be powerless to interpret the provisions of law. AIR 1957 Bom 163 (165): ILR (1957) Bom 790 (DB).

(7) The proposition that an erroneous decision on a question of limitation involves the question of jurisdiction applies to cases in which the law definitely ousts the jurisdiction of the Court to try a certain dispute between the parties and not to cases in which there is no such ouster of jurisdiction under the provisions of any law, but where it is left to the Court itself to determine certain matters as a result of which determination the Court has to pass a certain order and may, if necessary, proceed to decide the dispute between the parties. The distinction between the two classes of cases is that in one, the Court decides a question of law pertaining to jurisdiction. In the other, it decides a question within its jurisdiction. AIR 1964 SC 1336 (1338 to 1340): (1964) 3 SCR 495. (Application under Order 22, Rule 9 (2) for setting aside abatement — Delay — Sufficient cause shown to condone delay — Subordinate Court exercising discretion in favour of applicant — Decision held did not involve question regarding irregular exercise or non-exercise or illegal assumption of jurisdiction.)

(8) An erroneous decision on a question of limitation or of res judicata is not a ground for revision unless, in arriving at such conclusion, the Court has failed to consider all the necessary matters, or has misapprehended the nature of the claim, or has not applied its mind to the question at all. (1884) 11 Cal 6 (8): 11 Ind App 237 (PC) * (1894) 17 Mad 410 (415, 416) (FB) * AIR 1930 All 477 (478) (FB) * 1960 Raj LW 606: ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1324. (Issue relating to res judicata involves question of jurisdiction.)]

(9) Although error in a decision of a subordinate Court does not by itself involve that the subordinate Court has acted illegally or with material irregularity so as to justify interference in revision under sub-section (c), nevertheless if the erroneous decision results in the subordinate Court exercising a jurisdiction not vested in it by law or failing to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, a case for revision arises under sub-section (a) or sub-section (b). Where a subordinate Court, by its own erroneous decision on a point of limitation or on a question of res judicata, invested itself with a jurisdiction which in law it did not possess the High Court had power to interfere in revision to prevent such a result. (10) It has been held that the High Court can interfere under Section 115 (a) or (b) if the res judicata refers to the res judicata of the suit as a whole; but if it refers only to an issue and not to the suit as a whole, the High Court can interfere only if the case comes under Section 115 (c) but cannot interfere under Section 115 (a) or (b). (12) Where the question of admissibility arises in regard to a document which constitutes the foundation of some right or obligation in controversy between the parties so that the decision of the question of admissibility would, by its direct and immediate consequence, of its own force, determine such right and obligation, it would not be merely a decision of a question under the Evidence Act, but it would amount to a decision of 'a case' within the meaning of Section 115. AIR 1968 Guj 236 (238): 8 Guj LR 649 (DB).

(13) Where on an erroneous interpretation of a document the lower Court holds that it is not valid in the absence of proper stamp and orders stamp duty to be paid as directed even before the stage of its admissibility in evidence is reached, a revision will lie against the order. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 424 (428): (1961) 1 Andh WR 425.

(14) Section 115 does not apply to Himachal Pradesh by reason of sub-paragraph (3) of Paragraph 35 of the Himachal Pradesh (Courts)Order of 1948 which confers wider revisional powers on the Court of the Judicial Commissioner. The powers conferred by that para. are not confined to jurisdiction alone as under Section 115 but can also be invoked in a case (subject to the limitation about the value of the suit) where the subordinate Court has erroneously decided an important question of law or custom. AIR 1967 Him Pra 1 (4).

(15) Erroneous construction put upon a statute does not amount to exercising jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity. AIR 1966 SC 439 (441): (1966) 1 SCJ 212.

(16) The High Court in revision will appraise the evidence itself for coming to the conclusion contrary to that arrived at by the Court below, only where the decision of the Court below is tainted with any such infirmity as would justify interference under Section 115. That is the function of the appellate Court which after the Court below has disposed of the suit may be seized of the whole case and come to its own conclusion on evaluating the entire evidence. (1965) 67 Punj LR 488: 1965 Cur LJ 256.

(17) Suit fixed for hearing on a given date — Parties having counter-claims — Plaintiff filing application to withdraw suit — No notice to all parties — Court taking up case earlier than date fixed and dismissing it allowing withdrawal with orders that parties shall bear their own costs — Such order is highly irregular — Irregularity does not constitute mere error of law or procedure — Interference in revision is necessary. AIR 1968 Delhi 181 (183): (1968) 70 Punj LR (D) 43.

13. Error of procedure.— (1) An error of procedure in the exercise of jurisdiction is an irregular exercise of jurisdiction and, if the irregularity is material, may be interfered with in revision. (3) In a revision, the High Court may not take serious notice of irregularities such as misreading of evidence by the lower Courts. But receiving a document and reading it in evidence without proper notice to the defendant or relying on the statement from a document in another case which did not form part of the record of the instant case, is a defect constituting material irregularity in procedure. 1964 All LJ 858.

(4) Where the Court wrongly excludes the evidence of the plaintiff as inadmissible on the sole ground that he was examined after the other witnesses of the plaintiff were examined it commits an error of procedure. AIR 1969 Raj 9 (10): 1968 Raj LW 345.

(5) Suit fixed for hearing on a given date — Parties having counter-claims — Plaintiff filing application to withdraw suit — No notice to all parties — Court taking up case earlier than date fixed and dismissing it allowing withdrawal with orders that parties shall bear their own costs — Such order is highly irregular — Irregularity does not constitute mere error of law or procedure — Interference in revision is necessary. AIR 1968 Delhi 181 (183): (1968) 70 Pun LR (D) 43.

(6) Successor Judge of Court passing the decree having pecuniary jurisdiction for lesser amount has jurisdiction to execute decree for higher amount — But decree-holder following irregular procedure of applying to another Court and latter ordering rateable distribution — No interference in revision. AIR 1960 All 730 (731): 1960 All LJ 220.

(7) Review granted on particular ground — Court may order rehearing of whole case — Matter is in discretion of Court — Failure to give better reasons for such order, is not error in procedure justifying interference. AIR 1964 All 359 (360): 1963 All LJ 527.

Section 115 (contd.)

14. Wrong decision of lower Appellate Court as to the jurisdiction of the trial Court.— (1) Where the trial Court erroneously thinks that it has, or that it has no jurisdiction to act in a particular manner or to pass a particular order there is either an illegal assumption of jurisdiction or a failure to exercise the jurisdiction which it has. Where in such a case the order of the trial Court as to its own jurisdiction is appealed against and the Appellate Court either confirms such order or reverses it the decision of the Appellate Court is revisable under Section 115. AIR 1930 All 713 (717, 720, 721): 53 All 75 (FB)  (1886) 8 All 111 (113) (FB)  AIR 1915 Mad 1223 (1229, 1235): 39 Mad 195 (FB).

(2) When the appellate Court interferes with the order granting review on the grounds outside the ambit of Order 47, Rules 7 and 4, its decision is without jurisdiction and the High Court can under Section 115 of the Code interfere with that order. AIR 1960 Assam 204 (205, 206): (1960) 1 Assam LR 82 (DB).

(3) The order of the Court of the first instance can itself be revised notwithstanding that it was appealed against. AIR 1941 Nag 278 (279, 281, 282): ILR (1941) Nag 543 (DB) * AIR 1926 All 58 (61): 48 All 168 (DB) * AIR 1932 Nag 70 (71): 28 Nag LR 54.

15. "May make such order in the case as it thinks fit."— (1) The exercise of powers under Section 115 is not as a matter of right. It is discretionary with the High Court. Even where the Court acts contrary to law on a question which impinges on the question of jurisdiction the High Court is not bound to interfere if the conduct and the act of the petitioner do not arouse its conscience. AIR 1969 Orissa 28 (29) * AIR 1964 SC 497 (505): (1964) 4 SCR 409. (Per Hidayaytullah J.)

(2) As a general rule, when justice has been done between the parties, the High Court will very rarely interfere with the findings of fact or the orders of the lower Court. AIR 1956 Him Pra 22 (24) * AIR 1956 Mad 344 (348) * AIR 1955 Cal 448 (450) (DB) * AIR 1955 Mad 210 (211). (Finding of fact erroneous on admitted facts can be interfered with.)

(3) While dealing with an order under Section 115, C. P. C. it is open to the High Court, if it comes to the conclusion that the Order passed by the Court below was without jurisdiction, to make such order in the case on merits as it thinks fit. (1965) 1 Mys LJ 342: (1965) 1 Law Rep 653.

(4) Where the interference is likely to work out in the interests of justice but rather against it, the High Court will not interfere. (5) Pauper plaintiff successful in part — Court awarding the whole Court-fee payable as costs against defendant — Appeal filed in High Court on the ground that it was excessive and contrary to law — Appeal admitted subject to condition of payment of Court-fees by defendant — Defendant also applying for amendment of decree on same ground which was rejected — High Court refused in revision against order of refusal to stay realization of Court-fee by collector on the ground that the application for amendment and revision amounted to an abuse of process of Court. (1965) 67 Pun LR 499.

(6) Where, a particular order creates an anomalous position or leaves the matter in a muddle the High Court will set it aside in revision. AIR 1955 Him Pra 33 (34) * AIR 1927 Lah 435 (439): 8 Lah 617 * AIR 1933 Bom 245 (250) * AIR 1942 Pat 293 (295) * AIR 1925 All 202 (202) (DB).

(7) Revision against an order of amendment of plaint — Number of opposite parties not served with notice or revision — Revision recorded as dismissed against them — Amendment cannot be challenged in revision as against rest of them as that will lead to inconsistent position. (1962) 28 Cut LT 204.

(8) Normally, and as a general rule, a Court of revision in considering the correctness of the judgment of the Court below is to confine itself to the state of the case at the time when the judgment was given. But in exceptional cases, it may depart from this rule in order to shorten litigation and best attain the ends of justice. (9) Where the Court dismisses an application in revision for default simply for non-appearance of the petitioner it is not an order covered by Section 115 but it would be an order made under the inherent powers of the Court under Section 151 or under Section 151 read with Order 9 of Civil P. C. The words "may make such orders as it thinks fit" contemplates an order passed by the Court after applying its mind to the order in revision and not a mechanical order like dismissing a case for default. AIR 1967 J and K 93 (94): 1967 Kash LJ 220.

(10) Court acting without jurisdiction in trying suit of small cause nature on regular side — Revision — No reference made under Order 46, Rule 7 — High Court will set aside decree and order its presentation to proper Court and not examine case on merits. AIR 1969 Madh Pra 44 (45): 1968 MPLJ 698 (DB).

(11) An authority on whom revisional power is conferred is entitled to examine the correctness, legality and propriety of the order and to pass such suitable orders as the authority may think fit in the circumstances of the case. When exercising such power authority is entitled to hold an inquiry or direct an enquiry to be held and for that purpose admit additional evidence. AIR 1968 SC 843 (846): (1968) 2 SCR 492. (1961-12 STC 663 (AP), Overruled.)

(12) Revision against refusal to amend the decree — Whole case is open before the Court and it can in its discretion under the section bring the decree in accordance with the law. (1968) 1 Andh WR 308.

(13) In exercising the powers of revision it is to be noted that whatever the powers of the High Court, they have got to be exercised within the four corners of the law as it stands. The inherent jurisdiction the High Court undoubtedly has, but that has also got to be exercised in cases where the lower Court had jurisdiction to deal with a matter and while exercising that jurisdiction had caused injustice to one party or the other. AIR 1961 Bom 254 (257, 258): 63 Bom LR 48. (No relief can be granted when the lower Court itself had no jurisdiction to grant.)

(14) Where the order under revision is set aside the High Court has power to set aside the consequential orders as well. AIR 1961 Mys 197 (198): 39 Mys LJ 338. (Plaintiff claiming larger period of limitation as an agriculturist — Adverse finding on his status vacated in revision — High Court can also set aside order dismissing suit as barred by limitation.) * AIR 1968 Mys 329 (332): (1968) 1 Mys LJ 557. (Application for restoration of appeal to file dismissed as barred by time — High Court while setting aside order under revision also restore appeal to file.) * AIR 1964 Pat 438 (439)

(15) Application under Order 9, Rule 13 dismissed—Recall of dismissal order followed by order allowing the application — Revision against order allowing the application — High Court can interfere even with earlier orders, since the last order allowing the application is the result of the earlier ones. AIR 1967 Pat 399 (400).

(16) Where the Courts below on a wrong view as to the maintainability of the suit and as to the question whether there was injury within the meaning of Order 39, R. 2 have failed to exercise the discretion vested in them by law in the matter of granting temporary injunction.

Held, that the High Court would permit the matter to the trial Court for fresh disposal and, to maintain status quo grant a temporary injunction until the disposal of matter by trial Court. AIR 1959 Mys 75 (79): 36 Mys LJ 634.

(17) A lease granted by a Court receiver in favour of a third party in pursuance of the Court's order cannot be annulled by the Court in exercise of its revisional jurisdiction. But the High Court could in the exercise of its revisional jurisdiction direct the lower Court to ask the receiver to terminate the lease in pursuance of the specific condition in the lease. AIR 1960 Raj 192 (195, 196): 1960 Raj LW 334 (DB).

(18) The High Court has under R. 41-B of the Appellate Side Rules read with Order 41, Rule 19 (1) of the C. P. C. the power to restore a civil revision petition which has been dismissed for default, on sufficient cause being shown by the petitioner. AIR 1959 Mad 183 (184): (1958) 2 Mad LJ 515.

(19) Interim order pending revision — Cannot operate after dismissal of the revision petition. AIR 1968 Mys 283 (285): (1967) 1 Mys LJ 414.

(6) The question of addition of parties under Rule 10 of Order 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, is generally not one of initial jurisdiction of the Court, but of judicial discretion which has to be exercised in view of all the facts and circumstances of a particular case, but in some cases, it may raise controversies as to the power of the Court, in contradistinction, to its inherent jurisdiction, or, in other words, of jurisdiction in the limited sense in which it is used in Section 115 of the Code. AIR 1958 SC 886 (895)* AIR 1969 Punj 57 (58): 70 Pun LR 451. (10) Where the trial Court has come to a clear finding, that in its opinion, there were sufficient grounds for allowing the plaintiff, under Order 23, Rule 1 (2) (b), to bring a fresh suit, the High Court, in revision, will not go into the question of sufficiency or insufficiency of the grounds as that will not be a matter touching the question of jurisdiction. (4) In a revision petition filed against a common order giving rateable distribution to some of the decree-holders and withholding in the case of another it is not necessary that the aggrieved party should file as many revision petitions as there are rateable decree-holders. (4) If the lower Court fails to determine the only real question that has to be decided, namely, that of possession, and disposes of the petition on a determination of the question of title which it was not competent to investigate, or allows a claim in express violation of the Code, as for example, after the execution sale or against mortgaged property which was brought for sale, or refuses to entertain a claim on the erroneous view that the decree under execution is a mortgage decree, the High Court will interfere. But as this section does not apply to the High Court and as the Letters Patent do not confer jurisdiction on the High Court in such cases, no suit can be brought in the High Court against all the defendants. AIR 1923 Mad 272 (274) (DB).

PART X

RULES

121. Effect of rules in First Schedule.—The rules in the First Schedule shall have effect as if enacted in the body of this Code until annulled or altered in accordance with the provisions of this Part.

the ordinary course of law and without any special step being necessary to assume it. It is opposed to "extraordinary jurisdiction" which the Court may assume at its discretion upon special occasions and by special orders. (1889) 13 Bom 525 (533) : 16 Ind App 156 (PC).

(4) Suit against company filed in High Court in its original civil jurisdiction — Section 20 inclusive of Expl. II has no application. AIR 1967 Cal 205 (209) : 71 Cal WN 458.

(5) Section 21 of Civil P. C. is not applicable to Calcutta High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction. AIR 1960 Cal 331 (339).

Section 121 — Note 1

(1) The re-arrangement of the Code into the "body of the Code" and "Rules is for the purpose of giving a much needed elasticity to judicial procedure, and to enable minor defects to be remedied, as they arise, without resort to the Legislature, AIR 1957 Andh Pra 172 (181) : ILR (1957) Andh Pra 1 (FB) * AIR 1945 Nag 83 (85) : ILR (1944) Nag 561 (DB) * AIR 1942 All 387 (389) : ILR (1942) All 862 (DB).

(2) Export for the fact that the rules in the First Schedule can be amended, annulled or added to by the High Courts such rules have the same force as if enacted in the body of the Code and it is incorrect to say that they are not so imperative as the sections in the body of the Code. AIR 1937 Pat 307 (310).

(3) In order to ascertain the jurisdiction of the Court in a particular case one has to look not merely to the body of the Code but also to the Rules in Sch. I which may have set limits to the jurisdictions apparently created in wide and general terms by the body of the Code. AIR 1949 Cal 690 (694): ILR (1950) 1 Cal 596 (DB).

(4) The rules passed in accordance with the procedure in this Part, are not on the same footing as the circulars in the Manual of Civil Circulars issued by the High Court. Unless the latter is passed under some enactment which gives it the force of law, it would not have the force of law. AIR 1926 Bom 548 (549) : 50 Bom 793 (DB).

(5) The combined effect of Sections 121, 122 and 127 has been held to make Rules in the Civil Rules of Practice part of the Code itself. AIR 1956 Andhra 108 (109)  AIR 1949 Mad 631 (633).

(6) It is clear from Sections 121, 122 and 127 that the Code contemplates two classes of rules, i.e. rules contained in the First Schedule and other rules like those contained in the Travancore Civil Courts Guide and Civil Rules of Practice in force in the Cochin area which do not form part of the Schedule. It is the latter class that is mentioned in S. 20 (2) of the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act of 1951. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 526 (531) : ILR (1954) Trav-Co 929 (FB).

(7) The rules contained in Sch. I cannot be divided into watertight compartments, namely, those contained in O. 1 to O. 40 as being applicable to original trials only and those contained in O. 41 to O. 44 as being applicable to appellate Courts only, and unless there are separate specific provisions for appellate Courts or there is anything in the rules to the contrary, such of the rules in Sch. I which are of general application are applicable to all Courts in accordance with the provisions of Section 117 and Section 107. AIR 1947 All 211 (213) : ILR (1947) All 180 (FB).

(8) It is clear from Sections 121 and 128 that the rules contained in the first schedule and the rules framed by the High Courts are in fact outside the "body of the Code". Sections alone comprise the "body of the Code". AIR 1969 All 142 (152, 153): 1968 All LJ 243 (FB).

(9) Form prescribed by Calcutta High Court for purposes of and relating to Order 34, R. 5 for making preliminary mortgage decree final, is a statutory form prescribed under the rule making power possibly under S. 122, and also referred to in O. 48, R. 3 which is a Rule made under S. 121 and as such has effect as part of the Code itself — According to this form, final decree has to be passed after hearing parties. AIR 1961 Cal 534 (536): 65 Cal WN 535 (DB).

(10) Word 'Rules' in S. 40 means rules in first schedule or rules framed under S. 122 — Decree passed in one State — Execution in another — Absence of rules under S. 122 in latter does not bar execution. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 387 (387) : 1960 MPLJ 1179.

122. Power of certain High Courts to make rules.—[a][High Courts [b][not being the Court of a Judicial Commissioner] ] [c][*] may, from time to time after previous publication, make rules regulating their own procedure and the procedure of the Civil Courts subject to their superintendence, and may by such rules annul, alter or add to all or any of the rules in the First Schedule.

(11) As rules framed under Sch. I are to be taken as if enacted in the body of the Code O. 21, R. 4 and S. 39 must be read in a harmonious manner without spelling out an inherent conflict between them. (1966) 2 Mad LJ 5 (6) : (1966) 79 Mad LW 269.

(12) Order 37, Rule 1 (d) validly amended by Punjab High Court continues to apply to Courts of District Judges and Subordinate Judges in Union Territory of Delhi even after appointed day i.e. 30-10-1966 — Sections 121 and 127 do not alter this position so long as power to amend under Section 122 is not exercised by Delhi High Court. AIR 1969 Delhi 142 (144) : 71 Pun LR (D) 52 (DB).

Section 122 — Note 1

1. Scope and object. — (1) The rules made by the High Courts under S. 122 have the force of law. (1909) 1 Ind Cas 163 (164) (All) * (1903) 5 Bom LR 394 (395) (DB) * AIR 1928 Bom 123 (126): 52 Bom 459 (DB) * AIR 1931 All 756 (757) : 53 All 959 (DB).

(2) In making rules under this section the formalities prescribed by the Code should be complied with. AIR 1942 Lah 201 (202) : ILR (1943) Lah 569 (DB) * AIR 1921 Pat 509 (510) (DB) * 1905 All WN 83 (84) (DB).

(3) Where a new rule, viz., R. 122 in O. 21 inconsistent with R. 43 of the same order was introduced by the Allahabad High Court, it was held that the former rule prevailed. AIR 1931 All 567 (567, 568, 572) : 54 All 263 (FB).

(4) Power to make rules is subject to restriction in S. 124. AIR 1961 All 595 (507).

(5) General powers given to the High Court under Section 122 cannot be exercised in contravention of the specific powers conferred on State Government. Rule 15 of High Court Rules and Orders (All.) General Rules making Hindi as official language will not override specific powers of the State Government under S. 137. So a plaint written in English is a valid plaint in spite of R. 15. AIR 1963 All 546 (547): 1963 All LJ 243 (DB).

(6) Rule making power contained in Sections 122 and 129 and under clause 37 of Letters Patent shows that they overlap to a considerable extent, whilst a rule framed under Section 122 for regulating the procedure on the Original Civil Side cannot be inconsistent with the body of the Code, a rule framed under S. 129 could be inconsistent. A rule framed under either can however be inconsistent with rules contained in First Schedule. Mere fact that S. 129 expressly confers the power to frame rules for regulating Original Civil side procedure, it does not mean that such rules cannot be framed under S. 122. AIR 1969 Bom 117 (118) : 70 Bom LR 546.

(7) Under Section 122, every rule in the first schedule relating to procedure can be annulled, altered or added by the High Court. Adding an explanation to O. 33, R. 1 is within the scope of S. 122 and is not ultra vires. No mode or form is prescribed in the Code in which the High Court may make rules. The Code also does not require that when one single rule or any Order in First Schedule is annulled, amended or added to it must be made as a part of and as one of the rules framed by the High Court. (1966) 7 Guj LR 656 (660) (DB). (AIR 1963 Guj 30, OVERRULED.)

(8) There is no inconsistency between Section 122 and Article 227 of the Constitution. Section 122 in its entirety continues in force after commencement of the Constitution and no part of it is unconstitutional or ultra vires. AIR 1969 Guj 18 (20): 9 Guj LR 873 (DB).

(9) The rules made by the High Court at Nagpur under Section 122, Civil P. C. (1908) and which were in force in the former State of Madhya Pradesh as it existed before the Reorganisation of States on 1-11-1956, since they have not been adapted under Section 120 of the States Reorganisation Act for the other territories of the corresponding new State (that is, the present State of Madhya Pradesh) are not operative and cannot regulate the procedure of the Civil Courts in the territories of the former State of Madhya Bharat.

Section 54 which falls in Part V of the States Reorganisation Act does not apply to such rules. A rule made by a High Court under S. 122, is a piece of delegated or subordinate legislation. It will be governed by S. 119 and not by S. 54 of the States Reorganisation Act. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 130 (131, 132): 1960 MPLJ 850.

(10) Word 'Rules' in Section 40 means rules in first schedule or rules framed under S. 122 — Decree passed in one State — Execution in another — Absence of rules under S. 122 in latter does not bar execution. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 387 (387): 1960 MPLJ 1179.

(11) Rules promulgated by the Madras High Court are with regard to all forms of its jurisdiction, special or otherwise. Being framed under Cl. 37 of the Letters Patent read with S. 122 Civil P. Code, powers of the High Court to grant relief are not restricted even with regard to Income-tax Cases. (1967) 80 Mad LW 595 (597) : (1968) 69 ITR 361 (DB).

(12) It is clear from Sections 121, 122, and 127 that the Code comtemplates two classes of rules i.e. rules contained in the first schedule which may be annulled, altered or added to by the High Court and the other rules which do not form part of the first schedule but will have the same force and effect as if they had been contained in the first schedule. 2. Extent of High Court's power to make rules.—(1) The rules framed by the High Court under this Part, though they may annul, alter or add to the rules in the First Schedule, should not be inconsistent with the provisions in the body of this Code. (5) A rule dispensing with the necessity of filing a copy of judgment appealed from along with the memoradum of appeal will not disentitle the appellant from excluding the period requisite for obtaining a copy of the judgment. AIR 1928 PC 103 (104, 105) : 6 Rang 302 : 55 Ind App 161.

(6) A rule extending the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act to applications under O. 9, R. 9 or R. 13 of the Code is not ultra vires. AIR 1929 Bom 262 (263, 264) : 53 Bom 453 (DB) * AIR 1925 Mad 14 (17) : 47 Mad 824 (FB) * AIR 1917 Mad 957 (957) : 40 Mad 105.

(8) Section 122 specifically empowers the High Court by rules not merely to annul or alter any of the rules in the First Schedule of the Code but also to add to them. This is a comprehensive power and is sufficient to empower the High Court to make a rule of the kind embodied in Rule 41-A (2) of the Appellate Side Rules of the Madras High Court. (15) The Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules were made by the Gujarat High Court in exercise of its powers under Section 122 and under that Section the Gujarat High Court could make rules so as to annul alter or add to all or any of the Rules in Order 37. If, therefore, any provision in the Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules conflicts with any Rules contained in Order 37 then to the extent of the conflict the provision in the Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules would prevail and the Rules in Order 37 would stand abrogated to that extent. But if there is no conflict between a particular provision contained in the Rules in Order 37 and the Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules the particular provision in the Rules in Order 37 must be held to continue in force and be applicable notwithstanding the promulgation of the Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules. Rr. 142 to 148 are really by way of amendment of the Rules in Order 37 in so far as the City Civil Court was concerned and they must, therefore, be read not as an independant set of Rules but as amending and consequently forming part of the Rules contained in Order 37. There is nothing in Rules 142 (3), 143 (1) and 144 of the Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules (1961) made by the High Court in exercise of the powers under Section 122, C. P. Code which in any way takes away the right of the defendant under O. 20, R. 11 (1) or negatives the applicability of O. 20, R. 11 (1) to summary suits. An application to the Court for time for payment of the decretal amount or for instalments in payment of the decretal amount cannot be regarded as part of defence to the suit and no leave to defend the suit is necessary before the defendant can make such an application to the Court. (22) High Courts which cannot touch the first part (Act proper) can make rules to annul, alter, add to any of the rules in First Schedule. Section 124 — Note 1 (contd.)

(3) Power to make rules under Section 122 is subject to restrictions contained in Section 124 — High Court must take report of Rule committee constituted under Section 123 into consideration — Section 124 is to this extent in conflict with powers conferred on High Court under Clause 28 of Letters Patent. AIR 1961 All 595 (597).

Section 125 — Note 1

(2) A rule by a High Court extending within the local limits of its jurisdiction any rules which have been made by any other High Court will be valid only if it has been previously published. Where the rule extending the rules of another High Court is duly published, it is not necessary that the extended rules themselves should be published. AIR 1921 Pat 428 (429) (DB).

Section 127 — Note 1

(1) The combined effect of Sections 122 and 127 or any of those provisions separately in not to repeal of Order 41, Rule 23 as passed by the central legislature. The amended rule, does not obliterate the original rule but permits its eclipse only for the State where it has been amended. Section 127 only introdues a legal fiction, that is, that the amended rule will be deemed to be a rule contained in the Code though in fact it is not. The amended rule is effective only in the State where the within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court which made them, as if they had been contained in the First Schedule.

[a] Substituted by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937 [1-4-1937] Para. 4 (1) for "Gazette of India or in the Local Official Gazette, as the case may be." But the last words are omitted as being redundant.

128. Matters for which rules may provide.—(1) Such rules shall be not inconsistent with the provisions in the body of this Code, but, subject thereto, may provide for any matters relating to the procedure of Civil Courts.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by sub-section (1), such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the service of summonses, notices and other processes by post or in any other manner either generally or in any specified areas, and the proof of such service;

(b) the maintenance and custody, while under attachment, of live-stock and other moveable property, the fees payable for such maintenance and custody, the sale of such live-stock and property, and the proceeds of such sale;

(c) procedure in suits by way of counter-claim, and the valuation of such suit for the purposes of jurisdiction;

(d) procedure in garnishee and charging orders either in addition to, or in substitution for, the attachment and sale of debts;

(2) Under Section 127 in matter of any rule under Sch. I the rule framed by the High Court is intended to be as effective as the rules framed by the legislature. High Court's power to change rule is limited by Section 128 only. AIR 1962 Orissa 181 (182).

(3) Order 37 Rule 1 (d) validly framed by Punjab High Court continues to apply to the Courts of District Judges and Subordinate Judges in the Union Territory of Delhi till the same is altered, amended or added to by Delhi High Court. Nothing contained in Section 127 would automatically repeal it or render it ineffective or inoperative. AIR 1969 Delhi 142 (144): (1969) 71 Pun LR (D) 52.

(3) A provision in the Code which had not been either expressly or impliedly denied operation by the rules framed by the High Court should apply side by side with those rules to the proceedings in the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court. AIR 1934 Cal 369 (372).

(4) The rules made by a High Court under Section 129 need not conform with anything provided in the Civil P. C. Even with such wide powers, no High Court would consider itself entitled to make rules prescribing periods of limitation for the filing of suits on its original side (Rule 17 of Bombay Employees' Insurance Court Rules (1959), held ultra vires). AIR 1967 Bom 472 (478, 479): 69 Bom LR 52 (DB).

of law from the date of publication or from such other date as may be specified. AIR 1928 All 708 (708): 50 All 865.

(2) Rules made by the High Court which are intended to apply to both original civil or otherwise, and appellate jurisdiction must be published in the Official Gazette before enforcement. AIR 1964 Pat 440 (442): 1965 BLJR 18 (DB).

(3) Non-publication of Rule 25 in the Official Gazette will not affect its validity in so far as it is applicable to matters on the appellate side. AIR 1964 Pat 440 (442): 1965 BLJR 18 (DB).

SECTION 132

1. Customs and manners of the country. — (1) Section 132 applies to women, who according to the customs and manners of the country, ought not to be compelled to appear in public e. g., pardanashin ladies. AIR 1953 Nag 37 (38) * AIR 1927 Mad 524(524) * AIR 1961 Pat 210 (211): 1961 BLJR 322.

(2) The customs and manners of the country mean the customs and manners of the different communities and classes and sections of the people in the country and not the customs and manners of the country as a whole. AIR 1951 Mad 311 (312): ILR (1951) Mad 433 (DB). (AIR 1950 Mad 151, OVERRULED.)  AIR 1957 Madh B 184 (185).

(3) For applying sub-section (1), customs and manners of country prevailing at the time the Courts are called upon to apply it should be the criterion and not the customs and manners which might have prevailed years ago, but which had become completely obsolete. AIR 1951 Mad 311 (312): ILR (1951) Mad 433 (DB) * AIR 1957 Madh B 184 (185).

(4) Even though a lady may have given up the use of the pardah she is entitled to the benefit of the section, if, having regard to her social position and the feeling of her class, the Court is satisfied that she should not be compelled to appear in the witness-box. AIR 1918 Cal 111 (112): 45 Cal 492.

(5) A lady can no longer claim, as of right, the statutory exemption formulated in Section 132, if she has by her change in mode of life ceased to fall within the section. AIR 1951 Mad 311 (313): ILR (1951) Mad 433 (DB) * AIR 1957 Madh B 184 (185) * AIR 1918 Cal 743 (744): 45 Cal 697 (DB) * AIR 1966 Andh Pra 222 (223).

(6) The question whether any woman falls within the category of women mentioned in sub-section (1) is a question of fact. AIR 1951 Mad 311 (312): ILR (1951) Mad 433 (DB).

(7) Where an application for exemption is made, Court should take evidence and ascertain the facts therefrom and should not dispose of the application in a summary manner. The trial Court has to give an opportunity to the parties to prove the customs and manners prevalent in the community of the applicant and the compulsion of women to appear in public. Till evidence is recorded on this point, no final decision can be made by the Judge. AIR 1957 Madh B 184 (185).

(8) In order to determine whether the plaintiff is a pardanashin lady and does not appear in public, a statement made by her husband in another case that his wife sits in the shop and sells goods cannot be made use of by the Court when it is not on the record. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 25 (26).

(9) A commission, ordinarily should issue for the examination of a pardanashin lady unless her application for commission is mala fide, or would amount to an abuse of the process of the Court, or it may result in manifest injustice to any party, or for other valid reasons. The fact that a pardanashin woman does not observe parda in her father's place per se is no ground for refusing to issue commission. AIR 1961 Pat 210 (211): 1961 BLJR 322.

(10) Exemption under this section cannot be denied on the ground that a pardanashin lady once appeared in public. 1961 Ker LT 433: 1961 Ker LJ 502.

2. "Shall be exempt from personal appearance in Court." — (1) The exemption from personal appearance is a right which no Court has power to refuse. AIR 1953 Nag 37 (38) * AIR 1958 Madh Pra 25 (26). (Court acts illegally in the exercise of its jurisdiction in compelling her attendance.) * AIR 1952 Mad 80 (80) * AIR 1951 Mad 311 (314): ILR (1951) Mad 433 (DB) * AIR 1928 Cal 814 (815) (DB) * AIR 1933 All 551 (553, 554): 55 All 666 (DB) * 1961 Ker LT 433: 1961 Ker LJ 502.

133. Exemption of other persons.—[a][(1) The following persons shall be entitled to exemption from personal appearance in Court, namely:—

(i) the President of India;

(ii) the Vice-President of India;

(iii) the Speaker of the House of the People;

(iv) the Ministers of the Union;

(v) the Judges of the Supreme Court;

7. Remedies of exempted person on being illegally arrested.

8. Appeal.

1. Scope and object. — (1) The exemption under this section is not for personal benefit of individual, but for furthering of public interest and better administration of justice. AIR 1929 Oudh 426 (426): 5 Luck 302 (FB) * (1890) 13 Mad 150 (158) (FB).

(2) The privilege is really that of Court and the principle on which it is founded is that freedom from fear of arrest encourages willing attendance and thus tends to the advancement of justice. AIR 1931 Bom 175 (175): 55 Bom 612.

(3) Where section does not, in terms, apply, English law should be followed. The English law in this respect is approximately the same as the law under the section. (1880) 5 Cal 106 (108).

(4) Exemption from arrest can be claimed only to a reasonable extent. A reasonable approach on the part of the process server in effecting an arrest is within the ambit of this section. (1960) 26 Cut LT 289.

2. "While going to or attending such tribunal" etc. — (1) The parties to a suit and the other persons referred to in the second sub-section are privileged, in going to, attending and returning from such tribunal. AIR 1945 Cal 107 (110): ILR (1944) 1 Cal 489 (SB) * AIR 1929 Oudh 426 (426): 5 Luck 302 (FB) * AIR 1920 Mad 355 (356): 43 Mad 272 (DB).

(2) The exemption continues during such period as is reasonably and bona fide occupied in acts specified in sub-section (2). AIR 1938 All 356 (357) (DB). (Reasonable time is a question of fact.) * AIR 1931 Bom 175 (178): 55 Bom 612. (Do.)

(3) Where a person has been lingering in the Court compound for one hour after the Court finished its work and the place where he was arrested was not on the way between the Court and his house, he cannot be said to be attending a Court so as to be exempt from arrest. AIR 1933 Cal 11 (12).

(4) Preliminary decree in partition suit — Decree-holder applying for execution by arrest of judgment-debtor — Judgment-debtor bolting away, but on assurance of Court that he would be exempt from arrest while appearing on fixed date before receiver for giving accounts, he coming home and then arrested two days before date fixed for appearing — Section 135 (2) held did not apply. AIR 1938 All 356 (358) (DB).

(5) The principle which would apply to a person living in the place in which the Court is situate must be applied to the person who takes up temporary lodgings in that place, that is to say, protection extends only from his temporary lodgings to the Court or from the Court to his temporary lodgings — Hence an arrest effected when he has left his temporary lodgings and is taking a walk is legal. AIR 1935 Pat 6 (8): 14 Pat 242 (DB).

(6) A person claiming exemption from arrest must return straight from the Court to his home. If he adopts a circuitous route in order to attend some other business on the way he is not exempt from arrest. This does not mean that a deviation of few yards disentitles the person to the protection of S. 135. AIR 1924 All 676 (677): 46 All 663.

(7) Where a party has a clear interest in being present at a trial it is enough to bring him within the protection of this section. It is immaterial that he is precluded from being heard at the trial, as, for instance, in the case of a defendant in a suit under Order 37, who has not obtained leave to defend the suit. (1880) 5 Cal 106 (109).

3. Arrest of person while in custody or while returning home on release from custody. — (1) Where a judgment-debtor is arrested and brought before the Court in execution of a decree he cannot be said to be "attending" the Court, as his presence in Court is not voluntary. Hence, he can be arrested in execution of another decree under such circumstances. AIR 1924 Mad 900 (901) (DB).

(2) A judgment-debtor released from jail on the ground of his arrest being illegal and proceeding home on such release cannot be said to be returning from Court. Hence, he is not exempt from arrest under this section. (1890) 13 Mad 150 (158).

4. "Tribunal" meaning of. — (1) An arbitrator appointed by High Court to take a reference in a suit pending before it is a "tribunal" within Section 135. (1878) 5 Cal L Rep 170 (171).

(2) An Income-tax Officer is a tribunal. AIR 1933 Lah 214 (215).

(3) The word "tribunal" will include a foreign Court. AIR 1935 Nag 216 (216).

5. Parties. — (1) A person coming to appear as an accused before a Criminal Court is entitled to exemption from arrest under this section. AIR 1929 Oudh 426 (426): 5 Luck 302 (FB).

6. Civil process. — (1) Section 135 does not preclude the arrest of a person under process issued by a Criminal Court. AIR 1945 Cal 107 (110): ILR (1944) 1 Cal 489 (SB).

(2) The principle of Section 135 was held applicable to arrest under the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. AIR 1915 Mad 282 (286) (DB).

(3) The essence of a civil process is that it is set in motion at the instance of a private person for the enforcement of his rights against another private person. AIR 1945 Cal 107 (119): ILR (1944) 1 Cal 489 (SB).

7. Remedies of exempted person on being illegally arrested. — (1) A person arrested in contravention of this section can apply for his release to the High Court under Section 491 (1) (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code. (1879) 5 Cal L Rep 170 (171).

(2) On being released from illegal arrest, the person is entitled to a refund of the sum paid by him to obtain his release. AIR 1929 Oudh 426 (426): 5 Luck 302 (FB).

(3) A person arrested in contravention of Section 135 cannot maintain a suit for damages for illegal arrest in the absence of proof of malice and want of reasonable and probable cause. AIR 1930 Rang 131 (132): 7 Rang 598 (DB).

(4) A person illegally arrested can prosecute the person causing the arrest for an offence under Section 342 of the Indian Penal Code. AIR 1916 Lah 318 (319, 320).

[But see AIR 1935 Cal 551 (551).]

8. Appeal. — (1) An order disallowing a claim to exemption from arrest under this section is one falling under S. 47 and as such is appealable. AIR 1924 Mad 900 (900) (DB) * (1910) 32 All 8 (6) (DB).

136. Procedure where person to be arrested or property to be attached is outside district.—(1) Where an application is made that any person shall be arrested or that any property shall be attached under any provision of this Code not relating to the execution of decrees, and such person resides or such property is situate outside the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court to which the application is made, the Court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant of arrest or make an order of attachment, and send to the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such person or property resides or is situate a copy of the warrant or order, together with the probable amount of the costs of the arrest or attachment.

(2) The District Court shall, on receipt of such copy and amount, cause the arrest or attachment to be made by its own officers, or by a Court subordinate to itself, and shall inform the Court which issued or made such warrant or order of the arrest or attachment.

(3) The Court making an arrest under this section shall send the person arrested to the Court by which the warrant of arrest was issued, unless he shows cause to the satisfaction of the former Court why he should not be sent to the latter Court, or unless he furnishes sufficient security for his appearance before the latter Court or for satisfying any decree that may be passed against him by that Court in either of which cases the Court making the arrest shall release him.

(4) Where a person to be arrested or movable property to be attached under this section is within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal or at Madras or at Bombay, [a][° ° ° °] the copy of the warrant of arrest or of the order of attachment, and the

(1) An application which is not in English or in the language of the Court is not a proper application. AIR 1950 East Punj 302 (304) (DB).

(2) The expression "in any such Court" in sub-section (3) of Section 137 only emphasises that what is required or allowed to be done must be in 'any Court subordinate to the High Court' and not in any other Court. What has to be done in the Court either by the Court or by any party is some act which makes the written thing an act of the Court or of a party under the Code and not writing itself by the Court or by the party as a preliminary to the doing of the act required or allowed to be done by the Court. 1. Scope and object. — (1) The doctrine of restitution is based upon the principle that the acts of Courts should not be allowed to work injury on the suitors. AIR 1954 Pat 36 (37) (DB)  ILR (1953) 2 Cal 385 (387)  AIR 1966 Ker 225 (226): 1966 Ker LT 313 (DB)  1966 All LJ 510  AIR 1964 Mad 404 (406): 77 Mad LW 233 (DB)  AIR 1960 Mys 337 (338): 38 Mys LJ 922.

(2) The doctrine of restitution contemplates a case where property has been received by the decree-holder under his decree and the decree is subsequently wholly or partially reversed or varied in other proceedings. AIR 1932 All 239 (240) (DB)  AIR 1932 Cal 29 (32): 58 Cal 1070 (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 791 (792)  AIR 1939 All 66 (69): ILR (1939) All 103 (DB).

(3) It is the duty of the Court to enforce the obligation on the party who received the benefit of the erroneous judgment to make restitution to the other party for what he had lost unless it is shown that restitution would be clearly contrary to the real justice of the case. AIR 1953 SC 136 (139): 1953 SCR 559: ILR (1953) 2 All 367  (1900) 23 Mad 306 (310) (DB)  (1868) 9 Suth WR 402 (407) (FB)  AIR 1966 SC 948 (950): (1966) 3 SCR 24  AIR 1969 Ker 31 (34): 1968 Ker LT 442 (DB)  1966 All LJ 510.

with another rule of equity that a bona fide purchaser for value should not be allowed to suffer on account of the mistakes or irregularities committed in a Court of law. AIR 1954 Pat 36 (37) (DB).

(5) Section 144 does not confer any new substantive rights which a successful party did not possess under the general law. AIR 1951 Mad 804 (806) (DB)  (1912) 16 Ind Cas 966 (966) (DB) (Cal).

(6) Section 144 merely regulates the exercise of the rights and prescribes a convenient procedure therefor. AIR 1955 Mad 173 (175, 176)  AIR 1951 Mad 804 (806) (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 260 (263): ILR (1940) 1 Cal 486 (DB)  AIR 1928 All 293 (294): 50 All 767 (DB).

(7) A person applying for restitution under this section by way of possession must base his claim for restitution upon the very same rights as existed on the date on which he was dispossessed under the decree which is subsequently reversed. AIR 1956 All 663 (665) (DB).

(8) The section is a salutary provision of law enacted with a view to shorten litigation and to afford speedy relief and should not, therefore, be narrowly construed. (9) In order that this section may apply, three conditions are necessary to be satisfied —

(a) the restitution sought must be in respect of the decree or order which had been varied or reversed. AIR 1941 PC 128 (129): 21 Pat 243: ILR (1941) Kar PC 150  AIR 1958 Ker 84 (85)  ILR (1961) 13 Assam 458 (461, 462).

(b) The party applying for restitution must be entitled to a benefit under a reversing decree or order. (1909) 31 All 364 (366) (DB)  (1885) 8 Mad 494 (495) (DB)  (1894) 17 Mad 82 (84) (DB).

(c) The relief claimed must be properly consequential on the reversal or variation of the decree or order. AIR 1922 All 465 (467): 44 All 687 (DB)  AIR 1925 Oudh 654 (656) (DB)  AIR 1936 Mad 634 (635) (DB).

(10) Though the section is not exhaustive of the principle of restitution, where a case does not fall within the strict terms of the section it is a matter of discretion with the Court to grant or refuse the relief. AIR 1954 Cal 544 (546) (DB)  AIR 1946 All 329 (330).

(11) An application for relief of restitution is not an application for execution of a decree or order. (1965) 1 Law Rep 763 (767).

(12) Section 144 is not made applicable to execution proceedings by S. 141 of the Code. AIR 1915 Cal 530 (531) (DB)  AIR 1957 Punj 307 (309)  (1965) 1 Law Rep 763 (765).

(14) The fact that an application is not labelled as an application under Section 144 is immaterial, for, no amount of technicalities should be allowed to stand in the way of the Court in doing justice to the party aggrieved if he is so entitled. Therefore an application made under Section 47 and O. 21, Rule 90 can be treated as an application under Section 144. 1957 BLJR 534 (536).

(15) When a decree is executed through Court against a person during pendency of the appeal, then in case of variation or reversal of the decree by the superior Court he is entitled to restitution. AIR 1964 Mys 117 (121): (1963) 2 Mys LJ 421 (DB).

(17) The provisions of Section 144 apply upon reversal of an order made under Article 226 of the Constitution. AIR 1967 All 272 (273): 1966 All LJ 528 (DB).

(18) Decree for possession of land against lessee — Possession taken — Manure heaped on land seized though decree silent about it — Proceedings by lessee for recovery of property (manure) do not fall under S. 47 — Nor are they covered by S. 144 — Seizure constitutes torts—Remedy is by suit. (4) The words 'or an order' have been inserted after the word 'decree' by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1956 (66 of 1956). (4) The mere circumstance that plaintiff was in possession through her tenants is not sufficient justification for dismissing her application under Section 144 for restoration of possession to her. The application could have been treated as one for discharge of the receiver and constructive possession as at the initiation of the suit. (1967) 1 Andh WR 94.

(5) Decree-holder obtaining possession in execution and evicting defendant's tenants — Decree for possession reversed in appeal. On application for restitution defendant is entitled to actual possession and not merely symbolic possession of the premises although it was not in his occupation when he lost possession of it under the trial Court's decree. (4) After a Court sale in execution of a decree is confirmed, the judgment-debtor was found to have no saleable interest in the property as a result of suit filed by third party.

Held the auction purchaser being dispossessed, his remedy for recovery of his money is not by application in execution or under Section 144 or 151 but by an independent suit. 10. Against whom restitution can be granted. —(1) A right to claim restitution may be enforced against a party or his representative or assignee even if he is not a party to the appeal. AIR 1952 Assam 111 (114) : ILR (1952) 4 Assam 247  AIR 1942 Mad 472 (473) : ILR (1942) Mad 949 (DB)  AIR 1924 Sind 101 (102) : 17 Sind LR 73 (DB)  AIR 1938 Oudh 169 (170): 14 Luck 106 (DB)  (1965) 69 Cal WN 117 (118). (2) A mortgages to C certain property and then sues B, who is in possession thereof, in ejectment, and obtains a decree and gets delivery of possession in execution. Pending appeal by B, C sues on his mortgage, obtains a decree and purchases the property in execution of his decree and obtains possession. A's decree is reversed in appeal. (4) Where a decree is assigned and the assignee realises the decretal amount. the right of restitution on the reversal of the decree arises not only against the assignee of the decree but also against the original decree-holder. AIR 1941 Mad 315 (316) : ILR (1941) Mad 498.

(5) No question of defeasance of title of bona fide purchaser by restitution can arise when the decree-holder purchaser has sold and parted with the property to a bona fide stranger purchaser for value. AIR 1964 Mad 404 (406, 407, 411) : 77 Mad LW 233 (DB). (AIR 1963 Mad 243, REVERSED.)

(6) A sub-tenant introduced immediately after ejection of previous sub-tenant by the tenant decree-holder is a representative of the erstwhile decree-holder and if restitution can be granted against him it can also be granted against the sub-tenant. 11. Auction-purchaser.— (1) The question whether restitution can be claimed against an auction-purchaser depends upon the question whether he is a bona fide purchaser. By the phrase "bona fide purchaser" the Courts imply the test of knowledge of the pending proceedings to set aside the decree, and opportunity to defend his own interest in those proceedings. AIR 1943 Pat 325 (327) : 22 Pat 315 (DB)  AIR 1924 Sind 101 (103) : 17 Sind LR 73 (DB).

(3) There is no distinction in principle between the case of a third party auction purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree on merits and one in execution of an ex parte decree. AIR 1954 Andhra 5 (6): ILR (1955) Andhra 39.

(4) The rule that a bona fide purchaser is not affected by reversal of the decree has no application to cases where through a mistake or material irregularity of the Court the property has been sold. In such cases restitution is ordered not strictly under Section 144 but under Section 151. AIR 1937 Mad 694 (695)  ILR (1965) 1 Mad 756 (785) (DB).

(5) Execution sale set aside on application by judgment-debtor after depositing decretal amount as scaled down — Application for mesne profits by judgment-debtor against stranger auction purchaser by way of restitution for period of his possession — Restitution can be granted under Section 151 and not under Section 144. AIR 1953 Mad 930 (931).

(6) The reason of the rule upholding an execution sale in favour of a bona fide purchaser disappears where the decree-holder is himself the purchaser, and has notice of all the proceedings in the suit. The decree-holder purchaser will therefore, be bound on the reversal of the decree, to make restitution to the person entitled thereto. (1904) 31 Cal 499 (501, 502) (DB)  AIR 1916 Mad 706 (707) (DB)  (1888) 10 All 166 (172) : 15 Ind App 12 (PC)  AIR 1916 Pat 299 (300) : 1 Pat L Jour 43 (DB)  AIR 1964 Mad 404 (406) : 77 Mad LW 233 (DB).

(8) Where the decree-holder has parted with his interest in the property and thereafter he enters into a compromise with the judgment-debtor, behind the back of the transferee who has come on the property in good faith and gets the decree set aside, the rights of the transferee will not be affected. AIR 1925 Cal 1074 (1076) (DB).

(9) Purchase made after merely looking into mortgage decree (which was wholly at variance with the terms of the judgment— Auction purchaser cannot be held to be a bona fide purchaser — Restitution can be granted against him. AIR 1964 Mad 252 (253, 254, 255): (1965) 1 Mad LJ 444.

15. Jurisdiction of Court to grant restitution — Presence of parties. — (1) The functions of the Court under this section require the presence of those parties who are affected by the variation or reversal of the decree. AIR 1952 Nag 275 (278) : ILR (1952) Nag 534 (DB).

(2) Decree reversed — Restitution proceedings started — Court has to decide whether party is entitled to any benefit before it can pass an order for restitution. AIR 1966 Pat 254 (256) (DB).

(3) Applicant claiming possession from tenants put in possession of the suit premises by the decree-holder — Mere fact that tenants assert that they are tenants of the suit house and are willing to pay rent to any person as decided by Court would not oust jurisdiction of civil Court to grant restitution. AIR 1951 Mad 804 (805, 806) (DB).

(7) Where a person is ejected by the executing authority on the orders of the trial Court under provisions of West Bengal Land Reforms Act (1955), the application for restitution should be made before the executing authority and not before the trial Court. ('62) 66 Cal WN 1068.

(8) The expression 'the court of the first instance' means the Court which can effectively give the relief by way of restitution to the party making the application. Such a Court need not in all cases be identical with the trial Court since the Court which made the payment or delivered the property may be some other Court. AIR 1964 Mys 117 (118) : (1963) 2 Mys LJ 421 (DB).

(8) Where the property involved was in the possession of one party and went into the possession of another by reason of a judgment and decree, which judgment or decree was reversed in appeal, stay asked for in the second appeal would not be granted to the plaintiff, since if stay were granted it would negative the defendant's right of restitution. AIR 1959 Bom 490 (490, 491): 60 Bom LR 487.

(9) An order for restitution of costs under Section 144 is a decree for payment of money and can be attached. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 544 (545): (1960) 1 Andh WR 29.

AIR 1952 Trav-Co 72 (74) (DB).

(8) The restoration is to be as nearly as possible to the positions of the parties at the time the erroneous order was passed and not to later positions taken up by them of their own accord as resulting from that order. ## SECTION 145 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope, applicability and object.
2. Security by person primarily responsible.
3. Security in favour of the Court.
4. "Has become liable as surety."
5. Security for the performance of decree.
6. Security for restitution of property.
7. Security for fulfilment of condition.
8. "Under an order of the Court."
9. Suit or proceedings.

11. Extent of execution.
12. Manner of execution.
13. Discharge of surety.
14. Recovery of sum forfeited.
15. Form of surety bond.
16. Enforceability of surety bond apart from the section.
17. Separate suit by or against surety.
18. Appeal.
19. Notice to surety.

1. Scope, applicability and object.— (1) This section dispenses with the necessity of a suit and enables the party for whose benefit the security has been given to enforce the security by execution proceedings in the same manner as if the surety was a party to the decree or order in respect of which security has been given. AIR 1945 Mad 288 (291): ILR (1943) Mad 509 (DB) (1874) 2 Ind App 219 (233) (PC)  (1968) 2 Mys LJ 124 (125): 15 Law Rep 388.

[See also AIR 1952 Trav-Co 40 (42) (DB).]

(2) It cannot be laid down as a general proposition that the provisions of Section 145 and Order 32, Rule 6 (2) are mutually exclusive. The nature of the bond is what really matters in determining the question whether it is one falling under Section 145 or under Order 32, R. 6 (2). AIR 1957 Trav-Co 151 (152): ILR (1956) Trav-Co 1156 (DB).

(3) If otherwise the security bond is in order and valid, there need be no re-attachment of the released properties merely to enable the parties to rectify the mistake in that bond. It is open to the parties to rectify the mistake if the validity of the bond is not otherwise affected. AIR 1958 Assam 15 (16) (DB).

STATE AMENDMENT

Uttar Pradesh

For the existing Section 145, the following shall be substituted:—

"145. Where any person has become liable as surety or given any property as security—

(a) for the performance of any decree or any part thereof, or

(b) for the restitution of any property taken in execution of any decree, or

(c) for the payment of any money, or for the fulfilment of any condition imposed on any person, under an order of the Court in any suit or in any proceeding consequent thereon, the decree or order may be executed in the manner herein provided for the execution of decrees;

(i) if he has rendered himself personally liable, against him to that extent, and

(ii) if he has given any property as security, by sale of such property to the extent of the security; and such person shall, for the purposes of appeal, be deemed to be a party within the meaning of Section 47:

Provided that such notice as the Court in each case thinks sufficient has been given to the surety.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section a person entrusted by a Court with custody of any property attached in execution of any decree or order shall be deemed to have become liable as surety for the restitution of such property within the meaning of clause (b)." — U. P. Act 24 of 1954, S. 2 and Sch., Item 5, entry 8 (30-11-1954).

(4) If a property is seized in execution of a decree and made over to a custodian, and the custodian commits default, that decree may be executed in the prescribed manner. The provision in Section 145, Civil P. C., however, is meant for the protection of the decree-holder, at whose instance the property is attached and made over to a custodian. The provision is not meant for the benefit of all the persons, who hold various decrees against the same judgment-debtor. Explanation to the section merely points out the true effect of Clause (b) and does not materially alter the general plan of the section. AIR 1966 All 250 (252): 1965 All LJ 604 (DB).

(5) A surety would not be liable merely because by the surety bond he has made himself liable to pay a certain sum to the plaintiff if the defendant lost the suit. What can be executed against the surety is the decree or order passed by the Court and it can be executed to the extent to which the surety has rendered himself personally liable. Unless there is an order capable of execution for the recovery of a sum of money for which the security bond had been furnished, Section 145 can have no application. AIR 1961 Cal 43 (44, 45, 46): ILR (1961) 1 Cal 658 (DB). (AIR 1943 PC 189: (1943) 2 MLJ 460 and AIR 1934 Cal 569 and AIR 1957 Madh Pra 98, Dist.)

(6) The obligations of the surety are different from those of the receiver, and are governed by Section 145 of the Civil P. C., whereas the obligations of the receiver are governed by Order 48 of the Code. Any obligation of the surety under Sec. 145 has to be enforced within 3 years of the cause of action as per Article 182 of the Limitation Act. AIR 1962 Ker 105 (106): 1961 Ker LT 765.

(7) Section 145 does not expressly bar the suit against the surety. The procedure laid down in that section is clearly intended to be a summary procedure without in any manner taking away or curtailing a right which a citizen possesses under ordinary law of the land of having civil disputes adjudicated upon by a suit under Section 9. The Legislature did not intend to bar a suit for the purposes of enforcing the liability of the surety. AIR 1961 Punj 8 (10, 11): 63 Pun LR 107.

(8) Surety of a judgment-debtor cannot be said to be a judgment-debtor. Liability of a surety is however not a distinct and separate liability. It arises because the judgment-debtor has failed to discharge the claim against him, as such Section 73, Civil P. C. would not apply. AIR 1966 Raj 194 (197): 1966 Raj LW 175. (AIR 1942 Oudh 491 and AIR 1940 Nag 79, DISSENTED.)

2. Security by person primarily responsible.— (1) The section has no application unless the person sought to be proceeded against has taken upon himself the liability of another. AIR 1939 Cal 316 (319) (DB)  AIR 1933 Mad 691 (693): 56 Mad 989 (DB).

(2) The liability need not be that of either the judgment-debtor or the decree-holder but it may be the liability of an officer of the Court. AIR 1939 Cal 316 (319) (DB).

[See AIR 1928 Nag 294 (294)  AIR 1916 Mad 521 (522): 39 Mad 584 (DB).]

(3) This section applies to the enforcement of the liability of a person who has stood surety for a receiver. AIR 1940 Rang 151 (151) (DB)  AIR 1915 Cal 331 (334) (DB).

(4) Security means and includes the filing into Court of an enforceable document for the purpose of giving assurance to the decree-holder about payment of the money due to him under the decree. Such a purpose can be achieved only if the bond put into Court by the obligor could be converted into a legally enforceable security without any further act to be performed by him. ILR (1958) Mad 590 (593).

(5) Bond providing for payment of balance due after sale of hypothecated properties — Bond is personal. AIR 1960 Mad 324 (325): (1960) 1 Mad LJ 148.

3. Security in favour of the Court.— (1) The security under this section is intended to be given to some named officer or other individual and not to be a mere undertaking to the Court. The Court is not a juridical person. It cannot be sued. It cannot take property and as it cannot take property it cannot assign it. AIR 1945 Sind 146 (148): ILR (1945) Kar 116  AIR 1942 Lah 6 (10) (DB)  AIR 1955 Hyd 261 (263): ILR (1955) Hyd 754 (DB)  AIR 1949 Mad 152 (153) (DB)  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 339 (341): (1964) 1 Andh WR 374 (DB).

[But see AIR 1958 Assam 15 (16) (DB). (The document is not illegal, merely because the name of the presiding officer of the Court or any other officer thereof has not been mentioned therein.)]

(2) Independently of this section a security bond in favour of the Court can be enforced by an order on an application to which the sureties are parties that the properties charged be sold unless, before a day named, the sureties find the money. AIR 1955 Hyd 261 (263): ILR (1955) Hyd 754 (DB)  AIR 1957 Madh Pra 98 (104, 105) (DB)  ILR (1954) Cut 556 (560) (DB)  AIR 1943 PC 189 (191, 192): ILR (1944) Kar PC 16.

[See also AIR 1936 Mad 589 (591).]

(3) A security bond was executed in favour of a certificate officer under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act in respect of a debt due by a certificate-debtor to a certificate-holder. It was held that the certificate officer who was deemed to be a Court under Section 57 of the Act, could not maintain a suit on the surety bond, and that the certificate holder as the beneficiary under the bond could sue on it. AIR 1937 Cal 625 (630): ILR (1937) 2 Cal 698 (DB).

(4) No tripartite contractual obligation is created between the parties to the suit and the surety when the latter gives his surety bond to the Court. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 98 (104, 105) (DB).

(5) Bond for enforcement of decree — Bond filed in Court of District Munsif — Plaint returned for presentation to proper Court and re-presented in Court of Sub-Judge — It can be enforced in Court of Sub-Judge if the terms of the bond were sufficiently wide to cover the case of a decree passed in a suit in a Court other than that of the District Munsif. The validity of the bond and the liability under it did not require the acceptance of the bond by a Court having jurisdiction as a condition precedent. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 507 (508, 509) (DB).

(6) Sections 135 to 139 of the Contract Act do not apply in terms to a surety bond executed in favour of a Court. But the principles contained in these sections continue to apply to a surety bond executed in favour of a Court. AIR 1962 J and K 72 (74): 1962 Kash LJ 23 (DB). (AIR 1944 Lah 428 and AIR 1957 Cal 645, Rel. on.)  AIR 1959 Bom 516 (517): 1958 Nag LJ 72.

(7) Section 145 is an enabling provision and does not bar the ordinary rights of suit. Assignment of a security bond cannot be insisted upon. Though a security bond is executed in the name of a Court its holder can enforce it, the benefit under the bond being secured to him. 1965 Ker LT 10 (12).

4. "Has become liable as surety."— (1) A person executed a surety bond in pursuance of an order of Court under Order 38, Rule 5 in order to avoid an attachment before judgment making himself personally liable to the extent of the decretal amount in case the suit was decreed against the defendant. The bond was delivered to the Nazir and the property was not attached. Shortly after, however, the surety took the bond by force from the possession of the peon accompanying the Nazir and tore it off. It was held that the surety bond had become complete as soon as it was delivered to the Nazir and it could be enforced against the surety under this section by executing the decree against him. 1955 Raj LW 208 (209, 210)  AIR 1964 Guj 260 (261): (1964) 5 Guj LR 1074. (Decree cannot be executed against surety without complying with provisions of Section 145.)

(2) Where there was no undertaking by the defendants that they bound themselves to pay the mesne profits as a condition for obtaining the stay order, defendants could not be said to have become liable as sureties under Clauses (a), (b) and (c) of Section 145. AIR 1953 Pat 289 (292).

(3) Where in an application for payment of money due to him the party executes a bond in favour of the Court tendering the properties described therein as security for the amount and undertaking that he would pay the amount to the minor defendants on their attaining majority and on demand being made for that amount he would deposit the same in the Court and in case of default the same might be recovered from himself and the properties secured, the party is acting as a surety in respect of the amount belonging to the minors and is not executing a bond as contemplated by Order 32, Rule 6. The bond can therefore be enforced in execution under Section 145. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 151 (152, 153): ILR (1956) Trav-Co 1156 (DB).

(4) Section 145 applies when person has become liable as surety — Where merely prohibitory order is issued under Order 21, Rule 46 (1) and attachment made in that manner, person to whom prohibitory order is issued does not become surety for performance of decree — Section 145 does not apply. AIR 1967 SC 1080 (1081): (1967) 1 SCR 207. (AIR 1961 Assam 121, Affirmed.)  AIR 1961 Assam 121 (122) (DB). (AIR 1936 All 555, Distinguished.)

(5) The words 'become liable' in Section 145 (a) do not indicate that the surety should become liable at the time when he gives the surety bond. (1961) 1 Andh WR 147 (149) (DB).

(6) Section 145 is not confined to surety as such; on the other hand it purports to determine the liability of a person who has become liable as a surety. The words 'has become liable as a surety' should not be confined to surety in the strict sense of the term as used in the Contract Act. A supurdar who receives properties from an officer of the Court and undertakes to produce the property in Court should not be permitted to evade his liability on a requisition by the Court under Section 145 and to insist that he can only be proceeded against in a regular suit. He can be proceeded against under Section 145. 1961 Raj LW 31 (32): ILR (1961) 11 Raj 818.

5. Security for the performance of decree.— (1) The present section applies to securities for the performance of any decree whether original or appellate, and to all securities whether given before or subsequent to the passing of a decree. AIR 1935 Lah 189 (190).

(2) The words of the section are wide enough to cover a case where an ex parte decree is set aside on security being given for the performance of the decree that may be passed at the re-hearing. See (1889) 26 Cal 222 (224).

(3) Judgment-debtor released from arrest on execution of surety bond by surety that on failure of judgment-debtor to pay within certain period, he would be liable for it — Execution can be taken out against surety. AIR 1934 Mad 186 (189): 57 Mad 688 (DB).

(4) The words 'any decree' in Sec. 145, Clause (a) of the Civil P. C. are wide enough to include a decree that may be passed after a person becomes a surety. The present Section 145, has made a substantial alteration and is more comprehensive than the old Code of 1882. This section includes the cases of sureties either before or after the decree, whether original or appellate, by the use of the words 'any decree.' The words of the section 'where any person has become liable as a surety, (a) for the purposes of any decree or any part thereof are clear enough to cover the case of a surety who has given security prior to the decree for the enforcement of any decree when passed.

Laches as such do not impair the remedy of the decree-holder, unless any act of his falls within Section 139 of the Contract Act. The surety can always apply in the Insolvency proceedings as any other creditor for payment of his debts; as such, it cannot be said that the debt against the creditor has been extinguished or that he is unable to recover it. (1961) 1 Andh WR 147 (151) (DB).

6. Security for restitution of property.— (1) Where moveable property is attached under Order 21, Rule 43 of the Code, and the attaching officer makes over such property to a third person on his passing a security bond for the production of such property in Court when called upon, Section 145, Clause (b) has no application to the case. The reason is that this clause is prima facie intended for cases in which restitution is sought against a party who has taken the property in execution of the decree or order in his favour and the custodian of attached property under Order 21, Rule 43 cannot be said to be person who has "taken the property in execution of a decree." (2) Where property is entrusted by an attaching officer to a watchman from whom no bond is taken for the safe custody and safe return of the property attached and the arrangement is not approved of by the Court, the custodian is not liable as a surety under this section. But when a bond is taken from the custodian which is approved of by the Court the custodian renders himself liable under this section. AIR 1950 All 699 (700).

(3) A surety is a person who guarantees the performance of an obligation by another and a person to whom moveable property attached in execution is handed over for safe custody will be liable to be proceeded against under this section as a surety only if the primary responsibility for producing the thing when required rests on another person, say the officer of the Court who has attached it, and not where the responsibility is only that of the person giving security for the safe custody of the property. AIR 1939 Cal 316 (319) (DB).

(4) A supurdar really takes property which has been taken out in connection with the execution of a decree and when he is called upon to produce the property he is arranging for its production or restitution. A supurdar's case does fall within the language of Clause (b) of Sec. 145. Further the supurdar's liability can also be enforced under Section 145 (c). Bearing in mind that the properties attached in execution of a decree are entrusted to a supurdar according to a practice approved by Courts and that the bonds executed by him are produced in and accepted and acted upon by Courts, it may safely be held that supurdars take the properties and agree to produce them when required by the Court under an implied order of the Court. 1961 Raj LW 31 (32): ILR (1961) 11 Raj 818.

(5) A surety bond executed by the Supurdar (custodian of attached live-stock) for the restitution of the property taken in execution of the decree against the judgment-debtor, is not affected in any way by the subsequent contract for the performance of the decree which was entered into between the appellate Court, the judgment-debtor and another surety, as a condition for stay of execution granted by the appellate Court pending the disposed of appeal filed by the judgment-debtor against an order dismissing his objection to attachment. 1962 Raj LW 711 (712): ILR (1963) 13 Raj 391. (AIR 1939 Bom 23, Disting.)

7. Security for fulfilment of condition.— (1) The section applies to securities for the fulfilment of a condition imposed upon a person under an order of the Court. AIR 1917 Mad 237 (238).

(2) This section is applicable to a person who is a surety for himself just as much as to one who is a surety for some one else. AIR 1931 Rang 65 (65).

(3) Clause (a) of Section 145 of C. P. Code is of a general nature and was designed to set at rest the conflict under Section 263 of the Code of 1882 and to make it wide enough to cover a decree that has already been passed as well as a decree that may be passed after the person concerned has become liable as surety, as also to suretyship given for the performance of appellate decrees.

Three conditions are necessary for the applicability of Clause (c) of Section 145, namely, that the person should be liable as a surety, that he undertakes the performance of the decree and that there is a personal liability. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 234 (235): (1967) 1 Andh WR 118 (DB).

8. "Under an order of the Court."— (1) Clause (c) will apply only where there is an order of the Court for the payment of money or for the fulfilment of any condition imposed on any person. Where the proceedings against the surety are not to enforce any decree or order of the Court, the section will not apply. AIR 1952 Trav Co 237 (238): ILR (1952) Trav-Co 144 (DB)  AIR 1933 All 269 (272): 55 All 346 (FB).

(2) Where, under Order 21, Rule 43, moveable property is attached and made over by the attaching officer to a third person on his passing a bond undertaking to produce the property in Court whenever required, the liability of the surety arises not under any order of the Court but from an act of the attaching officer under an authority conferred on him by law, and therefore the section did not apply to such cases. AIR 1926 Mad 1005 (1006) (DB).

(3) The 'order' referred to is one enforceable through execution by one party to the suit or proceeding against another party thereto: where therefore security is given on behalf of the next friend of a minor under Order 32, Rule 6 for withdrawing the latter's money from Court, it is not done under any order of the Court in favour of one party enforceable against another party, but under an order passed for the protection of the minor's interest against that minor's own next friend and therefore Section 145 does not apply to the case. AIR 1918 Mad 661 (663): 41 Mad 40 (DB)  AIR 1934 Mad 262 (263): 57 Mad 803 (DB).

(4) Where a next friend of a minor plaintiff applied for withdrawing the minor's money from Court to be utilized for purchasing Government Promissory Notes and depositing the same in Court and he was allowed to do so on security, it was held that Section 145 would apply and the security could be enforced in execution. AIR 1933 Mad 678 (679): 56 Mad 687 (FB).

9. Suit or proceedings.— (1) The order imposing the condition must be passed "in any suit or any proceedings consequent thereon." AIR 1928 Rang 249 (252): 6 Rang 474  AIR 1926 Sind 35 (36): 19 Sind LR 390 (DB).

[See also AIR 1925 Sind 25 (26): 17 Sind LR 257.]

(2) A proceeding for the grant of letters of administration though it may take the form of a suit is not a "suit or a proceeding consequent thereon." Hence, a surety under an administration bond does not come within the purview of this section. AIR 1928 Rang 249 (252): 6 Rang 474.

[See however AIR 1926 Sind 35 (36): 19 Sind LR 390 (DB). (Can section be applied to such case by virtue of Section 141? — Per Kennedy J. C., Yes — Per Rupchand Bilaram A. J. C., No.)]

(3) Where the judgment-debtor deposited the decree amount into Court and the next friend of the minor decree-holder applied for withdrawing the money and for re-depositing it in the form of Government Promissory Notes, it was held that such an application was a "proceeding consequent on the suit" and that a surety for such re-deposit can be proceeded against under this section. AIR 1933 Mad 678 (678, 679): 56 Mad 687.

(4) Where after a writ petition challenging allotment of some land in petitioner's favour was dismissed, the respondents (writ petitioners) moved the High Court for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court and obtained stay of delivery of possession after furnishing security for mesne profits, the surety making himself personally liable as well as hypothecating his property under the surety bond, and after dismissal of the appeal by the Supreme Court, the petitioner moved the High Court for giving effect to the stay order by enforcing the security for mesne profits either under Section 145 or Section 151 :

Held, that as the proceedings in civil writs were analogous and akin to proceedings in civil suits, the matter was covered by Section 145. In any event, there could be no bar to the application of Section 151. AIR 1960 Punj 16 (18): ILR (1959) Punj 532. (AIR 1928 Rang 249 and AIR 1926 Sind 35 and AIR 1950 EP 111, Dist.)

10. Execution against surety.— (1) This section provides for the enforcement of the surety's liability by execution against the surety of the decree or order in connection with which the security was given. AIR 1956 All 32 (33).

(2) To enforce surety's liability the Court is not bound to issue execution against the surety. It has a discretion to refuse such execution. AIR 1922 Bom 340 (341): 46 Bom 702  AIR 1957 Madh Pra 98 (104, 105) (DB)  AIR 1925 Rang 135 (137): 2 Rang 567 (DB).

(3) If execution is issued the Court cannot declare a forfeiture in favour of the Government but the security money should be paid to the decree-holder. (1912) 39 Cal 1048 (1050) (DB)  AIR 1936 Sind 244 (246): 30 Sind LR 177.

(4) The legality of the order for security cannot be questioned by the surety in the execution proceedings against him under this section. AIR 1936 Cal 143 (145).

(5) For the purpose of determining the jurisdiction of the Court to proceed against the surety, the same considerations will apply as if he were a judgment-debtor against whom a decree was being executed. 1940 Nag L Jour 244 (246, 247) (DB).

(6) The section does not mean that the application for execution against the surety must necessarily be in the form set out in Order 21, Rule 11. The section only means that the security can be enforced in any manner provided for the execution of decrees, that is, by arrest, attachment, etc. AIR 1942 Sind 134 (135): ILR (1942) Kar 79 (DB).

(7) If an order staying the execution of the decree is granted by a Court, it is restricted in its operation to the actual parties to the decree and it will not deter the decree-holder from seeking execution against the surety. AIR 1953 Hyd 111 (112): ILR (1953) Hyd 51 (DB).

(8) Where the sureties execute a security bond to enable the judgment-debtor to get the money from the military authorities for payment to the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor obtains the money from the military authorities, the sureties ought to see that the judgment-debtor deposits the money in the Court. But where they did not care to see as to what happened to the money received by the judgment-debtor, an order of the executing Court to the judgment-debtor to produce the bills or the value of the same is not necessary. It cannot be said that the liability of the sureties would arise only when the Court required the property from the judgment-debtor and he did not produce it. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 98 (106) (DB).

(9) Where the bonds showed that the condition precedent for the enforcement of surety's liability is an adjudication by a Civil Court on matters referred to it in the surety bond, if the suit is dismissed in consequence of a tenancy decision going against the plaintiff and accepted by him, it is an adjudication by a Civil Court on merits, and sureties, would be liable to be proceeded against in execution. (1968) 1 Mys LJ 195 (197): 14 Law Rep 88.

(10) Where in a bond executed by a surety he undertook to pay a certain sum on failure of the judgment-debtor to comply with an ejectment decree passed against him, even though the plaintiff could not enforce the decree due to provisions of Rent Act yet he could enforce the same in execution proceedings against the surety, without filing a separate suit. (1968) 70 Pun LR 237 (240): 1968 Cur LJ 199.

11. Extent of execution.— (1) The section applies only where the surety has rendered himself personally liable. AIR 1956 All 32 (33) AIR 1954 Pepsu 3 (4): ILR (1953) Patiala 59 ILR (1954) Cut 556 (561) (DB) AIR 1916 Cal 30 (30) (DB) AIR 1934 Mad 262 (263): 57 Mad 863 (DB).

[See also AIR 1953 Pat 289 (292).]

(2) Where a surety bond does not create a personal liability but merely creates a charge or mortgage on the surety's property, it cannot be enforced by proceedings under this section. AIR 1954 Pepsu 3 (4): ILR (1953) Patiala 59 ILR (1954) Cut 556 (560) (DB) AIR 1943 PC 189 (191): ILR (1944) Kar PC 16 AIR 1928 Bom 42 (48): 52 Bom 72 (DB) AIR 1934 Lah 138 (139): 15 Lah 282 (FB).

[See also AIR 1945 PC 91 (93): 72 Ind App 165: ILR (1945) Lah 411: ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 269.]

(3) Where the charge on the surety's property is declared by the decree itself, the liability can be enforced by executing the decree and no suit on the mortgage is necessary. The reason is that in such a case the surety is virtually in the position of a judgment-debtor. AIR 1926 Cal 889 (891, 892): 54 Cal 1 (DB)  AIR 1928 Lah 209 (210, 212).

(4) Where the surety makes himself personally liable and, in addition, charges his property, it is only the personal liability that can be enforced under this section. AIR 1934 Oudh 139 (140): 9 Luck 534 (DB)  AIR 1935 Oudh 510 (514, 515): 11 Luck 449  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 339 (341): (1964) 1 Andh WR 374 (DB)  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 413 (415): (1960) 2 Andh WR 510 (DB). (If the decree-holder is trying to enforce the charge created, he could not do so under Section 145, Civil P. C., and his only remedy would be by way of suit.)

(5) The decree-holder may give up the mortgage and enforce the personal liability of the surety by attachment and sale of the property charged. AIR 1926 Bom 279 (280): 50 Bom 339 (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 416 (420) (DB)  AIR 1916 All 57 (59): 38 All 327 (DB)  AIR 1917 Pat 596 (596): 2 Pat L Jour 197 (DB).

(6) A compromise petition filed in the execution case recited that the surety shall remain liable to the decree-holder for the stipulated sum of Rs. 9,000 and her property described in the schedule thereunder would be subject to attachment until the said amount had been duly paid to the decree-holder. It was held that it created a personal liability against the surety to the extent of the amount mentioned and the decree-holder was therefore, entitled to execute the decree as against the surety and proceed to attach and sell her property. AIR 1957 Assam 153 (155) (DB).

(7) Where a judgment-debtor himself gives his property as security, the property can be sold in execution under Section 47. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 364 (367) (DB)  AIR 1924 Cal 485 (487): 51 Cal 150 (DB)  (1875) 2 Ind App 219 (233) (PC).

(8) A surety for costs payable by a party to a suit is personally liable for the costs and the mere fact that he deposits a certain amount by way of security does not exclude his personal liability. AIR 1932 Mad 188 (188) (DB).

(9) The surety's liability is co-extensive with that of the judgment-debtor and he is jointly and severally liable with the judgment-debtor for the decree amount. A decree against the principal can, in fact, be treated as a decree against him. AIR 1954 Pepsu 3 (3): ILR (1953) Patiala 59  AIR 1934 Bom 252 (254): 58 Bom 485 (DB)  AIR 1960 Raj 319 (320): 1960 Raj LW 375 (DB).

(10) The party for whose benefit security has been given is not bound to execute the decree against the judgment-debtor before proceeding against the surety, except where the decree otherwise provides. AIR 1954 Pepsu 3 (3): ILR (1953) Patiala 59  AIR 1933 Nag 287 (289)  AIR 1929 Lah 393 (394)  AIR 1926 All 657 (657) (DB).

(11) Within the limits prescribed by the security bond, the surety's liability extends to any amount recoverable from the judgment-debtor. AIR 1929 All 905 (906) (DB)  (1907) 30 Mad 167 (168) (DB)  (1899) 23 Bom 478 (483, 484) (DB).

(12) Where under a surety bond a person undertakes to discharge the decree-liability of the defendant to the extent of a particular amount the surety cannot be held liable to pay interest on the sum mentioned in the bond when there is nothing in the bond to make him liable for interest. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 233 (234)  1959 Ker LT 419 (420): 1959 Ker LJ 380.

(13) Where a surety undertakes a liability not contained in the decree, he cannot afterwards dispute it. AIR 1927 Mad 416 (421) (DB).

[See also AIR 1952 Trav-Co 237 (239): ILR (1952) Trav-Co 144 (DB).]

[But see AIR 1925 Pat 128 (129) (DB).]

(14) The fact that security has been given does not take away any legal rights which the decree-holder may otherwise have. He is not bound to proceed only against the properties specified in the security bond but is entitled to attach and sell the property of the judgment-debtor which he could otherwise have proceeded against. AIR 1918 Pat 384 (385) (DB).

(15) The provision in the security bond for a deposit of twice the value of the goods on default of the production is clearly in the nature of a penalty and inserted in terrorism. In such case the Court has undoubted powers, in the exercise of its equitable jurisdiction to relieve the party and confine his liability to the extent of a reasonable compensation to the other side not exceeding the penalty stipulated for. AIR 1959 Ker 273 (275): 1958 Ker LT 801.

(16) Where a Hindu father has become liable as a surety under this section, the liability can be enforced by execution proceedings under this section against the sons' share in the joint family property to the same extent as if a decree had been passed against the father. AIR 1938 Nag 148 (149): ILR (1939) Nag 536 (DB).

(17) Stay of execution pending appeal by judgment-debtors on furnishing security -- Surety bond stating that judgment-debtors would act in accordance with decree of appellate Court and that if they did not he (surety) would pay personally specified amount to decree-holders — The decree holder was not entitled to proceed against the surety unless and until he first exhausted his remedy against the property of the deceased in the hands of the judgment-debtors and unless the judgment-debtors were held under Section 52 (2), Civil P. C. (1908), to be personally liable to pay any amount to the decree-holder. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 68 (69, 70): 1960 MPLJ 81.

(18) Property attached and in custody of sapurdar ordered to be sold — Appeal by defendants against order — Defendants obtaining stay of execution pending on appeal — Property becoming unmarketable during appeal period — Appeal dismissed — Defendants are liable for the deterioration of the property. AIR 1958 Punj 348 (350).

(19) On a decree on a negotiable instrument the maker alone will be liable. But where the decree is against another person also as guarantor, the decree must be treated as separate decree and the plaintiff has first to proceed in execution against the maker of the negotiable instrument and only if that execution fails the decree may be executed against the guarantor. (1965) 2 Mad LJ 502 (503)  AIR 1964 Mad 233 (234): (1963) 2 Mad LJ 552 (DB).

12. Manner of execution. — (1) The expression "in the manner herein provided for the execution of decrees" in this section attracts the provisions of Section 48. AIR 1949 Mad 285 (287): ILR (1948) Mad 504 (DB).

(2) Where the attached vehicles in the custody of the sapurdar were damaged due to his negligence, a petition for an order against him to restore the vehicles in the same condition in which they were is maintainable. No suit need be instituted against him. AIR 1958 Punj 348 (349).

13. Discharge of surety.

(a) Construction of Bond. — (1) The question whether a surety has incurred liability under his bond depends upon the terms of the bond. AIR 1945 PC 91 (93): 72 Ind App 165: ILR (1945) Lah 411: ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 269  AIR 1957 Assam 71 (73): ILR (1957) 9 Assam 183 (DB).

(2) Where there is a doubt about the construction of the surety bond, it must be considered in the light of the order directing security to be given. AIR 1965 Cal 242 (244, 245) (DB)  1960 MPLJ 293 (297): 1959 Jab LJ 764. (Where words are equally applicable to two or more persons or to two or more things, it is a latent ambiguity and in such a case extrinsic evidence is admissible to resolve it.)  AIR 1934 Mad 186 (188): 57 Mad 688 (DB)  AIR 1934 Cal 569 (570): 61 Cal 890 (DB)  AIR 1932 PC 131 (132).

(3) A security bond must be construed strictly. AIR 1967 Mys 147 (149): (1965) 2 Mys 87  1942 Nag L Jour 39 (40, 41)  AIR 1957 Trav-Co 233 (234)  AIR 1941 Mad 151 (152).

(4) A surety cannot be held liable except to the extent to which he is clearly bound. AIR 1947 Nag 91 (92): ILR (1946) Nag 666 (DB)  AIR 1957 Trav-Co 233 (234)  AIR 1928 Bom 42 (46): 50 Bom 72 (DB).

[See also 1953 AMLJ 80 (81).]

(5) If it is reasonably clear that the contingency in which the bond is sought to be enforced would not fall within the language of the condition, it is not permissible to override that language in the light of what the parties intended, if they did not succeed in expressing that intention in suitable language. If, on the other hand, on a fair reading of the bond in the light of the surrounding circumstances, the most important of such circumstances being the order pursuant to which the security is given, the Court considers that the contingency in which the security is sought to be availed of falls reasonably within the language of the condition which is sufficiently wide to comprehend it, there is no rule compelling the Court to adopt the stricter of the two constructions to both of which the language may be susceptible AIR 1948 Mad 302 (305) (DB).

(6) Where a surety guarantees the performance of any decree that might be passed against a party, and the bond is not expressly limited to the Court's decree, the bond must be taken to have reference to the ultimate issue of the suit. Thus, it will extend to a decree passed on appeal, or on remand by the Appellate Court, or on a restoration of the suit dismissed once for default. AIR 1932 Cal 858 (860): 59 Cal 1450 (DB)  AIR 1953 Madh B 77 (79): ILR (1953) Madh B 57. (b) Consent and compromise. — (1) The surety bond will apply even to a consent decree provided there is no fraud or collusion in obtaining it; and provided that such decree is not excluded by or is not outside the scope of the security bond. AIR 1961 Ker 312 (314): 1960 Ker LT 866 (DB)  AIR 1957 Assam 71 (73): ILR (1957) 9 Assam 183 (DB)  (1950) 55 Mys HCR 7 (9, 10) (DB).

(2) A contract between the creditor and principal debtor, by which the creditor promises to give time to, or not to sue, the principal debtor, discharges the surety unless the surety assents to such contract. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 512 (513) (DB). (Discharge of principal debtor (judgment-debtor) by compromise between him and decree-holder.)  AIR 1927 Cal 239 (240) (DB). [But see (1900) 22 All 351 (352) (DB).]

(3) Whether the surety under this section is discharged by the creditor entering into a compromise with the principal debtor depends on the terms of the security bond. [But see 1967 All LJ 273 (274). (AIR 1931 Bom 55, DISSENT.)]

(c) Co-extensive liability. — (1) The surety's liability being co-extensive with that of the principal debtor, the extinction or diminution of the latter's liability operates as a discharge of the surety to a corresponding extent. AIR 1951 Pat 602 (606): 30 Pat 784 (DB)  (1888) 12 Bom 71 (76) (DB)  AIR 1923 Mad 340 (341, 344) (DB).

[See however AIR 1944 Nag 277 (277).]

(2) A surety is bound as long as the judgment-debtor is bound. Hence, when the decree is sought to be executed against the surety, no uncertified payment by the judgment-debtor can be recognized by the executing Court. AIR 1923 Cal 313 (313) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 674 (675): 49 Mad 325 (DB).

[But see AIR 1926 Sind 105 (107): 20 Sind LR 362.]

(3) Sureties for satisfaction of decree — Enforcement of surety bond against one or release of one does not operate as discharge of others — Their liability though joint and several is not distinct. AIR 1966 SC 1427 (1431): (1966) 3 SCR 451.

(d) General. — (1) Where the security bond guarantees performance of any money decree that might be passed, the decree continues to be a decree for payment of money though it is made payable in instalments. AIR 1957 Assam 71 (73): ILR (1957) 9 Assam 183 (DB).

(2) Where an attachment before judgment is removed on security being furnished under Order 38, Rule 5, the surety's liability comes to an end on the dismissal of the suit by the original Court. AIR 1915 Mad 653 (654) (DB)  AIR 1915 Lah 217 (218).

(3) It has been held that though the suit is dismissed by the trial Court, but is decreed in appeal, the liability of the surety under Order 38, Rule 5, extends to the appellate decree also. AIR 1937 All 682 (684)  AIR 1937 Sind 272 (272): 31 Sind LR 165 (DB)  AIR 1927 Bom 84 (85): 51 Bom 31 (DB).

[See also AIR 1953 Mys 68 (70, 71): ILR (1953) Mys 277 (DB).]

(4) The liability cannot apply to a different proceeding altogether. Where a person gives security for production of property in one suit, he cannot be called upon to produce it in another. AIR 1941 Nag 339 (342): ILR (1942) Nag 198  AIR 1924 All 64 (65).

(5) Under the law the surety bond has to be given irrespective of any conditional order of attachment and even without the existence of any such order. Surety cannot, therefore, take advantage of the removal by the defendant or somebody on his behalf or by person who was for the time being in custody of the property of the defendant conditionally attached under Order 38, Rule 5. Such removal does not affect the surety's liability under the bond. AIR 1957 Assam 71 (73): ILR (1957) 9 Assam 183 (DB).

(6) Where the defendant applying to set aside an ex parte decree furnishes security under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, for the performance of the decree, the security only applies to the ex parte decree itself in case the application should fail. Hence where the ex parte decree is set aside the surety is discharged and he is not liable in respect of the decree that may be passed subsequently. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 306: (1967) 2 Andh WR 15  AIR 1954 Hyd 24 (25): ILR (1953) Hyd 526  ILR (1957) Andh Pra 162 (164)  AIR 1936 All 593 (593).

(7) A surety for the appearance of judgment-debtor is discharged if the judgment-debtor is in jail for a criminal offence and cannot be produced on the required date. AIR 1923 Rang 26 (26): 4 Upp Bur Rul 99.

[But see AIR 1922 All 390 (390). 44 All 174 (DB).]

(8) A surety for the appearance of the judgment-debtor if a particular pending proceeding is dismissed, is discharged if on the dismissal of such proceeding the judgment-debtor surrenders himself before the Court. AIR 1933 Cal 337 (338) (DB).

(9) Where a judgment-debtor is released on security, but owing to the default of the decree-holder the execution petition is dismissed and the surety discharged, the liability is not automatically revived by the mere restoration of the execution petition. AIR 1934 Lah 349 (351).

[See AIR 1937 Mad 721 (723).]

(10) Where the surety has bound himself to make the judgment-debtor pay the decree amount on a specified date, or, in default, to pay it himself, the judgment-debtor's death before the prescribed date does not end the surety's liability. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 985 (986) (Low Bur).

[But see AIR 1923 Rang 26 (26): 4 Upp Bur Rul 99.]

goods if he failed to do so — Goods destroyed by fire — Enforcement of liability under bond by application — Section 145, is not attracted — Surety can plead in defence that he was not liable as goods were destroyed by act of God and that the contract which was not a special contract stood discharged on account of the destruction. AIR 1962 Assam 23 (26, 27): (1960) 1 Assam LR 243 (DB).

(27) Whether particular decree is within scope of surety bond or not depends upon terms of surety bond and decree and consequently is question of fact — Where, a compromise decree containing agreement between creditor and debtor for receiving decretal amount in instalments was outside surety bond surety was discharged. AIR 1968 Delhi 108 (110). (AIR 1957 Cal 645 and AIR 1944 Lah 428, Foll.)

(28) Where the bond executed by the surety mentions that he will be liable only if a decree is passed against all the defendants and if all of them (defendants) are unable to pay the amount the compromise by the decree-holder restricting claim only to the principal defendant, being inconsistent with the rights of the surety, impairing the remedy of the surety against the other defendants who were dismissed from action the principle in Section 139. Contract Act applies and the surety stands discharged. AIR 1962 J & K 72 (76): 1962 Kash LJ 23 (DB). (AIR 1938 Mad 422, Rel. on.)

(29) It is a general rule that upon the reversal of an order, all connected or dependent orders or acts in the law fall with it. Once such dependence is clear, the reversal of the parent order without qualification means and implies that the orders or acts in the law dependent thereon stand competely wiped out. In the case in question the surety bond executed by the surety was manifestly an act in the law within the meaning of the above rule so that when the decree-holder induced the Court by exercise of its review jurisdiction, to revoke the stay order on the ground that the security originally ordered was inadequate, the consequence necessarily followed that the surety bond stood discharged altogether. AIR 1960 Ker 11 (12): 1958 Ker LT 545.

(30) Where an order dismissing the suit for default is set aside, the suit is revived as it was on the date of dismissal and the surety bond, given under Order 38, Rule 2, Civil P. 14. Recovery of sum forfeited. — (1) Where a man stands surety for the appearance of another, he should take every precaution to ensure the carrying out of his undertaking and he cannot be allowed on grounds of public policy to recover any sum forfeited under the bond from the principal or from any one else; for, if he is so allowed, it would only tend to render the surety callous and the whole object of demanding the bond would be defeated. AIR 1932 Lah 23 (23).

15. Form of surety bond. — (1) A surety bond may be in favour of the Court or the decree-holder. No particular form is necessary. AIR 1926 Cal 877 (879): 53 Cal 515 (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 913 (914): 15 Lah 44  AIR 1935 Mad 209 (210): 58 Mad 777 (DB)  AIR 1936 Lah 463 (464).

(3) To make the section applicable it is not necessary that the surety's liability must have accrued upon an application presented to the Court or a security bond filed in the proceedings. (1912) 16 Ind Cas 859 (860) (DB) (Cal)  AIR 1935 Mad 209 (210): 58 Mad 777 (DB).

(6) Prior to the acceptance of the security bond, it must be carefully scrutinized, especially when it relates to charges upon specific immovable property, and intention of personal liability must be clearly contained in the bond to balance the risk of executant not having power of disposal over the specified property in the bond. AIR 1942 Lah 6 (9) (DB).

(7) A security bond executed to enable the decree-holder to withdraw the decretal amount deposited in Court and to secure repayment of the money withdrawn in case the decree is reversed on appeal is not exempt from registration under Section 17 (2) (vi), Registration Act, but is registrable under Section 17 (1) (b) of that Act. AIR 1957 Assam 157 (159) (DB). (AIR 1928 Bom 42 and AIR 1934 Lah 138 (FB), Not followed.)  AIR 1960 Pat 305: 1959 BLJR 561 (DB).

(8) A bond like all instruments creating a liability must be construed strictly. Where instead of adopting form No. 2 in App F relating to the bond to be executed under Order 38, Rule 2, the bond was as follows. "I stand surety for the defendant . . . . . and I agree that I will see that the defendant shall be present in the Court on every day of the hearing till the final disposal of the suit ("dave ka akhari nikal hone tak") I shall produce him if he fails to attend. If I fail to do so I shall satisfy from my own property the decree, if any, that might be passed in favour of the plaintiff . . . . . ."

Held, (1) that the word "suit" in O 38. Rule 2, Civil Procedure Code and 'dava' in the security bond could not be interpreted so as to include execution proceedings as well;

(2) that the surety had not undertaken to do anything beyond guaranteeing the appearance of the defendant till disposal of the suit which he had done;

(3) that the surety could not be proceeded against on the security bond in execution of the decree against the judgment-debtor. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 221 (221, 222): 1960 MPLJ 21.

(9) Form No. 3 in Appendix G of the First Schedule to the Civil P. C., does not mention whether the security bond is to be executed in favour of any particular officer or Court. Therefore from the mere fact that at the top of the bond there were words 'to the Subordinate Judge, Coimbatore' it could not be said that the bond was executed in favour of a person. Such a bond is not assignable. In such a case the party who had deposited the amount during the pendency of appeal and who stood successful in the appeal should not be left without a remedy to realise the amount deposited by him. Even if Section 145, Civil P. C. will not apply, the Court has ample jurisdiction in its inherent power to enforce the bond by way of execution in the same proceedings. AIR 1960 Mad 324 (325): (1960) 1 Mad LJ 148. (AIR 1936 Mad 953, Disting).

16. Enforceability of surety bond apart from the section.— (1) A security can be enforced in execution under the inherent powers of the Court apart from the provisions of this section. AIR 1955 Hyd 261 (263): ILR (1955) Hyd 754 (DB)  ILR (1954) Cut 556 (560) (DB)  AIR 1952 Trav-Co 237 (238, 239): ILR (1952) Trav-Co 144 (DB)  AIR 1949 Mad 152 (154) (DB)  AIR 1943 PC 189 (191): ILR (1944) Kar (PC) 16  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 151 (152): (1965) 1 Andh LT 245 (DB)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 339 (341): (1964) 1 Andh WR 374 (DB).

17. Separate suit by or against surety.— (1) The fact that under the section the surety "shall, for the purposes of appeal, be deemed a party within the meaning of Section 47," does not make the surety a party to the suit for all purposes. He is a party only for the limited purpose of appeal. Hence, a suit to enforce the security is not barred under the section. AIR 1949 All 306 (308): ILR (1949) All 869 (DB)  AIR 1937 Cal 625 (627): ILR (1937) 2 Cal 698 (DB)  AIR 1938 Nag 148 (149): ILR (1939) Nag 536 (DB).

(2) A suit by the surety to negative his liability is not barred. AIR 1927 Bom 63 (66): 50 Bom 802 (DB)  AIR 1937 Lah 658 (660): ILR (1938) Lah 140 (DB).

[But see (1905) 28 Mad 117 (118) (DB)  AIR 1929 All 263 (266).]

(3) A suit for injunction restraining the executing Court from executing the decree against the surety cannot be maintained. AIR 1925 Lah 618 (618).

(4) Where the attached vehicles in the custody of the Sapurdar were damaged due to his negligence a petition for order against him to restore the vehicles in the same condition in which they were, is maintainable. No suit need be instituted against him. AIR 1958 Punj 348 (349).

(5) Assuming that a sapurdar to whom goods attached are entrusted for safe custody is a surety within the meaning of this section, if no proceedings under the section are taken against the surety and he himself voluntarily returns the property to the defendant without claiming expenses as a condition for the return, he cannot claim the expenses by merely presenting an application in execution. The surety is no doubt entitled under Section 158, Contract Act, to get the expenses incurred for maintaining the property, but his remedy is by a separate suit and not by an application. Madh BLJ 1954 HCR 735 (737).

(6) Until an application is made for execution against the surety he does not become a "party." Hence, he cannot apply to the executing Court for cancellation of his bond. Nor will the rejection of such application made by him, where he makes one, constitute res judicata. AIR 1943 Mad 288 (291): ILR (1943) Mad 509 (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 75 (77): 43 Mad 325 (DB)  AIR 1925 Lah 552 (553).

(7) Where the surety does not impugn the validity of the bond when it was executed but only states that by reason of subsequent events, the bond has become discharged, he can approach the Court in whose favour the bond was executed and apply for its cancellation though proceedings to enforce the bond may not have yet been taken. AIR 1943 Mad 288 (291): ILR (1943) Mad 509 (DB).

(8) When it is sought to enforce the decree against the surety, he becomes a "party" and his objections therefore have to be determined in the proceedings and he cannot be compelled to file a separate

(2) Even where Section 145 does not apply, and yet the surety bond is enforced without recourse to suit in the manner mentioned by the Privy Council in AIR 1919 PC 55 (59): 42 All 158: 46 Ind App 228, there is a right of appeal. (4) Where the Court below has held that Section 145 (c) clearly applies to the facts of the case, the order is covered by Section 47 and an appeal would lie, and if a proper case is made out, there is no bar to the High Court exercising its powers under Section 115. AIR 1962 Assam 23 (24): (1960) 1 Assam LR 243 (DB).

[See AIR 1938 Lah 593 (593): ILR (1938) Lah 624.]

(7) Only one notice is required by this section and where such notice has been given, a fresh notice is not necessary each time an application for execution is made against the surety. (1936) 40 Cal WN 465 (466).

(8) A general notice on the execution application issued to him along with judgment-debtor is not the notice contemplated under Section 145. ILR (1958) Cut 309 (312).

(9) The mere arrest of the surety does not constitute the execution of the decree but detention in prison does constitute it. Where notice is given to the surety at the same time as the order for arrest, but before the order for imprisonment (which is really the order for execution) the notice is valid. AIR 1927 Lah 131 (132).

(10) The question of sufficiency of notice to a surety for production of a person has to be determined according to the principles of justice, equity and good conscience and in all cases where the period of notice required to be given is not specified that notice must be a reasonable notice. ## SECTION 146 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and object.
2. Application for execution.
3. Proceeding or application.
4. Setting aside ex parte decree — See Note 1.
5. "Claiming under."
6. Legal representatives need not be brought on the record.
7. Representation of person who is still alive.
8. Appeal.

1. Scope and object.— (1) Section 146 was introduced for the first time in the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, with the object of facilitating the exercise of rights by persons in whom they come to be vested by devolution or assignment. AIR 1958 SC 394 (397): 1958 SCR 1287  (1966) 32 Cut LT 570 (573): ILR (1965) Cut 523.

(2) A legal representative can file an application to set aside an ex parte decree before he is actually brought on the record. AIR 1954 Mys 32 (34): ILR (1953) Mys 544. (Ex parte decree passed by Small Cause Court.)  1962 BLJR 695 (697).

[See also Order 9, Rule 13.]

(3) This section should receive beneficial interpretation and be read as supplementing the rules. AIR 1958 SC 394 (397): 1958 SCR 1287  AIR 1921 Mad 599 (601): 44 Mad 919 (FB)  AIR 1965 Andh Pra 81 (83): (1964) 2 Andh WR 81.

(4) The scope of the section should not be whittled down by placing a too limited and narrow construction upon it. AIR 1926 Mad 371 (372) (DB)  AIR 1958 SC 394 (397): 1958 SCR 1287  (1966) 32 Cut LT 570 (573): ILR (1965) Cut 523  AIR 1965 Andh Pra 81 (83): (1964) 2 Andh WR 81.

(5) The section is wide enough to entitle a person to continue a proceeding started by another under whom he claims. AIR 1955 Punj 255 (256)  AIR 1952 Pat 72 (73)  AIR 1921 Mad 599 (603, 605): 44 Mad 919 (FB)  AIR 1965 Andh Pra 81 (83): (1964) 2 Andh WR 81.

[But see AIR 1927 Mad 507 (508).]

(6) This section cannot enable A as claiming under B, to maintain an application which B himself could not have maintained. Thus, an assignee from the heir of a deceased plaintiff who was not himself brought on the record, cannot apply under Order 22, Rule 10 inasmuch as the heir could not himself have applied under O. 22, R. 10, but could only have applied under O. 22, R. 3. AIR 1954 Pat 61 (61, 62)  AIR 1925 Mad 1166 (1167)  AIR 1936 Pat 123 (125): 15 Pat 82 (DB).

(7) Death of A while proceedings in progress — Application for substitution of B and C as legal representatives of A — Death of B — Registrar allowing substitution of legal representatives of B when B was not brought on record — Order held illegal. AIR 1965 Pat 279 (282) (DB).

(8) Where A whose suit is dismissed assigns his interest in the subject-matter of the suit to X and then files an appeal, the appeal is not maintainable as A has no longer any interest in the subject-matter of the suit. Nor can X be made the appellant in the appeal under this section as this section will not apply to the case because A himself had no right to file the appeal. AIR 1935 Lah 119 (120).

(9) A claim suit under Order 21, Rule 63 is maintainable under Section 146 at the instance of a person claiming the property under the person against whom a claim order has been made. (1968) Ker LJ 475.

(10) An assignee of a person who was not brought on record but who had applied to be added as legal representative of a deceased party, but who had died before the decision on his application, can put in an application under this section for being substituted. AIR 1954 Hyd 12 (14): ILR (1953) Hyd 703 (FB).

(11) Mortgage property purchased by mortgagee in execution of his decree — Confirmation of sale and issue of sale certificate pending on payment of landlord's fees — Creditor of mortgagee-purchaser purchasing his right, title and interest is the mortgagee's successor-in-interest and not the assignee of any decree — He need not apply under Order 21, Rule 16 to be substituted in the execution case — Order 22, Rule 10 applies to such case and the order passed on application of the transferee to be substituted in the place of transferor and for receipt of payment of landlord's fees from him and to confirm sale and issue sale certificate to him is one which falls under that rule. ILR (1947) 1 Cal 22 (28, 29).

(12) A person deriving title through the plaintiff can apply under Order 9, Rule 9, to set aside an order passed under Order 9, Rule 8, dismissing the suit for default — But he is debarred from filing a subsequent suit — The word "plaintiff" in Order 9, Rule 9, includes his heirs and representatives-in-interest. AIR 1957 Andra Pra 364 (367) (DB).

(13) The opening words of the section expressly make it subject to the other provisions of the Code. See AIR 1954 Hyd 12 (12): ILR (1953) Hyd 703 (FB)  AIR 1942 Mad 21 (22, 23) (DB).

2. Application for execution.— (1) Order 21, Rule 16 makes it clear that besides the decree-holder any person to whom the decree has been transferred by assignment in writing or by operation of law, may execute the decree. AIR 1950 Mys 18 (19): 55 Mys HCR 272 (DB)  AIR 1947 Nag 116 (119): ILR (1946) Nag 895 (DB)  1966 Jab LJ 452 (460). (One of heirs of deceased decree-holder can apply for execution and do so for benefit of all in view of Order 21, Rule 16 read with R. 15 or the principle underlying it and Sec. 146).

[See also 1967 MPLJ 231 (236): 1967 Jab LJ 96. (Transfer of decree by operation of law — Belated application by legal representatives for continuation of execution proceedings — Application held to be under Order 21, Rule 16 and not Sec. 146 and hence Article 181 of Limitation Act would apply.)]

(2) Section 146 cannot be read as extending the scope of Order 21, Rule 16 as the former is expressly made subject to the other provisions of the Code. Hence, a transferee of property which is the subject-matter of a suit or which is covered by a decree is not entitled to apply for the execution of a decree in favour of the transferor, although he may be a person "claiming under" the decree-holder within the meaning of this section. Such a transferee is not a transferee of the decree within the meaning of Order 21, Rule 16. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 254 (254, 255): ILR (1951) Trav Co 743 (DB). (3) The transferee pendente lite of certain debts for which the suit was brought could apply for execution of the decree in the suit, by virtue of this section, though not under Order 21, Rule 16. (4) The expression "transferee" in Order 21, Rule 16 is not confined to a transferee of the whole decree, but includes a transferee of a portion of the decree and hence such a person can apply to execute the decree. AIR 1926 All 346 (348): 48 All 432 (DB)  AIR 1928 Lah 70 (71)  AIR 1921 Mad 599 (601): 44 Mad 919 (FB).

(5) The transferee of a decree is a person "claiming under" the decree-holder, and steps into his shoes for all purposes If the assignment of the decree is jointly in favour of more than one person, then the assignees may be deemed as joint decree-holders for the purposes of O. 21, Rule 15. AIR 1945 Bom 380 (381): ILR (1945) Bom 463 (DB).

(6) A decree may be executed against the property in the hands of a transferee thereof pending the suit. AIR 1946 Lah 142 (146): ILR (1946) Lah 467 (FB)  AIR 1921 Mad 126 (132).

(7) Where a decree-holder dies during the pendency of an execution application, his legal representatives may be substituted in the execution application and be allowed to continue the execution proceedings without a fresh application for execution. The same principle applies where the execution has to proceed against the legal representatives of a judgment-debtor who dies during the pendency of an execution application. (8) Death of decree-holder during the course of execution case — His heir continuing the case — Section 214 (1) (b), Succession Act does not apply and succession certificate not necessary. AIR 1965 Pat 296 (296).

[But see AIR 1968 Raj 273 (276): 1968 Raj LW 519 (DB). (Application by L. R for continuing pending execution application presented by deceased decree-holder—Succession certificate necessary.)]

3. Proceeding or application.— (1) An appeal is a "proceeding" contemplated by the section. Hence a person claiming under a party to the suit may prefer an appeal from the decree in the suit although he was not himself a party to the suit. AIR 1958 SC 394 (397): 1958 SCR 1287  AIR 1962 Andh Pra 140 (142): (1961) 2 Andh WR 204 (FB).

(2) The right to file an appeal must be held to carry with it the right to continue an appeal which had been filed by the person under whom the applicant claims and the petition of the appellant to be brought on record as an appellant in an appeal must be held to be maintainable under Sec. 146. AIR 1958 SC 394 (397): 1958 SCR 1287  AIR 1961 SC 137 (141): (1961) 1 SCR 680. (Execution appeal pending before Supreme Court — Subject-matter of appeal mortgaged by judgment-debtor — Mortgagee obtaining mortgage decree and executing same subsequent to execution appeal — Auction purchaser can be impleaded in appeal on the principle laid down by AIR 1958 SC 394)  (1966) 32 Cut LT 570 (573): ILR (1965) Cut 523. (Application for being brought on record as respondent — Same principle applies.)

(3) Where the party dies during the pendency of an appeal in execution proceedings, it is not necessary in order to enable his heirs to continue the appeal by being substituted in the place of the deceased decree-holder, to take out a succession certificate. Section 214 of the Succession Act, has no application to such a case. ILR (1957) Punj 234 (237).

(5) A decree for injunction obtained against the defendant in a representative suit can be executed under Order 21, R. 32. against those defendants who were not eo nomine parties to the suit. Though such defendants are neither the legal representatives nor the transferees within the meaning of Order 21, Rules 16 and 22, yet as the execution proceeding is a proceeding within the meaning of Section 146, it can proceed against such defendants as they claim the same title under or are equally interested as the defendants who were parties on record of the suit. AIR 1960 Cal 623 (625, 626): 64 Cal WN 439.

(6) Proceeding under Section 15, Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act, 1958 — Death of debtor applicant — His legal representatives are entitled to prosecute the application under Section 146, Civil P. (7) A transferee pendente lite is entitled to apply for relief under Section 22 (1) of the Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act, 1958, even if the term 'judgment-debtor' in that section is governed by the definition given in Civil P. C., as he would be in view of Section 146 covered by that expression. 1965 Ker LT 1138 (1142): 1965 Ker LJ 1001 (DB).

4. Setting aside ex parte decree — See Note 1.

5. "Claiming under."— (1) A person "claiming under" a party to a litigation is one who has succeeded to the position of the latter in the litigation, or has acquired from him, subsequently to the commencement of the litigation, an interest in its subject-matter. (1912) 17 Ind Cas 512 (513) (All)  AIR 1937 Oudh 488 (490): 13 Luck 554 (DB)  AIR 1965 Andh Pra 81 (83): (1964) 2 Andh WR 81.

(2) Where a person has acquired from the party subsequent to the commencement of litigation an interest in the subject-matter of the litigation, he can be said to claim under the party only in respect of the rights and interests in property which he has so acquired. (1910) 33 Mad 459 (462) (DB)  AIR 1957 Cal 72 (73) (DB).

(3) The person claiming under the original party must be one who by a title derived from or under the party has himself the right to take the proceeding or make the application and not merely one who has a derivative interest in the property (like that of a mortgagee subsequent to suit) which may in some manner, be affected by the result of the proceeding. AIR 1934 Mad 485 (490).

(4) The expression "claiming under" is wide enough to include cases of devolution and assignment mentioned in Order 22, Rule 10. AIR 1958 SC 394 (397): 1958 SCR 1287  AIR 1966 All 474 (476) (DB). (8) The purchaser from the auction purchaser is a person claiming under the auction-purchaser and hence every remedy which Order 34, Rule 5 has provided against the auction-purchaser can be claimed against the purchaser from him in the same proceedings. (1967) 1 Mad LJ 260 (265): 80 Mad LW 124 (DB).

(9) A sues B to establish his right to certain property. While the suit is pending, B mortgages the property to C. The suit is decreed against B. B does not appeal from the decree. C, as a person claiming under B, may appeal from the decree. AIR 1952 Pat 323 (324): 29 Pat 160 (DB)  AIR 1941 Mad 245 (245, 246) (DB).

(10) A, a mortgagee of immovable property, sues B, the mortgagor, for the enforcement of the mortgage. Prior to the suit, B has granted to C, a puisne mortgage of the property. C is not made a party to the suit. An ex parte decree is passed against B in the suit. C cannot apply to set aside the ex parte decree as a person claiming under B, because C's interest was not acquired subsequently to the institution of the suit but was acquired before. AIR 1926 Cal 1015 (1015) (DB).

[See also AIR 1937 Oudh 488 (490): 13 Luck 554 (DB).]

(11) A transfers the suit property to B after an ex parte decree has been passed and then files an application to set aside the ex parte decree. The application is dismissed. As the transfer to B was subsequent to the decree he is a person interested in setting aside that decree and therefore entitled to continue A's application. That being so when that application is rejected B is entitled to file an appeal against the order rejecting the application. AIR 1952 Pat 72 (73).

(12) Disruption of joint Hindu family by partition — Subject-matter of suit instituted by the joint family devolving on partition on an individual or branch of that family — Such individual or branch is entitled to continue the suit under Sec. 146. AIR 1964 Ker 144 (148): ILR (1963) 2 Ker 238.

(13) A, a member of a Hindu joint family, obtains a preliminary decree for partition of his share of the family property Then he transfers his rights in the family property to B. B takes no steps to be impleaded in the suit, but after the final decree, applies to execute it as a person claiming under A. B is not entitled to do so. AIR 1926 Mad 1129 (1129) (DB).

(14) A sues B and attaches before judgment a debt due to B from C. The suit is decreed in A's favour. Upon this, under Order 38, Rule 11, A's attachment before judgment ripens into attachment in execution. Then B sues C and obtains a decree on the debt. A does not attach this decree but applies for its execution as a person claiming under B. It was held by Venkatasubba Rao, J. that A was entitled to do so and by Reilly, J., that he was not. AIR 1926 Mad 371 (372, 376) (DB).

(15) Under Order 21, Rule 53 (3), a decree-holder, who attaches another decree of the nature specified in the said Rule, becomes a representative of the holder of the latter decree for the purposes of execution. AIR 1930 All 659 (661) (DB).

(16) Under Order 21, Rule 53, where A attaches in execution of his decree against B, a decree obtained by B against C, A becomes the representative of B. But A becomes the representative of B only for the limited purpose of executing the decree against C. He has no right to adjust the attached decree and release C from his liability under the decree. AIR 1937 Cal 468 (472, 473) (DB).

(19) Assignee from legal representative of deceased party cannot apply for substitution under Order 22, Rule 10 as that rule requires that the person claiming to be representative or assignee must derive his right directly and not through an intermediary from the party to the suit or proceeding. Section 146 cannot be relied on as it cannot be read divorced from Order 22, Rule 10. AIR 1946 Nag 164 (165): ILR (1946) Nag 43.

(20) That defendants 3 and 5 had purchased the property in suit for the plaintiff after the suit would be sufficient basis or foundation for an appeal by defendants 3 and 5 against the decree of the trial Court. AIR 1945 Bom 69 (73).

(21) Suit for sale on mortgage — Preliminary decree — Sub-mortgagee made party defendant to suit — Sub-mortgagee as a person claiming under, the original mortgagee can, on the general principles recognized under Section 146, apply for final decree where the original mortgagee plaintiff fails to do so. 7. The proper procedure would be to issue processes for substituted service under Order 5, Rule 20, and then to proceed with the trial of the suit. AIR 1945 All 45 (46): ILR (1945) All 18.

8. Appeal.— (1) There is no right of appeal against an order under this section. AIR 1950 Cal 376 (376): ILR (1951) 1 Cal 578 (DB).

SECTION 147 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. "As to any proceeding."

3. Leave must be express.

1. Scope.— (1) The section enacts the substantive rule that a minor shall be bound by a compromise entered into by his guardian in the prescribed manner. But it does not place a consent decree obtained against a minor on a higher footing than a decree obtained after contest and such a decree can be avoided by the minor on the ground of fraud, collusion or gross negligence of the guardian. AIR 1946 Lah 233 (237): ILR (1946) Lah 515 (FB).

(2) Where a next friend or guardian ad litem of a minor enters into a compromise on his behalf with the permission of the Court under Order 23, Rule 7 the compromise and the decree based thereon would be as much binding on the minor as it is on the adult parties, unless the minor can show that the next friend or his guardian ad-litem was guilty of fraud or negligence. The onus of proving fraud or negligence on the part of the next friend or guardian ad-litem would be upon the minor and for his purpose he has to make clear and distinct allegations in his pleadings and to substantiate them. AIR 1967 Delhi 137 (140, 141) (DB).

2. "As to any proceedings."— (1) The section does not apply to an agreement merely relating to a conduct of a suit, e.g. an agreement that an issue in a suit (not the suit itself) should be determined by the oath of the defendant. AIR 1927 All 584 (584): 49 All 842 (DB)  (1889) 12 Mad 483 (485) (DB)  (1900) 27 Cal 229 (231) (DB).

(2) But an agreement as to a matter beyond the mere conduct of a litigation is not binding on the minor unless made with the leave of the Court. The following are some examples of such agreements:

(a) Agreement to compromise a suit AIR 1946 Lah 233 (237): ILR (1946) Lah 515 (FB).

(b) Agreement to withdraw a suit (1889) 13 Bom 137 (146)  (1904) 27 Mad 377 (380).

(c) Agreement to refer a suit to arbitration. See Order 32, R. 7.

(d) Agreement not to appeal. (1889) 22 QBD 577 (578). (Cited in 17 Bom 299.)

(e) Waiver of objection to competency of Judge on account of his personal interest in the litigation. (1893) 17 Bom 299 (302) (DB).

(f) Waiver of objection to irregular procedure. AIR 1923 Mad 301 (302): 47 Mad 30 (DB).

(g) Waiver of right of minor to compensation in land acquisition case. (1891) 18 Cal 99 (106): 17 Ind App 90 (PC).

3. Leave must be express.— (1) The leave of the Court must be expressly given. (1898) 21 Mad 91 (93) (DB)  (1903) 7 Cal WN 90 (92) (DB)  (1906) 28 All 585 (588, 589): 33 Ind App 128: 9 Oudh Cas 219 (PC)  (1883) 9 Cal 810 (812) (DB).

1949 P. C. 156 (158) (Pr. 19) [A. I. R. V 36 C 48] — Sir John Beaumont — "There have been no doubt, decisions in some High Courts in India which lend support to the view upon which the Judges acted. The cases are corrected in Edn. 4 of Chitaley and Rao on the Code of Civil Procedure, Vol. I, p. 1105."

P. L. D. 1965 (W. P.) Lahore 590 (594, 595) (DB). — Sajjad Ahmad J.—"There has been a conflict of judicial opinion on the question of the applicability of this section to decrees in appeals under the Letters Patent. The High Courts of Bombay, Punjab, Madhya Pradesh and Madras have held that the section applies. The High Court of Patna took a contrary view (See Chitaley's Commentary on S. 114 of the Civil P. C.—headnote 1, at page 1507, Vol. II, 1963, Edition.) In a recent Full Bench decision reported in Jwala Prasad v. Jwala Bank Ltd., A. I. R. 1961 All. 881, the Allahabad High Court has held that . . . . and has overruled an earlier decision to the contrary given by another Full Bench of the same Court reported in Mst. Abhilakhi v. Sada Nand, A. I. R. 1931 All. 244."

1968 J. & K. 13 (14) (Pr. 7) [A. I. R. V 55 C 4] — J. N. Bhat J. — "The principle as laid down in certain authorities as summarized in the Commentary on Chitaley's Civil P. C. (7th Edn., Vol. 2, Page 1927) is that the Court has to see whether the suit cannot be determined in the absence of the person who applies to be made party or whether his interests will not be prejudiced by not being joined as a party".

1968 Mad. 1 (21) (Pr. 59) [A. I. R. V 55 C 1] (FB) — Venkataraman J.—"Pointing out that S. 105, C. P. C. must be read harmoniously with S. 99, C. P. C., the decisions have held that the phrase 'affecting the decision of the case' in S. 105 must be interpreted to mean 'affecting the decision of the case on merits'. The deci. sions will be found collected in any text book, for example, in the Commentary of A. I. R. Section 105, Note 8. . . . . "

The present suit was tried by a Civil Judge. The valuation of the suit was Rs. 35,000. The Munsif had no jurisdiction to try the present suit. Under S. 11, C. P. C., the Court trying the former suit should have been competent to try the subsequent suit itself. (See Chitaley's Commentary on the Code of Civil Procedure Volume I, Page 415). (Now see 1968 (7th Edn.) pp. 879-880)."
